DEDICATE HUGE NEW ZOO TODAY AT BROOKFIELD

Public Gets First View Tomorrow.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The Chicago Zoölogical gardens at Brookfield, the world's largest in acreage, valued at $3,000,000 and whose animal collection already is worth $150,000, will be dedicated at 11 a. m. today. Admittance will be by invitation. The public will be admitted for the first time tomorrow, a free day, when the gates will be open from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m.

John T. McCutcheon, president of the Chicago Zoölogical society, will act as chairman. The Rev. John Timothy Stone, president of the Presbyterian Theological seminary, will deliver the invocation.

Short addresses will be made by Emmett Whelan, president of the forest preserve district commissioners of Cook county; Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Gov. Henry Horner and Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress. The Rev. John F. O'Hara, acting president of the University of Notre Dame, will deliver the benediction.

Officials to be Honored.

Officials of the society, who then will be introduced, include Stanley Field, chairman of the building committee; John T. Pirie, John Wentworth and John P. Kellogg, vice presidents; Herbert Bradley, chairman of the animal committee; James Simpson, member of the executive committee; Edward H. Bean, director of the zoo, and Edwin H. Clark, architect.

Following the exercises a memorial flagpole will be presented by John E. MacLeish on behalf of Mrs. M. L. Falk in memory of her son, the late Maj. Lester L. Falk.

Opening of the zoo in Brookfield marks the completion of a move begun in 1920. At that time the late Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick offered a tract of more than 105 acres adjoining the county forest preserves near Riverside, her offer being made to the Cook county board of commissioners providing it were used for zoölogical gardens. Mrs. McCormick was active from that time on in behalf of the proposed zoo.

Commissioners were appointed by the late Peter Reinberg, then president of the county board, and a citizens' committee including Judson F. Stone, Robert R. McCormick, Charles H. Wacker, B. E. Sunny, and Charles L. Hutchinson coöperated, with the result that the Chicago Zoölogical society was organized. A charter was granted in 1921.

Favored in Heavy Vote.

Authorization of the proposed zoo was submitted to the voters of the county in a referendum at the primary elections in April, 1926, and received 295,000 votes, a nearly two to one majority.

All animals purchased have been paid for by members of the Chicago Zoölogical society, either in individual gifts or out of membership fees. Many animals were given by George F. Getz. In the future all profits from gate receipts and concessions within the park will go toward improving the animal collection. Admission is free on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays, as well as all legal holidays, and is 25 cents for adults otherwise. It is free at all times to children under 15 years old.

At present the world's most important zoo from the standpoint of cost value of the animals and size is the Berlin Zoölogical gardens, a private company organized for profit. It is much smaller than the 133 acre Brookfield zoo.

"World's Finest" Is Goal.

"By spring the Brookfield zoo will rank second or third in this country unless animals we have ordered will be outnumbered by shipments to other zoos," said Robert Bean, assistant director. "Eventually, according to our plans, we will have the finest zoo in the world."

Among the most thrilling of the animals acquired by the zoo are those in the pachyderm house, which outside resembles a rough mountain crag and within is the last word in elegance for elephants, with glass skylights, ventilation and a winter heating plant.

Judie the $2,500 African elephant bought by the society, was taking the first dip in her "private" outdoor bath when a cameraman visited the zoo yesterday.

Mr. Bean explained that an elephant has 40,000 muscles in its trunk with which the most minute operations, such as picking up a pin, can be performed. Other operations, such as pulling up trees, also can be accomplished with them, so all the trees in the wild looking yard are encased in cement at their base.

Among the elephants is a 7 months old African, called Arsall, which translated into English means "Honey."

NUDIST COUPLE 'WED' IN JUNGLE UPROAR AT FAIR

Bride Faints as Two Tumble in Water.

BY PERCY WOOD.

In the best tradition of modern press agentry, a young nudist couple participated in a "stunt" marriage yesterday before a fantastic back drop formed by the prehistoric animals in "The World a Million Years Ago" concession at the World's Fair. The show was wired for sound.

Staged twice with the greatest secrecy, the ceremony was performed in the morning for newspaper photographers and reporters, and in the afternoon for newsreel men who cranked away under the glare of 2,000 watt lamps from a platform overlooking the weird scene depicting a jungle in Mesozoic times.

Neither mock ceremony was a solemn affair, but the second almost became a riot when the bride fainted because two of the nudists fell into the "Lost River," a small canal that winds through the prehistoric jungle. Meanwhile the cameras ground blithely on.

Puts Party in Stitches.

Eight nude men and women and a pastor garbed in a goatskin loin cloth were the principals in the bizarre ceremony. At least one was known to be an actual follower of the cult of the naked. He was Attorney Alois S. Knapp, 2408 Warren boulevard, founder of the Zoro nudist colony at Roselawn, Ind. Knapp threw the party into stitches during the second show.

Rehearsed for hours on the papier mache jungle floor where they stumbled over prehistoric stumps, the nudists were pretty well worn out by the time the sound cameras were hooked up. Whereas the first "wedding" was held beneath Brontosaurus, 90 foot long reproduction of the "thunder lizard" dinosaur, the second was placed beneath the gleaming claws and hideous maw of Tyrranosaurus Rex, an imposing brute of Pleistocene times in the Cenozoic era. Nearby was a slightly smaller dinosaur, the Glyptodon, whose macelike tail was barbed with spikes.

Goatskin and Spectacles.

In this ecstatic scene, the wedding party formed for the formal photography. First came the Rev. Percy Ward, who said he is bishop of Chicago diocese of the Liberal church. He wore horn rimmed spectacles and the black goatskin.

Following, in a simple state of nature, were the principals, Samuel Wallace Jr., 238 East Erie street, and Gertrude Boon Schubeck, 19 East Ohio street. For a bouquet the bride carried what looked like an old feather duster but may have been a leaf from a prehistoric palm.

Others in nature's garb were Yvonne Stacey, 24 years old, a brunette who calls herself "Zorine, Daughter of the Sun." She is Knapp's secretary. The best man was the colony's press agent, who gave his name as Fred M. Smith, 648 North Dearborn street. Then there were three other young women, who refused to give their names.

All was ready in the control room. Switches were thrown and the great animals began to hiss, scream, roar, and groan. Tyrranosaurus Rex bent his leering jaws and his claws lowered. With a hiss like escaping steam the Glyptodon went into action and his spiked tail darted sidewise toward Nudist Knapp.

Nudist Knapp Tumbles In.

This was too much for the cultist. Dodging and leaping at the same time he teetered on the edge of the "Lost River," and before hands could reach him tumbled in. Already tired and half in a state of hysterics, the bride shrieked and fainted. As she collapsed she collided with "Zorine, Daughter of the Sun," and that statuesque beauty followed Knapp into the shallow water.

This brought the pandemonium to a high point. While the groom caught his fainting bride, others fished out the soaking nudists and the cameras ground on to prove to a doubtful posterity that it all had actually happened.

Water was dashed on the bride and she recovered shortly. Then the procession was reorganized once more and while Nudist Knapp kept carefully away from the roaring animals the ceremony proceeded.

Although billed as a "wedding," the affair was purely sham. False names were given at first for the principals. It was said the bridegroom lived in Milwaukee and the bride in Amarillo, Tex. Wallace insisted they had been married in the county building in a civil ceremony Thursday. Both admitted later, however, that they were married at St. Thomas of Canterbury's

MARIE DRESSLER'S DOCTORS GIVE UP HOPE AS SHE ENTERS COMA

Santa Barbara, Cal., June 29.—(AP)—Marie Dressler rallied tonight and those near the veteran motion picture actress seemed to feel she might live a day or two longer.

"While Miss Dressler's condition remains critical," said Dr. Harold R. Schalenburg, associate physician, "she has rallied since the crisis of last night. She has been in a coma for the greater part of the last three days."

More than 300 telegrams of condolence, including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, have been received at the cottage on the C. K. G. Billings estate in Montecito, to which she went more than two months ago when her recurring illness, cancer, forced her, much against her will, to withdraw from pictures at a Hollywood studio.

Last night the medical staf attending her abandoned hope of her recovery, but even after that the vitality that kept her in pictures long after doctors prescribed complete rest again asserted itself and she made another rally.

Complications, affecting her heart, and uremia developed to weaken her considerably, and she drifted into lethargy, unable to recognize those about her or use her voice.

Mrs. French Wins in Tilt with Astor

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newport, R. I., June 29.—[Special.]—Who's going to be the boss in the Astor-French menage after tomorrow's marriage of the Astor scion and the Cinderella girl of the 400? Well, it's an even money bet that the vestments of authority, at least, won't be monopolized by John Jacob Astor III., currently the world's most famous bridegroom-to-be. The multi-millionaire lad found himself completely outflanked this afternoon by his future mother-in-law, Mrs. Livingston French, just 24 hours before his wedding to Ellen [Tucky] French.

To keep peace in the family the 21 year old scion of the Astors had to back down on his invitation to newspaper men to witness the rehersal of the wedding this afternoon in historic 209 year old Trinity church.

Reporters Waiting.

Fifty perspiring reporters, photographers and news reel operators, attracted to Newport by the five-ring circus proportions of what really is going to be a simple, unpretentious wedding, were neatly draped among the tombstones of Trinity churchyard at 4:30 p. m. today when the hour struck for the rehersal.

But the booming of the clock shattered their drapes and dreams. With it appeared Newport's handsome chief of police, Patrick Furey, with two Newport gendarmes and a smattering of detectives and plain clothes men. They had orders, said Mr. Furey, to clear the churchyard of all such loiterers. Mrs. French, he added, had requested church doors and the graveyard doors closed to the press' galaxy of bright young minds.

Mrs. French, slim, chic, aloof in a simple one piece sports dress of white crêpe, a jacket of almond green and a medium large white hat, then whisked into the church. A few moments later Jack Astor whisked after her, followed by his half-brother, William K. Dick, and his hurried best man, Lloyd P. Griscom, young and solemn as an owl in horn rimmed glasses.

Agree on Press.

And so the conference began between young Astor, the reporters, and Mrs. French, soon to be a member of his intimate family. Finally it was decided that four press representatives be allowed inside the church to witness the rehersal.

HISTORIC BANK FAILS IN FRANCE; FOUNDED BY LOUIS XVIII. IN 1818

PARIS, June 29.—(AP)—Business was partially paralyzed in southwestern France today by suspension of payment by the historic Villa bank at Millau.

The bank, started in 1818 by Louis XVIII., has 32 branches in Aveyron and surrounding departments.

Inability of the bank to make a quarterly payment caused a large electric company to forego its dividend.

U. S. ECONOMIZES; NO MORE ICE IN JUDGES' WATER

The New Deal began making itself felt yesterday in the federal district courts. For instance:

No more ice in the pitchers of the judges, no matter if the temperature is close to 100, as it was on Thursday. Only one towel a week, and no sneaking of extras.

Capt. Leo J. Gillman, assistant custodian of the United States courthouse, whose duties include the supervision of ice and towel supplies, admitted sadly that a restriction in those supplies had been ordered by Washington.

2 JAP WARSHIPS RIPPED OPEN IN CRASH; 5 KILLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, June 30.—[Saturday.]—The Japanese destroyers Igazuchi and Miyaki collided head on late last night while engaged in maneuvers off Saishu Island, Corea. The warships were ripped open but it was not learned whether they sank. Heavy casualties are feared.

[An Associated Press dispatch said that four men were killed, two missing, and four injured in the collision.]

Screeching Police Sirens Ordered Off Motorcycles

In response to numerous complaints, the screeching sirens on police motorcycles were ordered removed yesterday by Lieut. William A. Gainer, in charge of the motorcycle division. The order, sent out to all sergeants in charge of cycle details, said the sirens were being used contrary to the wishes of the commissioner, and if they were not removed disciplinary action would follow.

Woman, Two Men Get Stay of Execution

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—A reprieve until July 9 was granted by Go Herbert Lehman tonight to Mrs. Anna Antonio, 28 year old mother of three children, and two men who were awaiting execution in the electric chair at Sing Sing for the murder of the woman's husband.

The reprieve was granted so that attorneys for the trio may have an opportunity to seek a new trial on the basis of a new "confession" made Thursday night by Vincent Saetta. Saetta's statement first caused the governor to order Warden Lawes to postpone the execution for 24 hours. The reprieve came after the governor had spent several hours in a hearing tonight at his home on Park avenue.

Will Seek New Trial.

Daniel H. Prior, attorney who defended Mrs. Antonio, agreed to make a motion Monday for a new trial to Judge Earl H. Gallup of Albany, who sat during the sessions which resulted in the conviction of the woman and the two men—Saetta and Sam Feraci.

Saetta's confession was branded by District Attorney John Delaney of Albany county, who conferred with the governor, as "an absolute fabrication of lies" which did not agree "with anything brought out by our investigation or testified to at the trial."

The state charged that Saetta and Feraci had killed Antonio on Easter Sunday in 1932 after Mrs. Antonio had promised to pay them $800 out of his $5,000 insurance policy.

In the statement which halted the execution Saetta said the killing resulted from a dispute over a $75 debt he owed Salvatore Antonio, and that Feraci offered to help kill him. He absolved Mrs. Antonio.

Woman Sobs Thanks.

Mrs. Antonio was resting in her cell when a keeper told her of the reprieve.

"O! thank God," she sobbed.

Saetta and Feraci, remained impassive when the keeper told them the news. They merely nodded. Both were wearing the "uniform" of the electric chair—black trousers and white shirts.

Woman Drives Auto of Gang in Garage Holdup

Mrs. Rose Chlebek, 4338 South Marshfield avenue, lost $25 and her automobile last night because she took her three children out for a ride to escape the heat. As she drove to the garage in back of her home after the airing, another car containing three men and a woman driver drew alongside. One man stepped out, took Mrs. Chlebek's purse containing the money, and then drove off in her car.

Girl Dies While Dancing in World's Fair Village

Miss Ruth Marquette, 21 years old, of York road, Elmhurst, died suddenly last night while dancing with George Pike, also 21, of 2606 Prairie avenue, in the Mexican village at the World's Fair. She was taken to Dr. Baylor's emergency hospital on the Exposition grounds by Lieut. Ernest Schondorf, but was pronounced dead. A heart attack was blamed.

UNIONS AND CAR OFFICIALS SIGN NINE-POINT PACT

Victory for Labor; Service Resumed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 29.—[Special.]—The riots that have made Milwaukee a city of terror during the last four days ended at 6:25 p. m. today with the announcement that three American Federation of Labor unions, whose members have been on strike, and the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company, their employer, had agreed to a truce.

All the pickets of the unions, who have been leaders in the stoning of cars and the destruction of company property during the period of disturbance, were ordered to withdraw from their posts.

The unions had sought to have their representatives deal with the company on labor questions instead of the company union of 16 years standing.

Peace Terms Ratified.

Later in the evening the members of the striking unions, at a meeting held in the Elks' club, ratified the agreement on which the company will restore its service to normal tomorrow. The terms, regarded as exceedingly favorable to the unions, were heartily approved by Father Francis J. Haas, chief federal mediator.

"Democracy is bound to win," he said. "I am glad to have had a small share at least in the efforts to bring this victory about."

The federal mediators had been engaged in the negotiations and were reported to have exerted great pressure on the company officials. The latter, including President S. B. Way, admitted they had made important concessions and added their intention to carry out the agreement in "letter and spirit."

Until today these officials had refused even to admit that there was a strike. They asserted that only 147 of their 4,700 workers had walked out and that the others were completely terrorized by the minority and a group of outside sympathizers. Throughout the unions had adopted an arrogant attitude and the city was threatened with a general strike on next Monday unless their demands were met.

The Terms of Peace.

The terms on which the peace was based included the following:

1. The strike to be called off immediately.

2. The company without discrimination will immediately re-instate all strikers to their former positions and restore the status quo of June 20.

3. All beneficiary features of the E. M. B. A. [company union] are to be preserved for all employés.

4. The company will withdraw Bulletin 5. This bulletin announced that any employé joining another union would be dismissed from the E. M. B. A.]

5. The company will negotiate for wages, hours and working conditions according to provisions of section 7A of the National Recovery act.

6. Thirteen discharged employés, who were named, are to be voluntarily reinstated.

7. A committee composed of Julius Heil, chairman of the state NRA board; John D. Moore, federal conciliator, and P. A. Donahue of the national labor board, will determine a suitable means to select bargain representatives for three unions [a] trainmen and busmen; [b] electrical workers, and [c] power house workers. [Presumably they will hold elections under the NRA code.] The committee must be approved by the national labor board.

Approve Arbitration.

8. Arbitration machinery is to be set up under which the workers' and the company representatives may settle disputed questions on hours, wages and working conditions.

9. The workers in the three unions will use every effort to secure the restoration of the Blue Eagle insignia to the company. [This was taken away when the company refused to reinstate some of its discharged employés.]

Until this afternoon the company officials had asserted they could not deal with the A. F. of L. unions because they had a contract guaranteeing that the company union. [E. M. B. A.] should have the sole right to represent the employés in bargaining. This difficulty was erased when the board of the E. M. B. A. waived its contract rights.

Following the agreement on the terms of the settlement President Way shook hands with some of the union negotiators.

As soon as the peace had been arranged it was announced that street car service, which has been all but non-existent for three days, would be resumed on a full time basis tomorrow. Another effect of the agreement was to restore the Lakeside power plant, which furnishes the bulk of the electricity for the city, to full operation.

Only a half hour before the truce was made known, 140 workmen at the generating plant had declined to continue longer on the job, pleading that they feared an attack like the one of last night, when one man was killed and several others injured.

Company officials assured them that a heavy guard would be maintained, but their arguments were fruitless and some of the power already had been shut off when the word arrived that there was nothing more to fear.

During the riots many passengers on street cars which were sent out at infrequent intervals were struck by stones. Windows were broken in all the company car barns. The entire police force of the city was kept on duty constantly.

Two Other Cities Hit.

The brief shutdown of power from the Lakeside plant threatened to be more of a disaster than anything which had happened during the riots. Residents of Milwaukee and other cities served by the plants, fearing their lights would be cut off, purchased candles. In some offices these had to be used.

In Racine several motion picture theaters closed when the shutdown of power began and refunded the money of their patrons. Several telephone exchanges found it impossible for a time to put through calls because of a lack of current. In Kenosha the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois cut in a supply line as soon as the Lakeside power was shut off and service was restored quickly. The entire power and light situation was remedied a half hour after the settlement of the strike.

WON'T RESTORE EAGLE

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Told by the department of justice that he has no legal case against the Harriman Hosiery company of Tennessee for violating the NIRA, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, taskmaster of the NRA, nevertheless continued today to "crack down" on the company by extralegal means.

Gen. Johnson declared today that he will not return the Blue Eagle to the Harriman company regardless of the announcement by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings yesterday that the NRA has not sufficient evidence against the company to warant prosecution.

"I still think that there is a violation of section 7-A there, but I am not going to get into the position of arguing with the attorney general about it," Johnson said. "That Blue Eagle is not going to be returned."

Asked whether the company could sue him for prosecuting it through extralegal channels when legal channels were not open to him, Gen. Johnson replied that he did not know. He reiterated his intention to stand fast, however, and he denied that the Blue Eagle is an extralegal device. He said he considered the granting and removal of the emblem one of the things he could do under the broad powers of the NIRA.

The Harriman company has refused thus far to reinstate certain strikers, and the national labor board and the NRA have held that this refusal was discrimination against workers in violation of the NIRA.

Meanwhile the national steel labor relations board began to organize for its effort to bring peace to the steel industry. The three members of the board conferred with Secretary of Labor Perkins, but announced that they would defer action until such time as they had had an opportunity for a study of conditions.

PLAN TO ENTER PLANT IN STRIKE TO AVERT BLAST

Hopewell, Va., June 29.—(AP)—The management of the Tubize Chatillon Rayon plant tonight said fifty men will enter the mills tomorrow to prevent an explosion that would wreck the plant and endanger the community, but spokesmen for strikers who caused the plant to be closed early today said none would go in "if we can help it."

George Moorhouse, a representative of the United Textile Workers of America, said the management had "greatly exaggerated the explosion danger and is using it as a subterfuge for the purpose of saving expensive machinery and possibly persuading men to return to work."

Raymond Burrows, plant manager, asserted that he proposes to put fifty men in the plant tomorrow morning.

"The danger of an explosion of the drying nitro cotton in there is growing hourly," he said, "and within a few hours it is likely to blow up the plant from the heat of the sun."

The labor board had ordered the plant to reinstate union employés authorities said were discharged because of their union affiliation.

ICKES REQUESTS CITY REPORT ON RIVER PROJECT

Secretary of the Interior Ickes yesterday asked Mayor Kelly for a report of progress on meeting the conditions set by Mr. Ickes as head of the public works administration for an allotment of $2,814,500 for development of the Calumet river waterway. The mayor said he considered Mr. Ickes' letter from Washington a friendly reminder that the time is short and that action must be speeded.

Ald. W. A. Rowan [10th], Mr. Kelly said, has reported that a committee named by the mayor to meet the several conditions laid down by Mr. Ickes has been active and will have its report ready well in advance of the deadline which Mr. Ickes fixed at July 30.

1,008 LB. SAWFISH FOUND ON FLOOR OF A DRYDOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, June 29.—A sawfish, weighing 1,008 pounds, was discovered at the bottom of Balboa's mammoth drydock today.

The discovery was made after the drydock had been pumped out. The sawfish was wiggling on the floor of the drydock, scattering in all directions wooden blocks used to support vessels.

The sawfish was removed with a crane. It measured 15 feet and 4 inches. The length of its sword was 39 inches. Thousands viewed the sawfish, which died three hours after its removal. It had sawed in two many of the wooden blocks.

RAINEY RADICAL, NOT RED, HE SAYS; FOR BRAIN TRUST

Holds Communism "Not Needed in U. S."

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Speaker Henry T. Rainey, 70 years old and white of hair, is a radical and always has been a radical, he declared yesterday in an interview at his Congress hotel suite.

"We're doing radical things, of course," he said, in a mild tone of voice, knocking the ashes from his pipe. "They are indeed radical. All change is radical. There are always those who do no want change, the conservatives. I am not a conservative. I am 70, but I'm young. I am certainly a radical, and I don't mind in the least being called one."

In the same mild, complacent manner the speaker of the house, who is to be here until he leaves by plane Monday for Mackinac island to speak at a Democratic pow-pow, talked about the brain trust in Washington, compared the Russian system of government with the American, pointed out that communism is not needed in this country, and declared that from now on "captains of industry" will have no part in government here.

Keep Capitalistic System.

At the same time, he said, the capitalistic system will be preserved. The speaker also talked at length about his farm in Carrollton, Ill., where he raises "bread grains and food animals."

Asked the difference between the Russian system and the system being created by the New Deal the veteran lawmaker, who has been in congress thirty-two years, replied:

"Communism is just what we are trying to avoid. We are preserving the capitalistic system, which allows for individual initiative. A different situation existed in Russia. There was no middle class there. A very small minority had the wealth. Next to that class were only the peasants.

"In this country there is a great middle class, and the middle class would lose by communism. We are raising the level of the middle class here. We're eliminating the very rich. We're lowering the mountain tops and filling in the valleys. We're distributing wealth slowly but surely in a more equitable manner."

"Tugwell and Lenin Unlike."

"Do you think that Tugwell (Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, under secretary of agriculture) is as great a man as Lenin (dead leader of the Russian revolution)?" Speaker Rainey was asked.

"I don't think they can be compared," he said. "You can't compare any American leaders with those of Russia. They're not striving for the same thing."

"Do you think that he is as great as Stalin (dictator of Russia)?" he was asked.

"As Stalin? Well, I know Stalin very well. I was in Russia four months last year. They're very different, not the same type at all," he replied.

A phone rang, the speaker answered it, told some one that some of the boys were in another room on the floor having some drinks, and suggested he call them.

Then he returned to his chair by a window, where he continued to smoke in his shirt sleeves. He abandoned the subject of Russia and spoke fondly of his swimming pool at Carrollton, his wife, also at Carrollton now, and his 100 year old colonial house.

Roper Next to Roosevelt.

Asked what man in Washington other than President Roosevelt he considered the greatest the speaker said he thought Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper one of the greatest.

"He's an economist, one of the so-called brain trust," said Mr. Rainey affably. "He's less spectacular than Tugwell and some of the others, but he's a great economist."

"How does an old time politician like yourself feel toward the brain trusters, the men from Yale and Harvard, and so on?" Mr. Rainey was asked.

"I am an Amherst man myself," he said, the smile vanishing for once from his genial face. "We Amherst men consider ourselves as good as Yale men.

"Of course, I'm all for the brain trust. I'm responsible for bringing a lot of them to Washington myself. We're doing what big business has always done—called in the experts. There are lots of those quiet men in Washington from colleges and universities.

"Well, they work away quietly, working out economic problems. They do it modestly, they get modest salaries. As the result of their studies, which are largely historic, they turn in scholarly briefs, and the result of these studies is the new and startling things which we're doing at Washington.

Avoid Blasts at Roosevelt.

"It's been popular to assail the so-called brain trust—of course, there is no such thing—because critics didn't dare attack President Roosevelt on account of his popularity."

"Would these college men you have been speaking, of the brain trust, men like Tugwell, really like to see the government overthrown or the fundamental form of government changed in this country?" he was asked.

"No," he said, with his gentle smile, "it isn't necessary. We have a very flexible constitution. Tugwell and others can stand firmly on the constitution because of the welfare clauses in the constitution.

"It's a matter of construction, and the constitution can be construed by the courts for the welfare of the country. The Supreme court really interprets public sentiment."

"And how does it know what public sentiment is?" he was asked.

"It better know," he replied, "or we will have a collapse."

Observing Public Sentiment.

In his present airplane tour of a part of the middle west and southwest, Mr. Rainey said, he is having excellent opportunity to observe public sentiment, and finds "tremendous support for the New Deal." Agricultural communities lag behind cities in their support of the President and the New Deal "because agricultural prices have lagged, but they are rising now and their support is growing," he said.

"Chaos was near on March 4, 1933," said Mr. Rainey. "Now all that is changed.

"When Mr. Hoover was President —and he was a very sincere man—I tried to get him to call in experts instead of big business leaders. But he called in big business and big bankers, and consulted with them, and that was why nothing was changed. None of them, no captains of industry or big bankers, have any part in this. From now on the consultants will be experts.

"The political leaders of the future are going to come from the colleges, from the intellectual youth of the country. This is a youth movement. We're living in a new world, where youth has its way."

CONTROLER GENERAL OPENS WAY FOR ARMY TO PURCHASE TRUCKS

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—Strongly criticizing "high pressure salesmanship" and people who influence government purchasing agents, Controler General McCarl today opened the way for the war department to purchase immediately 1,331 trucks and ambulances.

The controler overruled protesting bidders and held that if Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, so chose, he could require the inclusion in bids of affidavits to the effect that the bidder did not employ so called lobbyists to help them get the business.

As a result, it was said that Woodring before midnight tomorrow—the end of the fiscal year—would award contracts for the 68 ambulances and the 1,331 ton and a half trucks to the Chevrolet Motor company.

The truck and ambulance purchases are part of the government's new motorization program. In addition, the war department during the day pushed along its airplane program by awarding a $3,195,450 contract to the Glenn L. Martin company of Baltimore for 81 bombing planes and a contract to the Wright Aeronautical corporation for 280 airplane engines. The contracts were on a competitive bidding basis.

MOTIVE SOUGHT FOR SLAYING OF RECENT CONVICT

Investigators last night were striving to discover, from a mass of vague clews, the motive of the two men who shot and killed Robert J. Millay, 46 years old, on his front porch at 2428 West 25th street. Millay, who was a trucking superintendent for the T. M. White Excavating company, 2314 South Damen avenue, was released only ten days ago from Leavenworth federal penitentiary, to which he was sentenced Jan. 21, 1932, for participating in the theft of goods in an interstate shipment.

At the inquest yesterday afternoon Nicholas Hodan, 2843 South Hamlin avenue, asserted that, although he was on the porch with Millay, he would not be able to recognize the killers, who fled in an automobile after the shooting. Millay's widow, Catherine, 26 years old, testified that she knew of no reason for the killing. The hearing was continued to July 17.

Millay was sentenced to a seven year term in Leavenworth, and there was some discussion as to why he was released in two and a half years. William McGrath, federal parole agent, said that the previous good record of Millay had been taken into consideration. He denied that the man slain had been an informer for the government, which was one of the theories advanced to account for the killing.

Beginning July 1, the Illinois Civilian Conservation camps will increase their corps with 6,861 juniors and 686 veterans, while Wisconsin will add 3,734 juniors and 373 veterans. This follows the program of expansion of the Civilian Conservation corps to give relief to states suffering drouth, according to the chief of staf of the 6th corps area, United States army.

President Roosevelt has ordered enrollment of 50,000 more men in the Civilian Conservation corps. These will be selected in the drouth counties from towns and cities of 2,500 population and over and probably will be maintained until June 30, 1935.

Illinois and Wisconsin quotas were set by the labor department and the veterans' administration.

ROOSEVELT PUTS OFF DECISION TO HELP RADICALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Friendly but none the less definite differences of opinion have arisen between the President and leaders of his party concerning the campaign support to be given radical Republican and Farmer-Labor senators and representatives who have supported the New Deal.

President Roosevelt today held a final conference, before leaving on his vacation cruise, with Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, chairman of the senatorial campaign committee. The result of the meeting was a postponement of the decision which the President must make in the cases of at least three states—Wisconsin, Minnesota, and New Mexico.

Wants to Aid His Friends.

The President is extremely anxious to give administration support to his personal and political friends, Senators Robert M. La Follette, who will run on a third party ticket in Wisconsin; Henrik Shipstead, the Minnesota Farmer-Laborite, and Bronson Cutting, New Deal Republican of New Mexico.

If he has his way, party labels will be disregarded and the voters sent to the polls to cast their ballots for the New Deal or against it, irrespective of party. It is the President's idea that candidates for the senate and house can be chosen without regard for and without disrupting the local Democratic organizations. He prefers to have in congress a Republican or Farmer-Laborite who already has proved himself a supporter of the New Deal rather than a Democrat who will be more or less an unknown quantity.

The President's theory worked out smoothly in California, where Republican Senator Hiram Johnson voluntarily was given the support of the Democratic state organization.

Plenty of Political Grief.

Party leaders like Chairman Lewis take sharp issue with the President's program. They are confident they can produce Democratic candidates who will not stray off the reservation, and they see no good reason why such party members should not meet the call in preference to the "sons of the wild jackass."

They already have gone through plenty of political grief in the matter of executive appointments. Places that should have gone to deserving Democrats in their opinion have been given to progressive Republicans. They showed their resentment when they rebelled in the senate and refused to confirm Willard L. Thorp as director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce because he had once voted the Republican ticket.

With Bull Mooser Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, insistent on having a hand in Illinois nominations, Senator Lewis has been one of the greatest sufferers from the President's unconcern over keeping the party lines intact and the party loyalists well fed with jobs.

Plans Further Deliberation.

The upshot of today's conference with Senator Lewis was a decision not to decide without further deliberation. Senator Lewis will talk further with the other members of the senatorial campaign committee. Following a speech at Asheville, N. C., next Monday, he expects to return to Chicago and will confer there as soon as possible with Democratic leaders from the states in question. A solution which would permit the President to carry out his desire would be a compromise by which the Democratic state organizations would support the senatorial and congressional candidates of the opposite party and receive in return support for the Democratic state and local tickets.

FIRE DESTROYS ELEVATOR.

Peru, Ind., June 29.—[Special.]—Locomotive sparks were blamed for a fire today which destroyed an elevator and adjoining buildings at Amboy, near here. Loss was estimated at $7,000.

28 STATES GET ALLOTMENTS OF U. S. EASY MONEY

Projects in Illinois Are Included.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Public Works Administrator Harold Ickes today announced the third list of PWA allotments from the new 500 million dollar easy money fund provided by the congress just closed. Today's list includes 238 projects in 28 states and Porto Rico, involving an aggregate of $25,165,788. With the two earlier lists, the day's allotments bring the total this far allocated from the 500 million dollar fund to $91,486,351 for 721 projects.

All of the projects included in the three lists are nonfederal in nature, according to Mr. Ickes. Of the total number of allotments 486 are combined loans and grants, the government donating 70 per cent and loaning the remaining 30 per cent at 4 per cent interest.

The other 235 allotments made thus far are outright grants of 70 per cent of the total estimated cost of the proposed project.

ORDER IS SIGNED TO LET BIDDERS CUT NRA PRICES

President Acts to Bring Competition.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Conceding that the codes of the NRA have brought price fixing practices which have obstructed competition on government contracts, President Roosevelt today inaugurated a new scheme to protect the government.

The President signed an executive order permitting all bidders for government business to undercut their published NRA prices by as much as 15 per cent.

At the same time the bidders who do cut their prices for the government must also post the same cut for all other purchasers, the President said.

See Threat to Consumer.

However, it was pointed out at once that the combines in industries in which price fixing has been rampant under the NRA can cut their prices to the government and post the lower prices, but immediately afterward post the old higher prices for consumers. It was also pointed out that the new order might relax the oppression of the industrial price fixers against the government, but will do nothing toward rescuing the consumers who purchase goods in which the government is not a buyer.

The President's sensational concession that the NRA codes had destroyed competition for government contracts came at the climax of a day in which he continued his efforts to clear his desk of work so that he may depart on his vacation. He announced that he had postponed his leaving from tomorrow evening until Sunday night.

Sets Up Cabinet Committee.

During the day he signed an executive order setting up a cabinet committee which during the coming months will plan legislation on social problems to be presented to the next congress in January. This committee, composed of Secretaries Perkins, Wallace, and Morgenthau, Attorney General Cummings, and Relief Administrator Hopkins, will be aided by an advisory council of citizens and experts to be named later.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed at his afternoon conference with newspaper men that he had acted upon the railway pension act and upon the Frazier-Lemke farm bill. It was deemed a hazardous task to predict what his action had been, and pending the preparation of statements explaining his action in each case, the President refused to tell whether he had signed the bills or had vetoed them.

Advised to Sign Bill.

It was learned, however, that in the case of the farm bill, which is intended to scale down farm mortgages and to put a six year moratorium on foreclosures, and is heralded in many places as the forerunner of a partial cancelation of all debts, the President has been advised by a committee of assistants that he should sign it.

The committee, it was said, included Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, Governor William I. Myers of the farm credit administration, and Eugene Black, governor of the federal reserve board. Earlier reports had been to the effect that the President would veto the measure as unconstitutional, but it had been pointed out that it is no more in contravention of the constitution than the other major measures of the New Deal.

Mr. Roosevelt also continued today his efforts to find men to fill posts on the commissions which were set up by the past congress. Most interest figured in his possible choices for the commission to regulate the stock exchanges of the country and the issuance of securities.

J. P. Kennedy Mentioned.

Reports were that the President had offered the post of chairman to Joseph P. Kennedy of New York and Boston, one of his leading campaign supporters and one of the biggest operators in the stock market in his own behalf. Other reports carried the name of Ferdinand Pecora as chairman, and other names suggested as possible members of the board included Prof. James M. Landis, who wrote the securities act and the stock exchange act; George C. Matthews and Robert E. Healy, who, like Landis, are now members of the federal trade commission, and Frank Shaughnessy, president of the San Francisco Stock exchange.

There will be five members appointed, including the chairman.

In explaining his reasons for permitting bidders for government business a 15 per cent leeway, Mr. Roosevelt said there were a great many cases in which identical bids had been submitted, showing an agreement on price fixing. Just recently the army received identical bids on hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of cement for the Fort Peck dam.

The President said the contractors were precluded from putting in truly competitive bids by the fact that the NRA codes required them, in many cases, to post prices before quoting them to any customers.

Can Undercut Posted Price.

Under the new order the bidder may secretly undercut his posted price up to 15 per cent in bidding for government business, but after the bids are opened he must post the lower price generally for all his customers. It is specified in the order that if any competitor can prove that the low bidder can not produce the goods at the low price quoted to the government without indulging in unfair practices banned by the codes, the competitor can file a complaint with the administrator of NRA and get a hearing.

M'ADOO ASKS LAW FOR INDUSTRY TO SHARE PROFIT WITH WORKER

Los Angeles, Cal., June 30.—(AP)—A federal law requiring industry to share its surplus earnings with workers by setting up, with government assistance, a capital reserve for labor was advocated by Senator William G. McAdoo [Dem. Cal.] in an address here tonight.

McAdoo, who was secretary of the treasury under President Wilson and now is a supporter of the policies of President Roosevelt, expressed belief there is "ample warant in the constitution for the exercise of this power by the congress, but if necessary the constitution should be amended" to carry out the plan.

"It is my profound conviction," said McAdoo, "that a fundamental change should be made in the relations between capital and labor in industry; and by industry I mean every corporation, copartnership or organization engaged in production or in any form of business where labor is employed; and by labor I mean the white collar man as well as those who work with their hands."

"After just compensations to officers," he continued, "and adequate wages to labor as a part of operating costs, and reasonable dividends have been declared on invested capital, a certain percentage of the remainder should be set aside as unemployment and retirement reserve for labor, and, in a like manner, a reasonable percentage should be set aside as a reserve for capital.

"Under existing practice a reserve for capital is set up, but no reserve for labor."

Miss Georgia Cotsenes, 22 years old, 6210 North Richmond street, was killed late yesterday afternoon when the automobile of John Ritchie, president of the Chicago Motor Coach company, collided with another car and overturned at Granville avenue and Richmond street. Miss Cotsenes, walking at the intersection, was crushed to death when the Ritchie car rolled over her.

The accident was the second fatal automobile crash of the day. Two men and a woman were killed and three other persons were injured earlier when an automobile and a poultry truck collided at 159th and Wood streets in Harvey.

Three Hurt in Ritchie Car.

In the accident in which Miss Cotsenes was killed Mr. Ritchie, James G. Condon, attorney for the Motor Coach company, both of whom live at 1500 Lake Shore drive, and Charles Fishback, 40 years old, the Ritchie chauffeur, were injured.

They were taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital and later Mr. Ritchie and Mr. Condon were moved to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment. Mr. Condon suffered a fracture of the left shoulder, cuts and bruises.

Mr. Ritchie suffered deep cuts in the forehead and legs, and bruises on the body. Fishback, who lives at 6312 Magnolia avenue, was cut and bruised.

Accident Called "a Freak."

Witnesses said that the collision was a freak affair and apparently unavoidable. Miss Cotsenes was walking on the sidewalk when the Ritchie car and an automobile driven north in Richmond street by Louis Frantz, 65 years old, 1412 North Lotus avenue, collided.

The Ritchie car turned over twice, crashed over the curb, and settled on Miss Cotsenes before she had time to get out of the way. Witnesses lifted the automobile, removed the body of Miss Cotsenes, and took the occupants of the Ritchie car to the hospital. Frantz was not injured in the crash. Police said that an inquest into the death of Miss Cotsenes will be held today.

Three Killed in Harvey.

In the Harvey accident the dead were Edward H. Peck, 56 years old, a World's Fair visitor from Warren, O., driver of the car; Mrs. L. B. Reed, 50, of 217 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, and E. F. Moss, 6337 Dorchester avenue, owner of the butter and egg truck in which he was riding.

The injured are L. B. Reed, 82 years old, husband of the dead woman; Mrs. Oliva Peck, wife of the driver of the car, and George Trigoning, 6336 Ellis avenue, driver of the truck.

The Pecks had been guests at the Reed home while visting the Fair.

The four collision deaths and two others yesterday increased the Cook county motor toll for 1934 to 592. The other victims:

Conrad Miller, 61 years old, 3022 Broad street. Died in St. Paul's hospital of injuries incurred Sunday when he was struck by an automobile at 31st street and Racine avenue.

Geraldine McHenry, 5, of 3959 Harrison street. Crushed to death by a truck at Congress street and Crawford avenue. Frank Pekarek, 4813 West 22d place, Cicero, the driver, was held for the inquest.

J. A. Green, 32 years old, of Chicago was killed yesterday when his auto plunged off the road near Wabash, Ind. Police said that Green apparently went to sleep while driving.

TOSSES BOTTLES INTO HUSBAND'S ROOM AT HOTEL

Los Angeles, Cal., June 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ann Hamilton Cusack featured today's instalment of her two weeks' long divorce trial with testimony that she and Mrs. Charles Tanner Jr., wife of the son of the transportation magnate, had trailed their respective husbands to a San Diego hotel room in 1931 and threw ash trays, bottles, glasses, and other articles over the transom when the men refused to unlock the door to their room.

"It made us mad," the vivacious brunette cross-complainant said, referring to her attitude toward Charles Edmund Cusack of the Chicago billboard family on that occasion. "So we threw water and things at them through the transom. One of the glasses that was thrown got broken, and Mr. Tanner stepped on it and cut his foot, and telephoned hotel detectives."

"Did you knock the detective down?" Cusack's attorney asked.

"I did not."

"Well, did Mrs. Tanner?"

"No, she didn't. She choked him."

The Cusacks' divorce case enters its third week before Superior Judge Isaac Pacht next Monday. Each demands custody of the three children.

RUSSIA BUILDS BALLOON TO RISE 25 MILES IN AIR

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, June 29.—A balloon designed to ascend twenty-five miles above the earth's surface, far higher than any man-made thing has yet risen, has been built here and will be sent up on the first clear day, it was announced today at the Exterological institute of Moscow.

Its objective is not the stratosphere but the troposphere which lies above it. If the new "stratostat," as such balloons are called here, proves capable of ascending as high as planned it will pass through the heavy layer which reflects radio waves back to the earth. This layer is believed to be about eighteen miles above the earth's surface at this latitude.

The new "stratostat" will carry no human passengers but will hold a veritable laboratory of automatic equipment for registering data on air currents, ionization of upper atmosphere, solar radiation and radio. The record for "stratostats" is claimed by the soviet union, which has sent up an automatic stratostat to a height of seventeen miles.

President Acts on Plan Offered by Hull.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Further definite American support was given the Mendieta government in Cuba late today when President Roosevelt issued a sudden proclamation declaring an embargo on all arms shipments to Cuba except upon request of the Cuban government.

The President's action followed his receipt of a letter from Secretary of State Hull suggesting that such an embargo be declared.

Acting in accordance with the terms of a joint resolution of congress, approved Jan. 31, 1922, the President's proclamation found "that there exist in Cuba such conditions of domestic violence which are or may be promoted by the use of arms or munitions of war procured from the United States."

Intended as Peace Aid.

In his letter to the President Secretary Hull recommended the embargo "with a view to enabling the Cuban government to maintain peace and tranquility in that country."

He pointed out that the Cuban government, through Ambassador Manuel Marquez Sterling, had expressed its desire that the United States take such a step.

"I feel," wrote the secretary, "that in conformity with our policy of the good neighbor we should proceed accordingly."

Mr. Hull explained that the action was not without precedent, since under the 1922 resolution and a similar embargo resolution which it superseded an embargo had been declared aginst shipments of arms to Cuba in 1924, to Brazil, to Mexico on three occasions, to China, Honduras, and Nicaragua, the last three proclamations still being in effect.

The 1922 resolution, unlike the general resolution adopted at the last session of congress, covered only countries in the American hemisphere and other countries where the United States had extraterritorial rights.

Penalty May Be Prison.

Violation of the proclamation will mean a $10,000 fine, up to two years' imprisonment, or both.

Secretary Hull immediately followed publication of the proclamation with the announcement that no exports to Cuba of arms, munitions, military machines, or machinery for making military articles would be permitted without a state department license, and that such a license would be issued only upon notification by the Cuban ambassador that the Cuban government desired the shipment to be made.

"The question of bringing about notification to the department of state through the Cuban embassy that the Cuban government desires that export of a shipment be authorized," said the secretary's announcement, "is a matter with regard to which the initiative responsibility lies with the Cuban government and the potential shipper."

French Chamber Passes Bill to Ease Tax Burden

PARIS, June 29.—(AP)—Businesses and heavy taxpayers received relief today when the chamber of deputies passed, 385 to 200, Premier Doumergue's fiscal reform bill. Known as one of the premier's "confidence restoring measures," the bill provides for a general revamping of the nation's complicated taxation system.

POLICE ARREST 2 WITH CLOTHES OF A SLAIN MAN

On June 15 the body of Leonard Hickey, 30 years old, 232 South Loomis street, was found on the sidewalk in front of 1217 West Adams street. He had been strangled to death. The body was clothed only in trousers and underwear. Yesterday a peddler appeared at the home of the slain man's mother, Mrs. Lessie H. Hickey.

"Would you like to buy a belt, lady?" he asked. "You can have it for a dime."

Mrs. Hickey purchased the belt. It was her son's. She traced the peddler to 410 South Oakley avenue and called the police. They arrested Al Downs, 35 years old, who told Policemen Albion Jones and James Moran that he got the belt as a gift from Ray G. Murphy, 30 years old, 849 West Madison street. Murphy was arrested. He was wearing the socks and shoes of Hickey.

Gang's Torture of Woman Disclosed in Ozarks Feud

Little Rock, Ark., June 29.—(AP)—Torture of a woman by a gang that favored the brutal methods of Chinese pirates was disclosed today in connection with a mountain town feud that has cost four lives in half a dozen shootings.

Announcing that some citizens of the Ozark mountain town of Marshall had appealed to him to send state troops to stop a long standing Henley-Barnett feud, Gov. Futrell said it had been reported to him that Effie Jackson, a stenographer, had been tortured by a group of men who attempted to make her tell the whereabouts of one of the supposed feudists.

The girl's employer was reputed to be in sympathy with the Henleys because of a remark that "the Henleys are no worse than the Barnetts."

Plunge Head in Water.

First slapping and cuffing her, the men later resorted to Chinese torture methods and plunged her head repeatedly into a bucket of water until she was nearly unconscious.

They also held lighted matches to her feet. Her employer, W. F. Reeves, an attorney, brought her to the governor's office here to display the burns.

The request for troops was made ten days ago but was kept secret because the group petitioning the governor contained several jurors who convicted one man connected with the shootings and they feared their request would further jeopardize them.

Gov. Futrell sent soldiers into Marshall last Christmas after one of the killings, but today said he could not act without a request from civil authorities and Sherif G. M. Robertson at Marshall said "everything is quiet."

Marshal Slain on Street.

Marshal J. H. Barnett was shot to death on a street two weeks ago in the fourth slaying in the feud. Officers are searching for Leland Henley, reputed leader of his group, who violated a Christmas furlough last year by not returning to prison.

Henley was serving life for the slaying of W. W. Fendley, killed in what officers believed was a series of attempts on the life of Marshal Barnett before the feudists finally got him.

Barnett, who was walking along the street with Fendley, was wounded in the wrist.

About two years ago Vance Barnett, a son of the marshal, was shot to death while returning home from his restaurant, and shortly before that Isaac Ragland had been killed while sitting in the Barnett restaurant by a shot fired from the rear of the building.

Sons Are Arrested.

In 1933 Will Henley was shot in the leg while standing in the public square and Barnett and his sons were arrested.

The elder Barnett again was wounded in a street battle last Christmas eve and two weeks ago his enemies succeeded in killing him on a street in Marshall.

Barnett's sons, Oscar and Rubert, today were reported hunting the slayer of their father, and citizens feared the feud had not ended.

BRIDE'S MOTHER WINNER OF TILT AGAINST ASTOR

that the press would be admitted. In the face of Mrs. French's disinclination, he is keeping his promise." It developed that the rôle of peacemaker in the dispute had fallen to Ellen's father, Francis Ormond French. He had settled the issue amicably between his former wife and his future son-in-law.

Lesley Bogert, fresh from presentation at the Court of St. James's, acted as the bride's substitute in the rehersal. In a slim two-piece knitted frock of seagreen, a small white stitched hat on her now famous red hair, an enormous diamond sparkling on her engagement finger, Ellen sat on the bride's side of the church and watched the rehersal. Because of an old tradition of bad luck, she didn't join in the rehersal.

Ellen Offers Suggestions.

Occasionally during the rehersal, which was gone through three times, Ellen made low-voiced suggestions. Lesley, a comic train of white cheesecloth pinned to her white sports dress, nonchalantly enacted the bride, coming down the aisle on the arm of Mr. French.

Reporters and townspeople, getting no nearer the church than the front gate, surged around to the alley. There, by standing on tiptoe, they could peer into the church between the slats of the old shutters. But some one banged a shutter and the gendarmes came on the run to clear everybody away.

Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, who is a sister of the late Col. Astor, confirmed the fact that Mrs. Madeline Force-Astor-Dick-Fiermonte, the bridegroom's mother, would be present at the wedding. She will stay with her son in his house. That leaves Enzo Fiermonte, her handsome Italian prize fighter husband, no place near Newport or the Astor door.

W. K. Dick Sr. Expected.

But that doesn't mean that Jack won't have a stepfather on hand for his wedding. William K. Dick Sr., the man to whom Jack still refers as "my stepfather" in public and in private, was expected here late tonight or early tomorrow for the 4 p. m. wedding in old Trinity church.

Dick was Mrs. Fiermonte's second husband, the man for whom she, as the widow of Col. John Jacob Astor, gave up the Astor legacy, for whom she sacrificed one of the most famous names in America, and whom she eventually divorced to marry Fiermonte.

DIES IN SUICIDE FALL.

BROTHERS FAR OUT AT SEA ON HOP TO WARSAW

Aviators Expect to Land in Poland in 30 Hours.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBOR GRACE, Newfoundland, June 29.—With fair weather ahead and a gasoline supply which provides a ten hour safety margin, Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz, Brooklyn's flying brothers, were believed to be well out over the Atlantic tonight on their second attempt to fly from North America to Warsaw, Poland.

Just before the takeoff early today the aviators scanned the latest weather reports. These predicted clear skies and westerly winds over the great circle route to Dublin. The flyers then intend to head for Berlin on the way to the Polish capital.

No Word About Progress.

No word was received concerning the progress of the flight tonight, but none had been expected unless they are sighted by a ship. The big red, white, and blue Bellanca cabin plane, the Warsaw, carries no radio. Associates of the brothers do not expect to hear from them until they are reported over Ireland, and not even then if weather conditions compel them to fly over clouds.

The fuel tanks of the Warsaw were filled with 610 gallons of gasoline before the take-off. Holger Hoiriis, who flew the same plane to Copenhagen three years ago and who trained the Adamowicz brothers in blind flying last winter, estimated that the supply was sufficient for 40 hours' flying, but added that he expected the plane could make the flight in about 30 hours. He piloted the plane to Harbor Grace from New York yesterday.

A Perfect Take-off.

Considering that this is the second attempt Benjamin and Joseph have made to reach their ancestral home—they cracked up here last year when they arrived from New York on their way to Poland—they made their departure with remarkable composure. Their only concern when they arrived at the flying field at daybreak was the absence of wind to assist them in lifting their heavy monoplane off the ground.

The Warsaw ran almost the length of the flying field before it rose and began to climb steadily at 3:58 a. m. [Chicago daylight saving time].

Younger Brother at Controls.

Benjamin Adamowicz was at the controls. He is 36 years old and the better qualified pilot. He passed his department of commerce tests in blind flying three months ago. Joseph is 39. Their training last winter included flights at night in stormy weather and frequent trips out to sea.

Mrs. Benjamin Adamowicz was not disturbed over the adventure of her husband and brother-in-law. Today she went on a shopping expedition in New York which had been delayed by preparations for the flight.

Plan Flight to Bagdad.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., June 29.—An attempt to break the world's nonstop distance record will be made in ten days by Leonard Reid, formerly of Montreal, and Jimmie Ayling, one time royal air force flyer in Arabia. Ayling arrived in Canada yesterday aboard the liner S. S. Empress of Britain.

The aviators plan to take-off at Wasaga Beach, New Toronto, and will head for Bagdad, Iraq, 7,000 miles away. Their plane is the Seafarer, which they purchased from Capt. James and Amy Mollison, British Atlantic flyers. They have renamed the plane The Trail of the Caribou.

OFFICIALS DRAG POND FOR BODY OF DILLINGER

Mooresville, Ind., June 29.—[Special.]—Despite the assertion of his father, John Dillinger Sr., that the notorious John Dillinger is alive and well, state police and federal agents today dragged a pond near Bedford, Ind., on rumors the body of the much sought bandit may have been hidden there.

An all day search, however, failed to reveal the body. Stories have been current for the last two months that a body was thrown in the pond early in May. This, coupled with the fact that shoes worn by Tommy Carroll, Dillinger gangster slain June 7 at Waterloo, Ia., were purchased in Bedford, led authorities to search the pond.

Dillinger was alive as late as three weeks ago, his father told investigators today. The elder Dillinger said he had received a letter in Chicago from his much wanted son at that time. He reported that his son declared that he was in good health. The letter, he said, was delivered by a stranger and was destroyed after it had been read, as directed by the desperado.

Copeland Gets 25 Years.

Greencastle, Ind., June 29.—[Special.]—Harry Copeland, 38, Muncie, today was sentenced to the Indiana state prison for 25 years when he pleaded guilty to a grand jury indictment charging robbery of the Central National bank here Oct. 23. Money and bonds totaling $75,000 were taken in the robbery.

Aid's Wife Sentenced.

St. Paul, Minn., June 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Bernice Clark, who also uses the name Opal Long, wife of Russell Clark, Dillinger gangster, was sentenced to six months in the Minneapolis workhouse after she pleaded guilty in federal court here today to harboring America's foremost bandit.

NATION SUFFERS IN HEAT AS LAKE COOLS CHICAGO

Relief Forecast for the Week-end.

Chicago, or at least that part of it near the lake, enjoyed mild summer temperatures yesterday while most of the country sweltered again in heat measured at 100 degrees or more.

Today, according to forecast, will also be pleasant in Chicago, with the lake winds performing. There is a possibility, moreover, of a shower or a thunder squall. To this good news Forecaster W. P. Day added that an area of high pressure which was over Montana yesterday is moving eastward and should bring to the north central states fair and cool weather over the week-end.

Lake Cools Off City.

The influence of the lake was clearly demonstrated yesterday in readings taken on three official temperatures. At 8 a. m. it was 78 degrees at the Univeristy of Chicago; 82 degrees at the United States court building and 75 at the airport, which is 7½ miles west of the university. At 9 a. m. the readings at the three places were, respectively, 83 degrees, 88 degrees, and 87 degrees. At 4 p. m. the university reading was 72, that in the loop was 78 and the airport instrument registered 92.

At Joliet a maximum of 103 was reached, while Kankakee, only 55 miles south of the loop, had a high of 106. Downstate Illinois suffered as it has for nearly a week under a torrid sun. Springfield's high was 102, and the day was the fifth straight of plus 100 readings. Herrin's unofficial maximum was 109. After the mercury climbed to 104 at Taylorville there was a shower that gave an inch of precipitation.

New Heat Records in East.

Along the Atlantic seaboard, which usually has milder temperatures than the center of the continent in summer, new heat records were established. Baltimore's 105 equaled the highest mark ever registered there. It was 102 at Washington, D. C., and at Philadelphia and 94 at Boston.

To the west, Emporia, Kas., was the hottest spot, with 110. At Leavenworth the maximum was 106, and at Iowa City, Ia., 105. Kansas City also sweltered with a high of 106.

There were scattered showers, mostly light, over the central states yesterday. One of these fell on the south side of Chicago. The precipitation registered was .18 inch.

97 DEGREE HEAT SETS UP A NEW MARK FOR DATE IN NEW YORK

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—A new heat record for the date went into the city's weather annals today when the official registered temperature atop the Whitehall building touched 97 at 5 p. m., a mark only three-tenths of a degree short of the all-time June record established in 1899.

A half an hour earlier, however, the unofficial thermometer at the observatory in Central park registered 101, thus eclipsing by two degrees the observatory's 66 year old record for the month of June. And by every standard it was the hottest day of the year so far and by long odds the most uncomfortable. Two heat deaths were recorded in New York.

RICH DENTIST'S SLAYER TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Shawneetown, Ill., June 29.—[Special.]—Harold St. Clair, 30, Columbus, O., ex-convict, pleaded guilty today of the murder of Dr. Homer L. Meyer, wealthy Eldorado dentist, and was sentenced to die Oct. 19 in the electric chair. Sentence was pronounced by Judge Blaine Huffman in Circuit court here.

Mrs. Evelyn Anderson, 30, of Woodboro, Tex., who also was charged with the murder of Dr. Meyer in indictments returned this morning by the Gallatin county special grand jury, was freed when the indictment against her was quashed.

The sentencing of St. Clair terminated the speediest disposition ever given a murder case in this part of the state, as far as can be recalled. St. Clair and his companion were named in indictments returned shortly before noon. At 3 o'clock the defendants were called into court and St. Clair declared that he would plead guilty if the charge against Mrs. Anderson was dropped.

M. L. Wilson Is Returned to U. S. Agriculture Post

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—M. L. Wilson returned to the agriculture department today to again take up the work of carrying out the farm act which he had a large part in formulating. Named by President Roosevelt to be assistant secretary of agriculture, the 48 year old farmer returned to the department which he left less than a year ago to direct the subsistence homestead experiment.

RILED TRUCKMEN ROAR AT ALLMAN NRA COLLECTIONS

Commissioner to "Cross Bridges" Later.

Police Commissioner Allman said last night that he was preparing to cross a lot of bridges. He had sought sanctuary from the heat engendered by numerous I. T. O. [indignant truck owners] and he was cooling himself in the South Chicago fire engine house in the evening when the hot blasts of the I. T. O. overtook him.

The I. T. O. declared his police department was three times as bad as the TNT in its efforts to enforce the NRA. The TNT [Trucking and Transport exchange] members, now under indictment due to State's Attorney Courtney, had only put the works on truck owners for $1 a truck but Allman's police were putting the works on the I. T. O. for $3 a truck in the name of NRA. All this Commissioner Allman was informed over an asbestos relay so the telephone wires wouldn't melt.

Back of this verbal scorching was Commissioner Allman's general order [G. O.] to the department, which put every policeman under the duty of calling on all truck owners in the city and telling them they must register under the NRA code and hand over $3 per truck "or else!"

"Why Not Catch Dillinger?"

"Will your Cossacks be collecting income taxes from delinquents next?" was one of the questions asked the hot and bothered commissioner. "Why don't they catch Dillinger and let the NRA do its own work?"

To questions whether city policemen will be used as collection agents for the Illinois NRA when that law becomes effective July 1, whether detectives would be taken off the duty of hunting criminals and put to inspecting liquor labels, Commissioner Allman answered each time by saying:

"I'll cross that bridge when I came to it."

Just Doing a Favor!

"I am doing a courtesy for the NRA truck owners code administrator and I see no reason to discontinue," declared Commissar Allman.

The truck owners' censored retort was that a few years back the COPS were not so enthusiastic in enforcing another government law, prohibition, and seldom did a courtesy for the prohibition administrator. Allman mentioned that a CODE is more sacred than a mere amendment to the national constitution forbidding C.O.D. shipments of liquor F. O. B.

Anyway, Allman argued in self defense, the G. O. V. needs those three bucks per truck so the code administrator won't have to pay his own policemen in i. o. u.'s, and so, the I. T. O. had better be foreigners and come across.

Mayor Shrugs at G. O.

Mayor Kelly washed his hands of Allman and G. O. 27922. "I don't know who told Allman to turn the police department over to some truck code administrator," the mayor declared. "I didn't. He did it while I was away. No, I don't anticipate a flood of S.O.S.'s for Allman to help police the coal miners' code or the housing code for friendless Indians. He'll have to answer to me."

John E. Cassidy, NRA administrator for Illinois, stated yesterday that his office would make no effort to enforce the trucking industry code through prosecution of truck operators who refuse to sign code agreements and register their trucks. The prosecution, he said, will be left to the federal department of justice.

TWO SEIZED AS CAFE ROBBERS.

John Burns, 30 years old, and John Blanchard, also 30, were arrested yesterday by Sergt. John Gapinski and Detective Owen Kennelly, and charged with robbing the manager of the La Salle restaurant, 531 West Madison street, of $37.50.

NUDIST COUPLE 'WED' IN JUNGLE UPROAR AT FAIR

Bride Faints as Two Fall Into Water.

The ceremony at the real wedding was performed by the Rev. Edward William McKenny, assistant pastor who said that he didnt' know the couple contemplated the nudist wedding also. The bride insisted on the nudist affair, Wallace maintained.

"Ours was the first nudist wedding," Wallace had said, a little proudly, before the sham had been exposed. "We're going to spend our honeymoon at the Zoro colony."

For all any one knows they may do so but after the trials and tribulations of the day the group refused to pose for pictures once they dressed themselves and left the concession.

MORNING PERFORMANCE

Reporters and cameramen who don't usually get up early were on hand at the concession at 9 a. m., the hour set for the day's first performance of the wedding.

Presently the photographers were ferried down the "Lost River" and into the heart of the concession.

Reporters crawled down a ladder and found the wedding party seated in a boat awaiting orders. All were still fully dressed.

"Get your cameras set up boys," Press Agent Smith directed. "We'll be ready in a minute."

The women retired behind a pile of papier mache rocks and the Rev. Mr. Ward began to disrobe beneath the monstrous tail of Brontosaurus.

Minister Outstrips Others.

"Here's your goatskin, reverend," called Smith, tossing a black garment. Amidst a clatter of photographer's equipment and the shifting of lights, the minister stripped down at record speed and hooked the skin about his loins. The women nudists removed their clothing half-concealed by the rotund stomach of Stegosaurus, another dinosaur.

"All right, let's go," Smith said, emerging, stark naked, into the view of the spectators. "Now, gentlemen, this affair is serious with these people and I'll ask you to please remain quiet."

Then the wedding procession filed out, the bride and groom first in line. "Zorine, Daughter of the Sun," the bridesmaid, took the arm of Attorney Knapp directly behind the principals. Then came the three unidentified women.

"They're models, those three," some one in the press section said. "They're not nudists."

Jockied into position by Press Agent Smith, the Rev. Mr. Ward stood beneath the broad chest of Brontosaurus, whose snakelike neck and reptile head stretched far over the bridal party.

Backs to Cameras.

Wallace and his bride stopped in front of the minister, and under Smith's loud coaching the others formed in a sort of semicircle beside them. All save Ward had their backs to the cameramen.

"These young people," the minister began, beaming at the audience and hitching his goatskin into a more secure position, "met in the nudist colony last year. Theirs is the first nudist wedding in America."

Rapidly the Rev. Mr. Ward went through the brief wedding ceremony. The cameramen were busy on their side of the canal. Photo lamps flashed brightly and there was the click of shutters.

Press Agent Smith stood in deep meditation beside "Zorine," scratching his chest. "The ring!" whispered the Rev. Mr. Ward, but there followed none of the customary wild digging in pockets by the best man. Press Agent Smith had it handy, and as it slid upon the bride's finger the couple was pronounced man and wife.

U. S. CONFERENCE ON MOVIES WILL BE HELD AT FAIR

Designed to Co-ordinate Decency Groups.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—A national conference designed to coördinate the various movements for decency in the movies is to be held in Chicago at the World's Fair next September or October.

At a meeting here today the Motion Picture Research council decided to issue the call for a parliament at which all forces working for better pictures will be represented. The meeting of the research council was called by Mrs. August Belmont, president, and former Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton.

One of the major purposes of the meeting was to place the studies and research findings of the council, gathered during a four year survey, at the service of the Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish groups which in recent weeks have started an extensive campaign against indecent and vulgar pictures.

Gratified at United Front.

In one of several resolutions, the council members expressed their gratification at the united front presented by the three great religious groups.

The council also took further steps to push its program forward. A resolution was passed condemning block booking and blind selling, and it was determined to bring every possible influence on the next session of congress for the passage of legislation to outlaw these trade practices. A committee was named to coöperate with other organizations in bringing about passage of a suitable bill.

Carrying out another resolution adopted at the meeting, a committee composed of Drs. W. W. Charters and Edgar Dale of Ohio State university and Herbert Blumer, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, conferred with state department officials concerning a study to be made of the influence of American motion pictures abroad. The department is expected to send a questionnaire to all American consuls abroad asking concerning the influence of American movies on this country's foreign trade and upon the general regard in which the United States is held in foreign lands.

Several Chicagoans Attend.

Among those at the meeting were Dr. Charters, Dr. Blumer, Dr. Dale, Miss Jessie F. Binford, director of the Chicago Juvenile Protective association; Stephen Perkins Cabot, chairman of the council's New England division; Herbert S. Houston, New York publisher; Mrs. Benjamin F. Langworthy of Chicago, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, field director of the American Child Health association; William H. Short of New York, director of the council, and Ben D. Wood of Columbia university.

At the meeting here next week of the National Education association Dr. Charters will present the findings resulting from the council's survey, which occupied four years at a cost of $207,000. The money for the survey was put up by Mrs. Chester C. Bolton, wife of the Republican congressman from Ohio. The findings concerning the influence of the movies on the health, conduct, and character of children were recently published in nine volumes.

HARRIMAN MUST BEGIN TO SERVE TERM ON JULY 9

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals decided today that Joseph W. Harriman must begin serving his four and a half years' sentence on July 9.

The three judges refused to grant him bail pending his appeal, which is not expected to come before the court until next autumn. They did, however, extend his $25,000 bail to July 9. Harriman probably will be sent to the federal prison at Lewisburgh, Pa., or at Eustis, Va.

Judges Learned Hand, Thomas W. Swann, and Augustus N. Hand made their decision after three and a half hours of argument by George S. Leisure, defense counsel, and Assistant United States Attorney Rosenblum.

Judge Learned Hand then said:

"I can't see any doubt of this man's guilt and both my colleagues share my feeling that the motive for his irregularities seems to have been established and was his and his alone."

Harriman was convicted last week of falsifying the books and misapplying funds of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, of which he was president.

LOOTING OF MAIL CAR PROBED BY U. S. INSPECTORS

Postal inspectors were in Bradley and Kankakee yesterday investigating the robbery of a mail car on a Big Four train which left Chicago for Indianapolis late Thursday. About 170 sacks of parcel post destined for Indiana towns were known to have been rifled. One sack, unopened, was found on the right of way near Bradley and pieces of parcel post from other sacks were scattered along the tracks.

While the inspectors said they could not give an estimate of the loss without considerable investigation, they believed that the loot would be small, inasmuch as bonds and registered mail are carried in mail cars manned by armed guards and clerks. The looted car was not guarded.

It was loaded at the Roosevelt road station of the Illinois Central railroad, whose tracks the Big Four uses as far as Kankakee. Inspector M. L. Goldsmith said the thieves probably broke the seal and boarded the car when the train stopped at 63d or 63d street.

Parole Woman Sentenced in Slaying of Husband

Trenton, N. J., June 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl of South Vineland, convicted in 1927 for participation in the slaying of her husband, Dr. William C. Lilliendahl, was granted a parole today. She was reported to be dying.

WOMAN GIVEN 4 YEARS AS HEAD OF KIDNAP RING

Mrs. C. Ware Garcia, Aids Sentenced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., June 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Cecile Ware Garcia, 40 years old, former wife of James W. Ware, wealthy cotton broker here, and who achieved much notoriety in lawsuits in Chicago during the last few years, was sentenced in the Parish court here today to serve a term of four years in the state penitentiary as head of a kidnaping ring.

Mrs. Ware and four of her accomplices were found guilty of kidnaping John C. Brent and Mrs. Jean English, social workers. They were convicted under the new state kidnaping law and their sentences called for "hard labor" while in prison.

Beautiful Brunette Lure.

Convicted with her was Miss Carmen Mercedes Chase, 20 year old beautiful brunette "lure," who drew Brent from his home into the hands of the kidnapers. She was sentenced to serve a term of two years in prison. Roland Godchaux, one of the defendants, also was given a term of two years in the penitentiary. Edward Mayeur, saloonkeeper, and Emmet Calvert, 20 years old, one of the actual kidnapers, were sentenced to a term of four years.

Mrs. Ware is said to have planned the kidnaping of Brent because she had accused him of stealing her diamonds.

It is not the first time that her diamonds have been the cause of her going to court. In 1924 Mrs. Ware brought suit in Chicago against Clark G. Kuney, former banker of Three Lakes, Wis., to recover her diamonds and $60,000 in currency which she gave to Kuney to finance a land project in Wisconsin. After she had given the jewelry and money to Kuney he disappeared and later was located in Fort Meyers, Fla., where he was arrested and later returned to Chicago.

Drop Diamond Theft Charges.

Attorney Charles S. Wharton, former congressman, who later served time in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for complicity in the Evergreen Park mail robbery, was retained by Mrs. Ware to recover the jewelry and money she gave to Kuney. The charges against Kuney later were dropped.

While Attorney Wharton was serving his sentence in the federal penitentiary Mrs. Ware obtained a warrant for his arrest charging him with embezzlement of the diamonds, valued at $10,000, and $4,500 in bonds, which she charged he had obtained from Kuney in a settlement. Attorney Wharton, who was arrested on his release from prison, said that he was holding the jewelry for his fee.

She also filed a suit against Henry Langsner, wealthy real estate operator of Sarasota, Fla., for $570,000, alleging breach of promise to marry.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, June 29.—A stray dog, picked up en route, saved the lives of three youths walking across the Andes from Chile. The boys hoped to find work in Argentina.

Overtaken by a snowstorm, the youths took refuge for three days without food in an abandoned hut. When they resumed their journey they collapsed a half-mile from the monument to Christ located on the summit.

The dog made its way to a weather station at the foot of the monument, attracted the attention of a radio operator and led him to where the trio lay in the snow in a state of collapse.

INSULL TRUSTEE SUES 44 IN STOCK SYNDICATE LOSS

Demands Pool Members Pay $200,000.

Forty-four persons, part of the subscribers to a $30,000,000 Insull stock syndicate which liquidated in 1932 with a loss of $4,577,945, were named in suits filed yesterday in the Circuit and Superior courts in an effort to collect approximately $200,000, their alleged share of the loss.

The suits were filed by Harry A. Bigelow, trustee for the bankrupt Insull, Son & Co., Inc., a subsidiary of the defunct Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

The suits declare the money is due Insull, Son & Co. as authorized agent for the syndicate under a contract entered into by the subscribers. The company, according to the suits, made advances to the account of the syndicate.

Four Sued on Notes.

When the syndicate liquidated four of the defendants gave promissory notes for their losses and they are being sued on the notes. These defendants and the amounts they are alleged to owe are: Edward J. Hughes, Illinois secretary of state, $3,814; Patrick J. Lucey, former Illinois attorney general, $7,629; Patrick A. Nash, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, $3,051; and David E. Shanahan, state representative, former speaker of the Illinois house, $7,629.

U. S. GRAND JURY INDICTS BANKERS; 7 DETROIT MEN

Six Others Accused in Smaller Cities.

Detroit, Mich., June 29.—(AP)—Racing with the statute of limitations, the federal grand jury which is investigating the circumstances that preceded Michigan's banking crash indicted 13 bank executives today, including former heads of Detroit's huge bank holding companies, the Detroit Bankers' company and the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc. The holding companies now are in receivership.

The charges are: Making, causing to be made, or conspiring to make false reports. Some of those allegedly false reports date back to June, 1931. Within two days, those reports would have been outdated by the statute of limitations as the basis of prosecution.

Ballantyne, Lord on List.

Heading the list of defendants are John Ballantyne, former president of the Detroit Bankers company and now president of the Manufacturers' National bank, and Robert O. Lord, an organizer and president of the Guardian Detroit Union Group, which had 32 Michigan banks as affiliates.

Five of the other defendants are Detroiters. The rest were officers of Guardian Group unit banks in other Michigan cities.

Outstate Defendants.

The outstate defendants: Alex Robertson, former vice president of the National Bank of Ionia; Joseph H. Brewer, former president of the Grand Rapids National bank, now president of the reorganized National Bank of Grand Rapids and the Grand Rapids Trust company; Alvah H. Crimmins, former vice president of the Grand Rapids National; Charles S. Campbell, president of the First National Bank and Trust company of Kalamazoo; Earl H. Sheperd, a vice president of the same bank, and Stephen A. Graham, president of the First National Trust and Savings bank of Port Huron.

The charges against Ballantyne, Chittenden, and Hart include the alleged failure to report to the controler of the currency possession by the First National of Detroit Bankers company stock purchased in an effort to offset a $64,000 loss taken on a note. Bodde and Sweeny are charged with making false reports.

Elgin Boy, 11, Drowns in Gravel Pit Pool

Richard Beckwith, 11 years old, of Elgin, drowned yesterday in a gravel pit pool near that town while other youths swam nearby, unaware of the tragedy. Clifford Allen, 12 years old, a companion of Richard, was rescued and when revived asked for his chum. Swimmers then searched the pool and found the body. Richard was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Beckwith, 845 Logan avenue, Elgin.

DENIS E. SULLIVAN NAMED TO HEAD CRIMINAL COURT

Superior Jurists Fail to Heed New Rule.

Judges of the Superior court yesterday disregarded the new Criminal court rule that only judges assigned to hear criminal cases shall vote for the chief justice of that division. During their regular meeting in the county building they recommended Judge Denis E. Sullivan, who has been dean of the chancery division for twenty years, for the post.

Judge Sullivan, who was slated for Criminal court service when the assignments were prepared, was nominated as chief justice by Judge Joseph B. David, who will continue under the new assignments to hear common law suits. The nomination was seconded by Judge James J. Kelly, now head of the common law division, and it then received the approval of all twenty-eight judges.

Judges Follow Old Procedure.

The recommendation of Judge Sullivan followed the practice in the courts for years. The chief justiceship of the Criminal courts has been alternated between Circuit and Superior court jurists, and the election took place among the judges of the court entitled to the office. Such recommendations always have been approved by the judges of the other court.

Whether the Circuit court judges will sanction the retention of the old practice in defiance of a ruling by the present judges of the Criminal court that only the ten justices assigned from the two courts should pick their chief, will not be known until next Friday. The meeting scheduled for the same time when the Superior judges met yesterday was postponed until then.

The new Criminal court ruling, promulgated by the present chief justice, Philip J. Finnegan of the Circuit bench, and his colleagues, is based upon a recent state Supreme court decision upholding that theory. Under the ruling, the outgoing chief justice is delegated to preside over the election of his successor after the new assignments to the court by the executive committees of the Circuit and Superior courts.

Others in Criminal Court.

The Superior justices who will sit in the Criminal court during the next term are, in addition to Judge Denis Sullivan, John C. Lewe, Donald S. McKinlay, Harry B. Miller, Grover C. Niemeyer, and Walter P. Steffen.

The law court, under Judge Kelly, consists of Judges David M. Brothers, Joseph B. David, James F. Fardy, E. I. Frankhauser, Marcus Kavanagh, Michael L. McKinley, Peter H. Schwaba, Walter T. Stanton, and Charles A. Williams. Those in the Chancery court, led by Judge Joseph Sabath, who, as chief justice of the civil court will hear this type of case for the first time in many years, are William J. Lindsay, head of the chancery division; Harry A. Lewis, and John P. McGoorty.

In the Appellate court are Judge Martin M. Gridley, Ross C. Hall, Oscar Hebel, William H. McSurely, John M. O'Connor, and John J. Sullivan. The summer emergency judges are Lewe and Williams and Sabath and David.

50,000 MIDWEST LEGIONNAIRES TO VISIT FAIR TODAY

Military Splendor Will Mark Ceremonies.

Legionnaires of the central west will have their day at A Century of Progress today. Upward of 50,000 veterans, together with their families, are expected to swell the attendance total. Officially it is Illinois American Legion day, but all Legionnaires with a 1934 membership card will be admitted free.

Dedication of the American Legion building at 31st street by National Commander Edward A. Hayes, who will fly to Chicago from Decatur, will open the day's ceremonies, in which some 50 musical organizations and drill teams will participate.

Following the dedication at 2 p. m., all uniformed Legionnaires and bands, drill teams and drum corps will assemble at the 14th street entrance for a parade down the Avenue of Flags and over the 16th street bridge to the Hall of States, where the main program will be held.

National Leaders to Speak.

Speakers will include Commander Hayes, Joseph H. Novotny, chairman of the program committee; Edward F. McGinnis, commander of the First division; State Commander Charles Kapschull, and R. I. Randolph, representing the Fair.

Five hundred medals for excellence in drumming and bugling and medallions to be placed on post flags are included in the awards.

A picturesque naval demonstration on the Fair lagoon has been arranged by the program committee and Harry Rico, commander of the lagoon fleet, has placed all his boats at the disposal of the Legion for the maneuvers.

Five hundred disabled veterans from the Edward Hines Memorial hospital will be taken to the Fair during the morning, and luncheon and dinner will be served to them.

Urged to Wear Medals.

Though a membership card will admit any one, Mr. Novotny urged Legionnaires not wearing uniforms to at least wear their uniform caps and medals.

Last year the Legion had its headquarters in the Sears-Roebuck building, but the new headquarters is a colonial structure with landscaped grounds and gardens modeled after those at Mount Vernon. The Legion's four principles of justice, freedom, democracy, and loyalty are symbolized in the four pillars of the porch.

Yesterday's attendance at the Fair at midnight had reached 49,779. The final figure for Thursday was 69,817, as compared with 86,031 for June 28, 1933. The attendance on June 28, 1893, the Columbian Exposition, was 98,896.

SO. PARK POLICE TO IGNORE ROW OVER NUDE ART

The 500 artists registered for the open air art show that will open today on the Congress street plaza in Grant park may exhibit their nudes without interference from the south park police, Lieut. Michael Hays, commanding the police, said last night. Lieut. Haye took this position although a ruling against the nudes by William I. Bell, acting superintendent of south parks, is still unchanged.

"I don't think any of our police will visit the show—officially," said Lieut. Hayes. "This question of nudes is a delicate one and we don't care to pass on it."

"Besides," Lieut. Hays added proudly, "our own Sergt. Arthur Hohof is exhibiting in that show, and he has some very good exhibits, too."

The Artists' Equity association, which is sponsoring the show, said that Sergt. Hohof, 10235 Bensley avenue, was to exhibit paintings, but not paintings of nudes. The show will continue for 12 days.

The No-Jury Art association, which will open a show at 164 North Michigan avenue on July 9, announced yesterday that Robert Zuppke, football coach at the University of Illinois, has sent a group of paintings for that exhibit.

SHOT BY BANDITS AS HE ROUTS TWO IN SHOP HOLDUP

Fred J. Rennhak, 57 years old, was perhaps fatally wounded yesterday by one of two gunmen who attempted to hold up his butcher shop at 5355 South Laflin street.

Rennhak was asleep in a back room when the pair entered and leveled their weapons at Mrs. Dora Rennhak, his wife, and his son, Fred Jr. These two were forced into a refrigerator, while the bandits began searching for money believed hidden in the shop.

At this point Rennhak, who had been awakened by the noise, ran into the front of the store, holding a revolver. The holdup men fled, but as they did so one fired a shot which struck him in the chest. He was taken to the German Deaconess hospital, where his condition was pronounced critical.

Anti-Hitler Demonstrator Is Denied a New Trial

Judge William E. Helander yesterday denied a motion for a new trial sought by Dr. Martin Zeisler, 36 years old, 3256 Lawrence avenue, who was found guilty of disorderly conduct by a jury in the Municipal court Wednesday and fined $5. Dr. Zeisler was arrested on June 11 in front of the German consulate, 520 North Michigan boulevard, when he refused to leave the place as ordered by the police who were sent there to disperse an anti-Hitler demonstration. Police said they recognized a number of communists in the gathering.

Steals Pair of Stockings; Sentenced to Serve Year

James H. Miller, alias Moran, 48 years old, 1023 Lake street, was fined $300 and sentenced to a year in the House of Correction yesterday by Judge Harry H. Porter in the Evanston Municipal court on a charge of stealing a pair of woman's stockings from an Evanston store.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Special matinee performances were inaugurated yesterday at Old Mexico by Manager Abe Raynor. The afternoon shows include a revue of Mexican boys and girls in their native songs and dances.

Special parties numbering 2,100 persons from Canada, Boston and New York are expected today over the New York Central lines. Sunday's visitors arriving over that railroad are expected to number 5,000 or more.

Miss Naomi Shoemaker, 19 years old, of Woodbine, Md., winner of the National 4-H club championship, and Miss Bernice Hooper, 18 years old, Lava Hot Springs, Idaho, runner-up, were greeted by President Rufus C. Dawes of A Century of Progress as they visted the Fair yesterday.

Today is the final day for entries in the Sears-Roebuck $40,000 Century of Progress baby contest. Judging will start Monday to determine the babies who will share in the awards. The first prize is $5,000 and a $5,000 educational policy.

Two tickets to the Fair were mailed yesterday to Joseph Dickman of Fremont, O., and five others who returned balloons from the farthest distance after they were sent up in a race sponsored by Armour & Co. last June 21. Dickman's home is 265 miles from Chicago.

The television exhibit and demonstration in the Electrical building will be officially opened at 8 p. m. July 3. Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the Exposition, will be the first visitor to be televised. Officials of the exhibit expect to have many famous stars of the stage and screen as their guests in the demonstrations during the summer.

Assurance was given in a recent test that the 1934 Fair is adequately protected from fire hazard. Six minutes after a trial alarm was given, two city fire companies and the complete Fair fire apparatus were throwing water on a supposed blaze at the east side of the Electrical building.

"Speed" Baker, nationally known stunt driver, ended an 8 day endurance drive at the World's Fair last night in the Court of Honor. Baker, locked to the wheel, had driven his car continuously 201 hours and 25 minutes.

NEW YORK CITY BUILDING MORE SUPERHIGHWAYS

Acts as Chicago Lags on Projects.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—The Tribune roadster, here as an official World's Fair car to promote travel to A Century of Progress, was driven today over elevated highways of demonstrated value to the motorists. While Chicago and Springfield have merely been talking about a modern trafic facility for the city's west side, New York has constructed such arteries for fast and safe motor transportation.

And while Chicago and Springfield have virtually abandoned efforts to get federal aid for the west side elevated highway and while the Lincoln park and south park boards are still waiting for a government loan for the outer link bridge, New York is proceeding with loans from Washington for two additional major trafic improvements.

Clears Masts of Ships.

Driving north from Washington, D. C., after an extended Fair promotional trip through the south, The Tribune roadster mounted an elevated roadway near the Newark, N. J., airport, and on a trestle high enough to clear the masts of ships, crossed the Passaic and the Hackensack rivers.

On a broad pavement, sometimes elevated and sometimes depressed, the route carried trucks, buses and passenger cars through Jersey City with no interference to or from local trafic or pedestrians.

This Jersey viaduct has slashed the driving time between Manhattan and its leading airports. Formerly the trip required from 30 to 45 minutes, depending upon luck at the old draw bridges and upon the intensity of the congestion. Today the 3.8 miles of viaduct are covered in five minutes.

Built with Bond Issue.

The United States bureau of public roads, evaluating the time of the 29,000 cars that use the structure daily, estimates that the $19,000,000 cost was well justified. It was built by the New Jersey highway department with bonds to be retired by gasoline tax and license fee revenue.

After passing under the Hudson river through a white enamel tube that is the Holland tunnel, the roadster was swung onto Manhattan's elevated highway for a jaunt to an uptown hotel over a route free of the delays and hazards of the busy street level pavements. New York has three miles of this elevated highway and another quarter of a mile will be in service. The cost is 16 million dollars.

New York has spent money lavishly to alleviate its motor congestion and experience has demonstrated that the expenditures have been sound economy. Another large project within the last few years was the George Washington Memorial bridge which cost 60 million dollars.

Many Millions Advanced.

The two new projects, aided by "easy money," are another pair of vehicular tubes under the Hudson and a tri-borough bridge over the Harlem river and Bronx hills to connect Manhattan with the Queens and the Bronx. For the bridge 40 million dollars has been advanced and construction is under way. For one of the planned pair of new tunnels $37,500,000 has been advanced and engineers are now completing surveys and detailed specifications preliminary to construction.

ROTARIANS WILL MEET NEXT YEAR AT MEXICO CITY

Detroit, Mich., June 29.—(AP)—Rotary International today placed itself on record as opposed to subjects of a political or other controversial nature being brought before its conventions, and then adjourned its international assembly for another year. Delegates will meet at Mexico City in 1935.

At the closing session, Retiring President John Nelson of Montreal announced that the directors will omit from the convention report "any talks which for any reason it seemed undesirable to include."

He said he referred to no specific address, but resentment had been expressed by many delegates over the inclusion of political speeches in the program, particularly those by Postmaster James A. Farley, and Mark Sullivan, Washington newspaper man. Sullivan, on the opening day, attacked salient features of the NRA; later, Farley delivered an address as laudatory of the New Deal as Sullivan's was critical.

5 Held on Charges of Passing Fake $10 Bills

Three men and two women were held to the federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Walker on charges of passing spurious $10 federal reserve notes. The men, held in bonds of $5,000 each, are Joseph Coomes, Raymond Ehrlich, and James McDonald. The women, who were held in bonds of $500 each as material witnesses, are Thelma Evans and Sylvia Coomes. According to Assistant United States Attorney Edmond Sullivan the five men were arrested at 2034 North Clark street after they had passed nine of the counterfeit bills.

NEW FELONY BOND PLAN APPROVED BY CITY JUDGES

CRIMINAL COURT.

Joseph Primakow and Elmer Lawler, conspiracy, sentenced to 1 to 5 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

The Municipal court judges in a meeting yesterday unanimously approved the plan of State's Attorney Courtney to have all felony bonds investigated by his office as to their adequacy before they are accepted by judges for the release of defendants.

Putting the plan into effect, which is to be done immediately, means that one serious loophole in criminal cases originating in the Municipal court will be plugged. Recently a number of instances have occurred where prisoners have jumped real estate bonds, which upon forfeiture were found to be worthless. The last instance was that of the liberation of Lester Weiss, a forger.

It was then discovered the real estate scheduled did not fully cover the $15,000 bond, and the bond had been approved by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman in his home at 1:30 o'clock in the morning.

Under the new plan all realty felony bonds must be referred to the state's attorney's bond department for checking as to value and title, and then sent to the Automobile or Felony courts in the Criminal court building, or to the bond department in the city hall, for approval before being accepted for release of prsoners.

WATER CARNIVAL HELD AT OPENING OF 63D ST. BEACH

The Jackson Park bathing beach at 63d street was formally opened yesterday with a water carnival, aquatic contests, and vaudeville under the sponsorship of the Woodlawn Business Men's association. Mayor Kelly started the evening program by a short talk welcoming the throngs.

The program of events started at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and continued until midnight. The aquatic events consisted of water races, beach races, and diving contests for the bathers. Prizes were given to the winners. Art Young gave an exhibition in archery.

James L. Nolan, personnel director for the south park system, had all the picnic equipment installed on the beach, including the beach fireplaces.

Week Passes with No Word of Missing Girl

Last night marked a week's mysterious absence of 15 year old Dorothy Fish, Sunday school girl, living at 7234 South Fairfield avenue. The girl, daughter of William Fish, chief inspector for the D. O. James Gear Manufacturing company, left home to visit a neighborhood chum June 22 and has not been seen since. Mr. Fish fears the girl has been kidnaped.

U. S. BUILDING AT FAIR HAS A NEW 1934 'FACE'

Enlarged Exhibits Add Much to Interest.

The federal building at A Century of Progress has taken on a new face this year in many ways beside softened color tones—in spite of the fact that the $175,000 granted by Congress June 19, for its 1934 upkeep fell $230,000 short of the appropriation asked.

The edifice itself, low-lying and white, with a warm orange dome, surmounted by three white pylons, attracts attention from every entrance to the fair grounds. From the Twelfth street entrance, there is its dome, a bright spot of color. From the lake, there is its imposing entrance and flight of steps, crowned with a gold seal of state. From all sides, the three figures by Lorado Taft, the statues personifying the judicial, executive, and legislative branches of government, inspire comment.

Many Interior Changes.

Outside changes this year were restricted merely to changing a rather tarnished golf leaf to orange, in painting black pillars white and white pillars red and in relining its encircling pond with a peacock, rather than a glaring victory blue, but interior changes have been made in everything except decoration.

A striking new exhibit, from an historical standpoint, is a collection from the Smithsonian institution, grouped in the department of justice display. The collection, which in coming to Chicago made its first trip away from the institution proper since being placed there, includes Elias Howe's sewing machine, Eli Whitney's cotton gin, the inventor's model of the first automobile, the barograph used by Lindbergh on his trans-Atlantic flight, a counter of barter materials, a case of rare coins, and a collection of 19th century jewelry. The transportation of the relics from Washington to Chicago necessitated a special act of Congress.

Elaborate Indian Display.

In the Department of the Interior, the cursory Indian exhibit of last year has been replaced by an elaborate display of Indian arts and crafts. Navajo jewelry of beaten silver, a Hopi grain basket, four feet high, fashioned of split yucca leaves and bearing the famous thunderbird [rain] design, ollas [grain jars] of unbaked clay, Indian furniture of yellow pine and juniper, Sioux bead work and pottery work of all the tribes—all are there.

Navajo rugs and paintings, in both of which the colorings used were made from minerals and vegetables, make an effective background. The national parks diorama, shown in the same display, will be remodeled within the next two weeks.

Labor Department Changes.

The most complete change will be in the Department of Labor which is being entirely remodeled. Work on this display, which is now closed, will begin next week with the arrival from Washington of Miss Margaret Klein, director of the exhibit. In the Department of Commerce, changes have been made in the bureaus of fisheries, aeronautics, foreign and domestic service and patents, and the coast and geodetic survey. Minor changes have been made in the agriculture, navy and postoffice departments, and major changes have been planned by others, but all the contemplated changes, Fair officials say, are being held up pending the actual allocation of the new $175,000 appropriation.

New Deal on Display.

The first of the New Deal agencies to be "explained" in an exhibit will be the PWA, when dioramic exhibit of the subsistence homestead work being done under the Mississippi Valley committee will be opened July 1 in the location occupied last year by the Arkansas state exhibit. The dioramas, which will also show marginal land surveys and soil erosion, are being prepared by Charles Plastow, designer of those used in the Florida exhibit.

The absence of the New Deal from the federal exposition was explained by an official as due to the fact that the exhibit was planned before the Roosevelt administration went into office. Requests from the public for pictorial presentation of the New Deal have been so frequently received that officials hoped, with a larger appropriation, to include many of its alphabetical phases in the 1934 display. The cut in appropriation precludes all possibility of so doing.

RICHARD DIX AND SECRETARY MARRY IN EAST

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Richard Dix, motion picture actor, was married in Jersey City today to his secretary, Miss Virginia Webster. The ceremony was performed by Edward A. Markley, acting police judge in Jersey City. The couple had obtained a marriage license in Edgewater, N. J.

Dix was married under his real name, Earnest C. Brimmer. He said his home was in Beverly Hills, Cal., and Miss Webster said her home was in West Los Angeles.

After the wedding the couple left in an automobile, destination unknown.

Dix was divorced by his first wife, the former Winifred Coe of San Francisco, last September, and she announced a few days ago her engagement to Dr. Harley J. Gunderson, a Los Angeles surgeon.

Dix and Miss Coe were married in Yuma, Ariz., on Oct. 20, 1931. They had known each other from childhood. At the time of their divorce the custody of their baby daughter was awarded to Mrs. Dix.

U. S. Secret Service Chief Denies Coolidge Plot Story

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—W. H. Moran, chief of the United States secret service, smiled today at the report from Havana charging that secret service men connived with police of former President Machado to kill two men accused of plotting to assassinate former President Coolidge a month before Mr. Coolidge visited Cuba in 1928. Moran said not only was there no truth in the story, but the secret service had no record of any plot against the former President in Havana.

BOOKS

You Discover Alabama in This Volume

Books About Places Are Reviewed Today.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"STARS FELL ON ALABAMA," by Carl Carmer [Farrar & Rinehart], officially published on Tuesday, is one of those fortunate books which have their public ready made by a book club. The Literary Guild has chosen it for its July book. In the same fashion "The Native's Return," by Louis Adamic [Harper's], was welcomed by the subscribers to the Book of the Month club and with that impetus has achieved a vast popularity. Carl Carmer's book may well achieve the same success.

Carl Carmer went to the state university at Tuscaloosa, Ala., to teach English. He lived in Alabama for six years and spent much of his leisure time gathering stories from the natives, attending all local festivities, penetrating the mountain fastnesses and the bayou swamps in search of an explanation of the social and psychological realities of their inhabitants.

The result in "Stars Fell on Alabama" is a volume impressive with the intensive interest of the author, discovering Alabama with the sense of satisfaction that Columbus must have felt at San Salvador. Illustrations by Cyrus Le Roy Baldridge adorn the volume. It is the same kind of book that Julia Peterkin's "Roll, Jordan, Roll," of last December was, with, oddly enough, one of the same stories in it of two Negro women who traveled to Rome to warn the pope of his death. The difference between the two books is that often Mrs. Peterkin's is supremely beautiful.

"The Native's Return" is also, to my mind, a better book than "Stars Fell on Alabama." It is better for another reason than on account of its style, which except for occasional chapters like the one "Death Waits for My Uncle Yanez" is of the forceful narrative rather than the lyric type. Louis Adamic at 14 left his native village Carniola in what was then Austria-Hungary. He came to America to make his fame and fortune. Twenty years later, having achieved enough of the first with his writing "Dynamite" and "Laughing in the Jungle" to be awarded a Guggenheim fellowship, he set out for Europe.

He intended to stop for a day to see his father and his mother and his four brothers and five sisters and then go out his business of writing a novel about America. Instead he spent his whole year in Jugo-Slavia and wrote the most fascinating book that has been inspired by that little known country. It is "a love child" of a book. It was born of love at first sight . . . but of understanding, after-twenty-years'-experience love.

Incidentally, one of the chapters which was originally a part of "The Native's Return," "Struggle," which is the blood curdling story of the tortures of political prisoners in Jugo-Slavia, has been published as a separate brochure by Arthur Whipple of Los Angeles.

Other parts of our native land are being "discovered" also of late. Carl Glasscock, well known connoisseur of early Americana, took himself and his family on a motor car trip through California over the trails of the men who in 1849 and 1850 made the most spectacular trek for gold in history. From that trip and his researches into those golden days he has written "A Golden Highway" [Bobbs-Merrill], a book richly anecdotal as well as impressively historical.

I was astonished to read that the boats which plied between San Francisco and Sacramento were all side-wheelers from the Hudson river which had made the perilous trip around the Horn. . . . It seemed so characteristic of the effort that man would make for gold.

A travel book of quite another type is Aldous Huxley's "Beyond the Mexique Bay" [Harper's]. Travelers are always of two kinds, those who see with their eyes and those who see with their minds, those whose pleasure [or lack of it] ends with the comforts or beauties or discomforts or terrors of the spot and those to whom geography and people are stimuli to thought about everything else . . . art, science, society, food. . . . Aldous Huxley is of the latter school of travel and creative writers. "Beyond the Mexique Bay" follows a cruise of the islands of the West Indies and Central America, but it travels all over the world of ancient and modern thought and conjecture.

Mr. Huxley synthesizes description in such unforgettable sentences as this about Trinidad; "No work is being done at the lake, and the telpher wires stretched tightly across the sky serve only as convenient perches for innumerable black pelicans. They sit there like a passage of semi-quavers on a mile long expanse of ruled paper. We seemed to be landing at the foot of a gigantic page of Liszt." And then lets his fancy go aflighting.

Not all of "Beyond the Mexique Bay" is in Mr. Huxley's most brilliant overtones of writing. Most of it has more of the quality of a notebook than of a worked over masterpiece. But much more of it is genuinely spontaneous literature, more than is found in most travel books, because Mr. Huxley is primarily a genius with words.

John Dos Passos is another genius with words who has recently written about places. "In All Countries" [Harcourt-Brace] his latest book is called, and it records his impressions of Russia, Mexico, Spain, and our own, our native land.

Mr. Dos Passos is a converted communist, and like all converts, that much more a passionate devotee. He sees "In All Countries" the progress of his adopted creed. But, although he might not wish it thought so, before he is a communist, before he is anything else in the world, John Dos Passos is a great novelist, and his latest book is primarily a gifted novelist's sketches of life today "In All Countries."

Like Aldous Huxley's "Beyond the Mexique Bay," "In All Countries" is rather a notebook than a finished work of art, but whatever one's reactions to the author's findings the sheer power of the novelist agrip with his material that is in the pages will intrigue the reader.

Mystery of the Week

BY MORTIMER QUICK

Problem children may engage the attention of psychologists, but problem families have taken complete possession of the minds of detective story writers. Fresh in the field is Kay Cleaver Strahan with "The Hobgoblin Murder" [Bobbs-Merrill]. Nothing could be odder than the group of sisters who for forty-seven years have lived somewhere or other completely shut off from the world. But you get all het up wondering who in the world could have done those two nasty murders and keep het up almost to the end of the book. Then you do rather feel that the author has taken a fall out of you, but you forgive her after a little thought.

The detective concerned is that clever young woman, Lynn MacDonald, and she seems just as confused as you are up to the last few pages. But Mrs. Strahan has a way of creating or reporting a quaint lot of people who have a convincing way with them, and this is a nice book to take along with you on your week-end off. Remember when the solution bursts on you that I predicted a blow, but in the meanwhile get quite a lot of enjoyment out of Miss Dorinda and Miss Hortense. After all, it isn't easy in these days to find new sorts of murderers, and if the pursuit affords good hunting you are getting just about all you are entitled to expect.

4th printing of this extraordinary book is now ready.

English Wait for New Book from Houghton

See Brilliant Career for Young Writer.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON, — [Special Correspondence.] — There is probably no English novelist of less than middle age in whom American publishers visiting London show such interest as Claude Houghton; and there is good reason for this interest, for Mr. Houghton has brains and brilliance, a sense of the modern world, and great dramatic ability.

To say that he has yet produced his best work would be to deny the tantalizing promise he has long shown of being able to write something even better than he has done. I wonder whether he has succeeded in his new book, which Heinemann's are bringing out this Fall? The book, which Mr. Houghton himself considers much "bigger" than "I am Jonathan Scrivener," is called "This Was Ivor Trent," and when it appears I hope to be able to send some further word as to it.

Another young writer, whose second novel did not quite fulfil the expectations roused by his first, is John Collier. When Mr. Collier's "His Monkey Wife" was published he was greeted as a new talent of the first order; but he was not content to repeat a success, and his second book, "Tom's A-Cold," was a peep into a somewhat bleak future for the human race. It was not as enjoyable as "His Monkey Wife," which it should have surpassed.

Now Mr. Collier has written [and Macmillan will publish] a new book about the contemporary scene. The book is called "Defy the Foul Fiend," and it is the story of one of those young men of fiction who lead the lives of questing beasts, with love affairs innumerable. However, the hero of "Defy the Foul Fiend" discovers that life is not so simple as all that, and he reaches in the end something of a solution to his fiendishness.

Whether this kind of book is more than a passing fashion I should doubt. The he-man on paper is apt to be a bore. And the world is really in a serious mood just now, so that amours [unless they are treated with imagination, and not merely as casual tributes to the author's sophistication] grow quickly stale.

Rather more in touch with contemporary preoccupations is a new periodical, modestly named World, which is shortly to be produced by Chatto & Windus. World is to tell us what is happening everywhere, and its editor is Vernon Bartlett. Now Mr. Bartlett has had remarkable experience as foreign correspondent; and until a couple of months ago he was the British Broadcasting Corporation's radio commentator on foreign affairs. He was good, clear, nonpartisan.

But a speaker on the radio, dealing with controversial matters, has a sad time of it, and Mr. Bartlett's comments were the subject of questions in the house of commons. The house of commons still has great power in England, and a question asked there sends the people concerned into a blue funk. Mr. Bartlett left the B.B.C. His new magazine will be published monthly, and it will be cheap; it should be both useful and popular.

Labor Officials Outline Demands for the Future

Why strikes occur, what they signify, what the workers want are some of the questions answered in "Our Next Step: a National Economic Policy" [Harpers]. It is written by Matthew Woll of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and William English Walling. There is a foreword by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. So, as far as it is possible, "Our Next Step" may be said to speak with the voice of labor.

Year in Pictures.

"The Roosevelt Year, a Photographic Record" edited by Pare Lorentz [Funk & Wagnalls] is a picture digest of life in our land from January, 1933, to midnight March 4, 1934. The book is sponsored by the Literary Digest.

"Fun En Route" Provides Variety of Entertainment

"Fun En Route," by Clay Morgan [Simon & Schuster], provides endless entertainment for a journey, by land, by water, or by air. . . . Besides the "amusements" (games, mental hurdles, etc.), there are short stories and poems and essays happily, but not aggressively, on the subject of travel, a grand story by Stella Benson for one. Our own private pet of a book to take on a journey is "The Travellers' Library" [Doubleday-Doran], an omnibus volume of superb words from the great—in novels and short stories—edited by that all-seeing and all-understanding globe spanner, Somerset Maugham.

WARNS JUNKERS GERMAN ARMY WILL BACK HITLER

Reichswehr Chief Crushes Anti-Nazi Hopes.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 29.—Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, today served notice that the reichswehr [army] will have nothing to do with any movement by Junker or other malcontent elements to upset the rule of Chancellor Hitler.

"The state and the army are one," the general asserted in a statement published in the Nazi Voelkischer Beobachter following a conference with President Paul von Hindenburg at Neudeck. "The army supports the leadership which has restored not only its noble right to bear arms but also the right to enjoy utter faith in that leadership. The army has placed itself deliberately in the political life of the united German nation."

Monarchist Hopes Dampened.

With this glowing tribute to Nazilism Von Blomberg dampened the hopes of monarchists and anti-Nazis for another German new deal. These hopes had brightened considerably following Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen's excursion into the realms of freedom of speech at Marburg university recently in which he criticized various angles of the Nazi rule.

Von Papen, however, has since that time climbed back on the Nazi bandwagon and spoken often and eloquently of the glories of Hitler. The Blomberg statement today, coming apparently with the blessing of Von Hindenburg, appeared to crush finally the possibility of revolt or even of a shift of more power to Junker elements.

In this connection it was remarked today that Edgar Jung, the writer who assembled material for Von Papen's Marburg speech, is still in prison despite the vice chancellor's attempts to get him released. Jung was arrested this week by secret police.

Hindenburg Declared O. K.

Excitement aroused yesterday by reports that Von Hindenburg was ill and under the care of two specialists had calmed today in the face of emphatic assertions that he is in good health. Great secrecy, however, clouded happenings at the president's Neudeck estate. Tourists who formerly were permitted to view the unoccupied wing of Germany's summer white house were refused admission this week and the whole estate swarms with detectives.

Further indication that the Nazis are not slipping much, despite current economic and financial difficulties, is contained in the announcement that the government has taken over the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra, completing its control of this phase of culture.

Report Business Unrest.

BERLIN, June 29.—(AP)—Reports that German industrialists are beginning to object openly to the present government were given new emphasis by Chancellor Hitler's visit yesterday to the Krupp works at Essen and his conversations with industrialists there.

The practical minded manufacturers are said to be insisting that more emphasis be placed upon practical solution of the financial problem and less on talk about "German rights" in world trade.

The attitude of some industrialists is that talk of autocracy and counter reprisals against boycotts are not providing funds to meet the pay rolls the Nazi government insists shall be maintained.

At the same time one German newspaper, probably influenced by Von Papen's advocacy of a free press, threw away the Nazi muzzle for the first time since Hitler came to power.

The paper Reichsbote, one influential and now reduced to a weekly newssheet, called for the elimination of "inefficient subleaders quietly and at the proper time."

Reach Accord with Vatican.

Negotiations for interpretation of the concordat between the Vatican and the German government came to a satisfactory conclusion late tonight, a reliable source stated.

The delegates were received by Chancellor Hitler and the general terms of the agreement were approved.

Under the agreed interpretation the large Catholic youth organizations are to be changed into diocesan organizations, which will renounce all physical culture exercises and sports as well as all quasi-military activities.

In return the continuation of these organizations as Catholic educational institutions is to be guaranteed by the government.

The quick agreement along these lines was taken as an indication that Hitler is eager for quick removal of friction with the Catholic church just as he already had shown his desire to protect the conservative Stahlhelm, or war veterans' organization, from radical Nazis among the storm troops.

HARBOR PIRATE SHOT TO DEATH BY HIS OWN GANG

Cohasset, Mass., June 29.—[Special.]—Cohasset police tonight believed they had found a clew to the three year old unsolved mystery of the murder of Benjamin P. Collings, wealthy Long Island yachtsman, with the discovery of the body of a murdered harbor pirate, presumably the man who stole a yawl at gunpoint at New London, Conn., after the Harvard-Yale boat races a week ago.

The dead pirate, a ruddy complexioned, thickset man, 40 years old, weighing 180 pounds, had been shot through the back of the head as punishment for going ashore and betraying the presence of the gang for whom he was believed to have stolen the boat. He remained unidentified late tonight. His body was discovered in the mud flats off Bassing beach at 7 o'clock tonight by the Rev. George Murphy, S. J.

The discovery of the body followed within a few hours the recovery of the stolen Boston yawl, Cumberbunce II., owned by Mrs. Margaret Love of Malden. The yawl was chartered a week ago by a group of Williams college students who sailed to New London for the races. There it was stolen by one or more men, one of whom at gunpoint forced one of the students to give him a two mile tow to open water with a borrowed launch.

LOVE SUIT JURY VISITS ALLEGED SITES OF TRYSTS

EDMONTON, Alta., June 29.—(AP)—Vivian MacMillan, who charges Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta province with seduction, pointed out to a jury today a spot on a rough country road where she claimed the premier drove her in his car on several occasions and parked.

The court was adjourned in the sensational case while jurymen, justice and clerk of the court followed Vivian and her father in an automobile along a side road two and a half miles from the city limits.

The jury had asked specifically to be shown the scenes described by the girl in her charges.

Visit Brownlee Home.

They also visited the Brownlee residence for a first-hand view of the arrangement of rooms minutely described in court testimony.

After returning to Edmonton, court was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Previous to the adjournment a procession of witnesses had supported Brownlee's denial that he had misconducted himself with the pretty former government stenographer.

Mrs. Florence Brownlee, wife of the defendant, testified that she had seen no evidence of misconduct on the part of her husband with the girl and that she had gone to his defense immediately when the charge was filed.

Mrs. Brownlee denied that she endeavored "to rake up some dirt" against Miss MacMillan in order to assist her husband.

Her Employment Questioned.

The employment of Miss MacMillan as a government stenographer, which she says was at the invitation of the premier, was gone into in the testimony of Fred Smailes, civil service commissioner for Alberta. Smailes said that Brownlee had never asked special favors for Miss MacMillan.

"How was it you gave this girl a job when thousands of Edmonton girls were looking for jobs?" asked Neil MacLean, counsel for Miss MacMillan and her co-plaintif father, referring to the fact that the girl came here from Edson.

"Not thousands, about 500 or 600."

"Was there any particular reason?"

"No particular reason."

Secretary Defends Premier.

The premier's secretary, Miss Emily Brown, testified that she never left Brownlee's office on Saturday afternoons until after he had gone and that Miss MacMillan was in the office only once or twice. Saturday afternoons had been described as occasions for the meetings between the premier and the girl.

Several other witnesses, including a number of employés at the provincial offices, testified that Brownlee was with them or was otherwise engaged at specific times mentioned by the girl in her testimony as occasions when she had been intimate with him.

Charles E. Campbell, publisher of the Edmonton Bulletin, today filed a notice of appeal of a $300 fine imposed on him by Justice W. C. Ive on a charge of contempt, in connection with the reports of the case published in his newspaper.

KIDNAPER FREES CHILD; SUSPECT RADIO WARNING

Fifteen minutes after she had been kidnaped from a prairie where she was playing near her home Marylyn May Ross, 4 years old, 2952 North Keating avenue, was found unharmed near the BelPark theater, 3231 North Cicero avenue, yesterday. She told the police that "a nice man" had driven her to the show. Police expressed the belief that the kidnaper had a short wave radio in his automobile and became alarmed when he heard the alarm broadcast.

BOY "INVENTOR" DROWNS TESTING DIVING HELMET

Proud Father Pumps Air as Youth Dies.

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—A 16 year old high school boy with a home made diving helmet on his head and a sack of stones bound to his feet waded into the deep water of Estling lake, near Lenville, N. J., at dusk last night while his proud father bent over a small bicycle pump supposed to supply him with air from the shore.

The boy's body had not been found this afternoon, despite more than a dozen hours of searching the cold waters of the lake with grappling irons.

The young inventor of the diving helmet was George Crumm, a junior in the Madison [N. J.] High school, where his father is janitor. The Crumms live at 32 Kings road, Madison.

Made of Galvanized Iron.

George made the diving helmet out of a hammered and soldered tube of galvanized iron and rubber from an old inner tube. The rubber was supposed to fit closely about his neck and make the helmet air tight.

Oxygen was theoretically supplied through a long piece of rubber tubing connected with the helmet at one end and the bicycle pump at the other.

The boy and his father, John Crumm, undertook to test the apparatus last night. They tried Indian lake first, but the water was not deep enough. Young Crumm wanted to make a thorough test. Estling lake offers twenty to thirty feet of water in a steep declivity off shore, so they went there. It was just 9 o'clock when George tied burlap sacks of stones to his feet to hold him on the bottom, adjusted his helmet and clumsily dragged his feet into the water.

Arrange Usual Signals.

He went down quickly and his father began pumping. As a precaution they had tied a piece of rope around the boy's waist and arranged the usual signals of deep sea divers—three sharp jerks if he was in trouble.

His father pumped away, minute after minute, confident that his son was having a wonderful time on the bottom of the lake or he would have signaled to be pulled out. After about twenty minutes Crumm realized that the pump was working easier than it did at first, and he noticed that the air tube was floating on the surface of the lake.

Without waiting any longer for distress signals he jerked on the lifeline. It parted.

Crumm ran into Denville and summoned Police Chief Benjamin Kinsey and a crowd of volunteers. They rowed alongshore and let down hooks all night and kept it up all through the morning, but they did not find the body. The sacks of stones held it securely on the bottom, but the spot could not be located.

PODERJAY ADMITS HE DESERTED FROM THE FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, June 29.—The Vienna police today received a report from the Copenhagen police regarding the doings of Ivan Poderjay, husband of the missing Agnes C. Tufverson, in the Danish capital.

According to this report, Poderjay in 1929 became acquainted with a society woman in Copenhagen. After several months' acquaintance, he made a formal proposal of marriage. The woman's mother made inquiries in Belgrade and received information that Poderjay was already married. The woman's family broke the engagement.

Poderjay left Copenhagen but remained in correspondence with the woman. In 1930 he wrote her he had joined the French Foreign Legion and was garrisoned at Sidi-bel-Abbes in Algeria. Several months later she received another letter, in which Poderjay announced he had deserted from the legion and was staying in England, where the woman met him early in 1931.

The Vienna police today questioned Poderjay, who is being held in custody for action by the American authorities. He admitted he had enlisted in the Foreign Legion and was stationed in Sidi-bel-Abbes. He deserted and went to England, where he made the acquaintance of Susanne Ferrand, whom he married in March, 1933, nine months before he wed Miss Tufverson in New York.

TEACHERS' GROUP WANTS ABOLITION OF R. O. T. C. UNITS

The American Federation of Teachers asked the abolition of R. O. T. C. units from all schools in a resolution adopted at the closing session of its convention in the Morrison hotel yesterday. The teachers declared that the Reserve Officers Training corps program is "inconsistent with the spirit of democracy in education." The convention also urged the formation of labor councils of action against war.

MAC DONALD SHAKES UP BRITISH CABINET ON EVE OF VACATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 29.—Prime Minister MacDonald made his last appearance for three months in the house of commons today. He attended the session to make an announcement which will lead to a reorganization of the cabinet. He said that Sir Henry Betterton, minister of labor, has accepted the chairmanship of the unemployment assistance board which was set up under a new law to administer unemployment relief.

As this is a paid, full time job, Betterton must resign from parliament and from the cabinet.

Oliver Stanley, Lord Derby's second son, and one of the rising hopes of the Conservative party, will succeed to the labor portfolio. Stanley is now minister of transport, and L. Hore-Belisha, young Liberal, who is now financial secretary of the treasury, goes to the ministry of transport.

Duff Cooper, husband of Lady Diana Cooper, succeeds Hore-Belisha. Douglas Hacking, also a Conservative, succeeds Cooper as financial secretary of the war office, while Capt. Harry Crookshank is appointed parliamentary undersecretary of home affairs in place of Cooper.

It also was announced that Sir Francis Lewis Castle Floud, at present secretary to the minister of labor, will succeed Sir William Clark as British high commissioner to Canada.

MacDonald will leave London on Sunday for Lossiemouth, where he will spend a week or so. It is expected he will go to the Canadian Rockies later for a real holiday out of reach of state papers and other governmental troubles.

POLICE GUARD TILLY LOSCH'S DIVORCED MATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 29.—Edward Frank Willis James, who was this week granted a divorce decree nisi from Tilly Losch, famed Viennese dancer, on charges of adultery, was under police protection today. Shortly before the trial of his suit James, a brother of Mrs. Marshall Field, received threatening letters, one of which informed him that if he brought the action in court he would be "put on the spot."

"The last day of the hearing I was informed of a definite plot against me," James said today. "It was discovered by my friends. They were told that I was to be kidnaped and thrown into the river, or beaten up. I ignored the warning, but when I heard the same story from three or four different sources I informed the police. They put a guard outside the house."

NORTH DAKOTA VOTERS DEFEAT SALE OF LIQUOR

Fargo, N. D., June 29.—(AP)—North Dakota frowned on the sale of liquor within its borders in Wednesday's primary, voting to remain dry.

Returns from 926 of the state's 2,242 precincts showed 50,923 voted against intoxicating liquors, while 36,407 advocated liquor sales.

The vote was virtually the same on local option, 49,947 voting against local option to 36,296 approving it.

GOV. LANGER GETS 18 MONTH TERM AND $10,000 FINE

Sentenced After Winning Renomination.

Fargo, N. D., June 29.—[Special.]—Gov. William Langer was sentenced to 18 months in prison and fined $10,000 by Judge Andrew Miller in the federal court here today, two days after the governor had won the renomination as Republican candidate for the office of chief executive.

The prison sentence and fine was imposed when Judge Miller refused to grant him a new trial on the charge that he had conspired to defraud the United States government. He was found guilty by a jury on that charge two weeks ago.

Three Get 13 Months.

Three co-defendants found guilty along with Gov. Langer were sentenced to 13 months in prison and fined $3,000 and costs each. A fourth also convicted, Harold McDonald, was given four months in the jail at Bismarck. The lighter sentence imposed upon him was because of his youth and the fact that he was "merely a hired agent." The three sentenced are Oscar Chaput, business manager of the Leader, Frank Vogel, state highway commissioner, and R. A. Kinzer Sr., former executive secretary of the federal emergency relief commission.

The evidence developed at the trial of the five revealed that the defendants had allegedly solicited funds from federal relief workers for maintenance of the Leader, administration newspaper.

Slate Sweeps Primary.

The sentencing of the men came in the wake of the news that Gov. Langer's slate had swept the North Dakota primary election. Gov. Langer's ticket had captured all but two of the nominations for state offices.

All the defendants announced that they would appeal their convictions to the United States Court of Appeals. The proceedings in court today lasted but thirteen minutes.

PROMISE TO BE KINDER BROKEN; ASKS A DIVORCE

Mrs. Mary McCabe, 9225 Laflin street, filed suit yesterday in the Superior court for a divorce from Adlai McCabe, head of the McCabe Box company, 4400 South Winchester avenue.

They were married on April 19, 1918. On March 27, 1933, she filed a bill for separate maintenance, charging cruelty, but withdrew it after he promised to be kinder, and to give her money for household expenses.

This promise was broken, she said, so she filed suit for divorce. She also obtained from Judge Rudolph Desort an injunction tying up his assets, and a writ to prevent him from leaving the jurisdiction of the court.

POLICE HUNT HOLDUP MAN.

Police yesterday were seeking an armed man who robbed Willis G. Crawford, 1366 Greenleaf avenue of his automobile and $42 Thursday night as he sat in front of a friend's home at 1062 Ainslie street.

TRIBUNE EXTENDS BICYCLE CONTEST TWO MORE WEEKS

Here's How to Get Your Start.

Executives of the circulation department of THE TRIBUNE yesterday announced the deadline in its bicycle contest, originally extended from June 15 to June 30, again will be extended, this time until July 15.

Persons desiring to win bicycles whose names have not been entered to date will have ample time to enroll in the contest. This may be done by calling THE TRIBUNE, Superior 0100, and asking that subscription blanks be mailed to contestants, or by calling in person at the second floor of THE TRIBUNE, where blanks and other paraphernalia of the contest may be obtained.

Great News for All.

Among the hundreds of boys and girls to welcome the extension of the contest deadline was Harold Novak, 14 years old, of 2649 North Kedzie avenue. Harold had never owned a bicycle when the subscription contest was announced last May 7. A few days ago he won a TRIBUNE bicycle after having obtained the requisite 12 six months' acceptable subscriptions. Jubilant, he took the bicycle home and uncrated it.

Harold took one ride on the bicycle. Then, before the newness was worn off, it was stolen. Yesterday he called Superior 0100 and asked if it was too late for him to try for another bicycle.

Glad of Extension.

"I've just got to get 12 more subscriptions and another bicycle," he said. "Gee, I'm glad I've got another two weeks."

Another young contestant who is working against time is Grace Johnson, a girl of teen age, living at 4731 North Lincoln avenue. Grace was born in Africa, the daughter of missionaries. Her father is now an invalid. She has won her first bicycle, one for herself, and is now working towards two other bicycles.

Thousands of men, women, boys, and girls are now riding bicycles which were especially built for THE TRIBUNE and won by them in the contest.

Officials of the circulation department said that it was the most popular contest ever sponsored by this newspaper. The bicycles are fully equipped, with balloon tires, and come in two styles, one for boys and men and one for women and girls. Due to the present popularity of bicycle riding 40 per cent of the winners are girls and women, officials said.

THEFT OF AUTOS HERE IS REDUCED BY 53 PER CENT

6 Months' Figures Reveal Only 74 Unrecovered.

Automobile thefts in Chicago have been reduced 53 per cent during the first six months of 1934 as compared with the same period last year. This was revealed yesterday in a report made public by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Automobile court.

Statistics show that 14,700 automobiles were stolen, 13,738 recovered, and 2,529 stripped from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1933. Only 6,919 cars have been stolen during the first six months of this year, according to the survey, and of this number all except 74 have been recovered. A total of 728 automobiles have been stripped of accessories.

June Figures Way Down.

In 1933 during the month of June, recognized as one of the best months for automobile thieves, more than three times as many cars were stolen than during the same month in 1934. Figures show 2,708 were stolen, 2,311 were recovered, and 408 were stripped in June, 1933, as compared with 901 stolen, 786 recovered, and 32 stripped during June, 1934.

Judge Graber sent a letter to Police Commissioner Allman praising the police for their part in the drive to stamp out automobile thefts and urging them to continue the campaign. The letter pointed out that the influx of World's Fair visitors during the next three months would call for increased vigilance to keep the theft rate down.

Theft Decline Steady.

The drive against automobile thefts, started by State's Attorney Courtney in coöperation with the police, courts and insurance companies, has resulted in a steady decline in the number of cars stolen. Extra police squads and motorcycle policemen have been working throughout the city since the drive was started.

Each theft has been thoroughly investigated and insurance companies, previously hesitant about prosecuting, have been urged by the state's attorney to full coöperation.

"Newspapers are the sentinels of the liberties of our country."—Benjamin Rush.

PRECEDENT ANSWERS THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. Roosevelt is President of the United States, taking the American record as it stands, considering what did happen and not what might have happened as an alternative, because American colonists refused: first, to pay a stamp tax; second, to pay taxes on glass and other commodities; third, to pay a tax on tea; fourth, to concede that a legislative body in which they had no representation could make any laws for them.

Regarding each of these taxes the British ministry asked: "What liberties have you lost, what injury has been done you, what injustice can you reasonably allege?" The colonies were not deceived by the plausibility of this approach to their minds. It happened that the cost of the tea, tax included, was less in Boston harbor than it was in London. All the taxes were intended to produce a defense fund for the colonies. A fair face was on all the proposals of the British ministry. What, then, caused the stubborn colonial opposition? Was it the influence of self-seekers, doubting Thomases, persons seeking special political or financial privilege?

Were the debts of the colonies more burdensome or their bank accounts less secure because of these acts of parliament? Were their working conditions worse and their faith in their individual future less firmly grounded? With respect to the last question, yes. It was. In the aggregate of acts of parliament the Americans saw the extinguishment of their self-government and the loss of their accustomed privileges and rights. The tendency was plainly marked and they knew what came of it. It came quickly when they stiffened their opposition. Their charters were abrogated, their courts were abolished, their citizens ordered to London for trial, their ports were closed, and troops were quartered in their homes.

The ship tax John Hampden refused to pay was a shilling. Was his bank account less secure because of the illegal extension of this tax? It was designed originally as a seaboard impost to protect the coast from possible Scottish raids. Charles, an impoverished king wanting more money than parliament would give him, tried, as kings had tried before, to get it contrary to the law of the land. Plausible self-seekers and theoretical die-hards might have persuaded Hampden that this trivial tax involved the loss of his individual liberty, but that was not the truth.

The ship tax was a test case. If it could be collected other autocratic disregard of safeguards and guarantees would follow. Europe had come out of feudalism with a fair start toward representative democracy. Everywhere on the continent it had been suppressed by absolutism. The Spanish cortes had been abolished. The French parliament had been abolished. Popular liberties had been extinguished. King and emperor had become the state. Despotism and poverty gained ground together.

England escaped this and only because the people were able to resist at the inception the various steps monarchy undertook to put itself above law. There were many critical periods, but the resistance was in each case sufficient. The people did not wait until the loss of liberty was complete and realized by every subject. If they had done so they would have gone the way of Europe, where now a recurrence of tyranny has reduced the population to despair.

Eternal vigilance is not an idle phrase. There is too much evidence to prove its need. People do not wait until they feel the chains if they are to keep free from them. They observe tendencies and interpret them intelligently and correctly. They do not trust men for good intentions or in plausible discussions.

Even at this time Mr. Roosevelt's query as to liberty cannot be answered as he expects it will be. The man who has sold his right to farm his land as he sees fit has lost his liberty. The purchaser who cannot buy at a price satisfactory to himself and the seller has lost his liberty. The use of property is a part of liberty and the citizen who has his destroyed by repudiation of contract, impaired by excessive taxation, or injured by government default on obligations has lost liberty. Submission to unconstitutional laws is required in codes and the penalty for noncompliance is governmental destruction of private enterprise. That is loss of liberty.

The omens are forbidding. They are of greater seriousness and import than any other confronting English speaking people for several hundred years. Mr. Roosevelt undertakes to charm away the sensible fears of the people, to conjure up an evil spirit of selfishness and then drive it out, to create a hostile force of unpatriotic people and shame them by reference to their turpitude. He is wrong. The appeal from him is to the history of the people. He is on the road to usurpations.

That has not been tolerated without protest since the time of William the Conqueror. It would be strange if it were tolerated now.

THE GREATEST OF THE SUMMER RESORTS.

That gracious and healing spirit, the lake breeze, has never been more welcome in her ministrations than in this record breaking summer of 1934. While Wednesday the great valley was blazing under a sun that sent temperatures to 104 and 106 degrees in places a few miles from Chicago we were in the sixties and seventies. It was no freak of fortune but a familiar experience which gives to this city at least one of the most agreeable climates in the temperate zone.

This is a fact Chicago planners may confidently exploit. Chicago has all the qualifications for a great summer resort. The people of town and countryside will not find the change they need in the typical summer resort. They will find it in Chicago—with its theaters, parks, beaches, and resources of entertainment and education like the new zoo, appealing to all tastes and preferences. Chicago like all places in this latitude has its days of intense heat, but lake airs save us from much of that heat that pours over our prairies and is stayed only at our gates. Also the heat that contrives to break down this barrier, as on Thursday, is thrust back usually before it has become an affliction and hot nights are few.

For the vacationist who wants streams and wild woodland or the mountains, we have no charms, of course, but for one who would find change and refreshment in what a great city has to offer, Chicago has them under climatic conditions that make their full enjoyment possible. Chicago may be and should be the greatest of American summer resorts.

A RIOT NOT A STRIKE.

There were 4,700 employés of the Milwaukee traction and light company involved in the so-called strike. But there were only 147 employés not reporting for duty.

To call this a strike is a misnomer. It was merely a riot, a riot of a handful directed by undisclosed agitators, given some support from mischief making youths, idlers, and sensation seekers, and many onlookers sympathetic with what they assumed was the cause of exploited labor. This very small minority was able partially to paralyze the service of a great city, to destroy some property and to put the local government to the expense of a special effort to keep the peace.

In the Minneapolis and Toledo disturbances there was also a great discrepancy between the number really striking and the total number of employés, though not as great as in Milwaukee. They were all riots rather than strikes in the sense the laws and public policy of the nation recognize as a right of the worker. They do not represent the principle of collective bargaining and legitimate representation, but were attempts to force upon a large majority the will of a small minority led by outsiders.

If industry is to have actual employé representation and real collective bargaining, as it should have, it must be protected from the violent impositions of minorities. The Milwaukee disturbance does not support or advance either principle or justify support, so far as we are able to discover the facts.

JUST PALS.

Hugh (Johnson) and Clarence (Darrow) are the best of friends, but, as a public man, Clarence to Hugh is a purblind, sap headed old relic, whose jaw sags and who mumbles in his sleep, and Hugh, as a public man to Clarence, is a double-crossing martinet, the noise of whose loud mouth echoes from the cavern of his empty cranium.

(Hugh talking.) Clarence hunts all over the house for his spectacles until some one tells him they are on top of his head. He sits on his store teeth and thinks the corner policeman is his Uncle Jasper. If he means to go to Wilmington he takes the bus for Utica, and is found wandering around the streets hunting for his Aunt Ella. If there were any gas jets he'd blow out the light. He is beginning to talk about Valley Forge as if he spent the celebrated winter there.

(Clarence talking.) Hugh daily emerges from the cave of the winds and huffs and puffs. If he were turned loose on Pennsylvania avenue in the evening he might blow even the starlings out of the treetops. Every time he sees a consumer he sets the dogs on him, and every time he sees a monopolist he invites him to dinner. Under NRA the small fellow is getting smaller and the big fellow is getting bigger. Hugh isn't even good baloney. He's just a hypocritical bag of wind.

Clarence, the unprejudiced person may observe, isn't what he used to be; Hugh never was. If the referee does not know how to pick the winner he might remember that Clarence at least had the good sense to resign.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Sun.]

Chicago is a fine town. There are occasions when it seems to blow off too much steam and when its denizens are rather reckless with bombs—called pineapples, we believe. But we have often wondered if the behavior that excites surprise at times, in whatever direction it is exhibited, is not a reflection of individual oddity of character.

For example, some developments in a divorce case a few days ago would have been immediately recognized, even had no date line been attached to the dispatch, as having happened in Chicago; they just did not belong anywhere else. One could hardly conceive of a Baltimore husband laying himself open to such a charge as this: An abused wife, being harried by a pestiferous lawyer in efforts to make her admit that her husband had showered her with gifts, exclaimed indignantly that he had given her practically nothing that had not been bought with her own money except a book. And the title of the book was "Two Hundred and One Ways to Commit Suicide." This was in thoughtful remembrance of her birthday and the husband's generosity in the matter was explained by the fact that he was a publisher.

Little touches like that frequently crop out in Chicago, giving ground for belief that certain peculiarities which have given it notoriety are to be found in the individual Chicagoan.

WISTFUL WAITING.

Salesman (beginning to unroll his samples)—I'd like to show you—

Merchant (emphatically)—No, no, I'm not interested.

Salesman (eagerly)—But couldn't I just show you?

Merchant (firmly)—Not a chance. I'm not interested.

Salesman (wistfully)—Well, would you mind if I looked at them myself? I haven't had a chance to see them for three weeks.—Houston Post.

Mother—Did you ever hear of a person who suffered by imitating a good example?

Child—Yes, mother, a coiner.—Buen Humor, Madrid.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

AND IT MIGHT BE one way of reducing the casualty list on the Fourth of July to have the police require every noise maker to answer satisfactorily the following questions:

1. Why are you making all this infernal racket?
2. Did George Washington command the army in the War of the Roses, the Crimean war, the Civil War, the Japanese-Russian war, or the anti-cigaret war?
3. Did you ever hear of Bunker Hill and is it in Indiana, China, Madagascar, South America, Florida, or Massachusetts?
4. Since you are celebrating the Fourth of July state why you do not celebrate the Fourth of January or the Fourth of September.
5. In just what manner does the explosion of a cannon firecracker under a dishpan do honor to the heroes of the Revolution?
6. Would you know the Declaration of Independence if you met it face to face walking down the middle of the street at noontime?
7. Was Paul Revere a soldier, breakfast food, a five cent cigar, member of the Dillinger gang, former President of the United States, or the third baseman of the Cubs?
8. Did Babe Ruth fight in the Siege of Yorktown or the Battle of Bennington? And if not, why not?

If the questions are answered fifty per cent correctly then the racket maker may be called a one hundred per cent patriot and be permitted to continue if he promises not to leave any fingers he may blow off lying around the sidewalk. They are so messy.

THE DREAMERS.

We are the dreamers, we are they who go
On vagrant quests for things no man may see;
We are the shining knights of poverty
Who fight for victories we cannot know.
We rise, alert, to greet the morning's glow;
At night, defeated, dream of what shall be.
We ask no dole, we make no strident plea,
We do not cherish hatred for a foe.
Our one demand is that we still may dream,
Above the fields of slain, a dream of peace;
That we may still pursue bright Beauty's gleam
Amid the ugliness of things that are.
We shall not yield, or doubt, as years increase,
And Death shall find us following a Star!

"NEW LAWS Permit Nonbeverage Users to Have a License."—Headline. Great Scott! do you have to get a license these days if you want to refuse a cocktail or a highball?

THE NORTH was appalled and the whole world surprised when the fact was published during the Civil War that the government was spending five million dollars a day. But now the New Deal is spending twenty million dollars each and every day. So what? It would seem to mean that civil wars are much less expensive than new deals. It's really too bad that we can't have a nice, pleasant civil war and let the new dealers spend their money that way. They might get the spending complex out of their system then and be perfectly happy and contented and it would be so much cheaper for the rest of us.

IT ISN'T THAT we object to the scanty and somewhat startling costumes the girls are wearing on the beaches these days. But why are they so sternly opposed to getting 'em wet?

AND WHILE I USED to say that I would never be a hitch-hiker under any circumstances—still—and also nevertheless—and moreover—if anybody around here goes up into the stratosphere on the Fourth of July and will only look out of his balloon, he will see a strangely pathetic figure looking at him yearningly and wiggling his thumb in a mad frenzy. That will be me.

ENIGMA.

Peter boasted, Judas kissed,
Magdalen reformed.
Lazarus came forth renewed,
Herod butchered, Herod stormed.

Rachel's heart was torn in sorrow,
Barabbas could only doubt
Felon's cell should freely open
And such as he delivered out.

Thomas doubted, unbelieving,
Saul reviled ere he was won,
Swords were drawn from the scabbard,
Wars it seems are never done.

Thieves upon the cross could wonder
If the Roman balanced was,
Seeing One who least deserved it
Impaled upon the central cross.

Though the Veil was rent asunder,
Mystery must yet remain.
Good and evil in that drama

WHY EXERCISE?

Is exercise indispensable to normal well-being? Do people who take some regular form of exercise live happier and more productive lives?

Man is designed by nature for activity. The bony skeleton is supplied with powerful muscles, enabling the body to perform those tasks necessary to sustain life. History is filled with examples that confirm the old adage that only those who work shall eat. However, nearly every grade of the animal kingdom presents examples of parasites, and man is no exception.

Even though the body is at absolute rest certain muscles are constantly at work; for example, the heart and the muscles of respiration. During sleep few individuals remain long in one position. Every physician knows how difficult it is to train patients to relax. Talk with a friend and note how frequently he turns or nods his head, moves his hands, or crosses or uncrosses his legs. All this may be a normal muscular response in an individual with a normal nervous system. High strung or irritable persons will usually show greater muscular restlessness.

Before birth the child is capable of certain muscular movements. At birth the babe cries, respiration is regularly established, and muscular activity begins in real earnest. During the period of growth exercise is the order of the day. Children must be active in order that normal development may occur. Physiologists have shown that muscular movements greatly assist the circulation of the blood; in fact, the return of the blood to the heart through the veins is in large measure due to body movements and to what is known as muscle tone. By muscle tone we mean the readiness of muscles to respond.

When adult life is reached there is a level at which muscular activity may be set beyond which the individual need not and should not go. Under certain conditions unusual or strenuous muscular effort may be indulged in, as there is a reserve of muscular power and endurance that may be drawn upon in an emergency. Except in emergency, exercise should be indulged in only to the point where fatigue is not manifest. Too frequently during vacation periods persons who have been unaccustomed to strenuous exercise suddenly call upon the body or unusual muscular effort and, in spite of the reserve power of the body, damage to the circulatory system and possibly to the nervous system may ensue.

Body building and body sustaining exercise must be regular and moderate. Fifteen to twenty minutes of setting up exercises taken every day will prove of far greater value than occasional days spent in active exercise at week-end periods. Premature ageing too frequently occurs in the man or woman who fails to put the muscular system through a regular daily routine. One is so apt to become lazy, fat, and indolent. The contour of the body then resembles a caricature. The hollow back, flat chest, and protruding abdomen are rarely seen in the individual who keeps his muscles in proper tone.

PROBABLY NOT CENTIPEDES.

J. H. writes: I am living in a basement apartment. Every night when I turn on the light I find two or three large centipedes on the wall. Each one is large and almost black in color, with many brown legs. What can I do to get rid of them?

REPLY:

I doubt if the insects you describe are true centipedes. They are probably what is commonly known as thousand legged worms. The use of any one of the insect sprays, followed by a thorough airing of your quarters, will no doubt destroy the invaders. This may have to be repeated, as this particular insect flourishes in damp, basement quarters.

ANKLES SWELL.

S. A. writes: What causes the ankles and a little above to swell in a man of 73 years? Is there any cure?

REPLY:

This may be due to trouble with the heart muscle, to kidney disease, or to a combination of both. An examination will determine the cause. Much can be done to relieve the condition.

EYELID TWITCHES.

B. D. writes: What causes a twitching in the eyelid—the upper lid as well as the lower?

REPLY:

Usually some irritation of the motor nerves supplying the part. Fatigue may have something to do with it.

PUBLIC EASEMENT.

Chicago, June 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own a piece of property which has been used by the public for a number of years as a driveway. My understanding is that after a specified time this reverts to the public as a permanent thoroughfare. 1. After how many years can this be used as it is now before becoming a public road? 2. What is necessary to retain title? 3. Would a newspaper notice be sufficient? 4. Is it necessary to have the ground inclosed by a fence? 5. For how long a time would this be necessary? B. W. S.

1. Twenty years' adverse use under claim of right can give an easement.
2. In general, you should effectively interfere with the easement. Perhaps the most effective step would be to install and maintain a fence.
3. No.
4. See 2.
5. There is no definite length of time during which your assertion of your right must be continued, but it must be long enough and open enough to constitute a clear interruption.

TAX SALE.

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What is the necessary procedure in purchasing delinquent tax receipts in Illinois, with the object of [2] getting tax title and [3] possession of the property? 4. What obstacles, legal or otherwise, would the buyer encounter before getting a legal deed and title to the property?

A. R. L.

1. You must bid at the tax sale, which is like any other auction, except that your figure is the penalty at which you would be willing to pay the taxes.
2. As a practical matter, a tax deed in Illinois is merely a lien or cloud on the title rather than a good title in itself.
3. You could not expect to get possession in this way.
4. Many obstacles are possible. We strongly advise you not to embark on such an enterprise without first employing an attorney.

PROPER EXIT ORDERED.

Chicago, June 26.—[Friend of the People.]—My sister is living in a building which is not only unsanitary but lacks the necessary exits in case of fire. There is only the one entrance, in the front of the building, with no exit in the rear. In case of fire it would be a dangerous trap. Please advise what can be done to put this building in a sanitary and safe condition. F. F. M.

This department has notified the owner to erect a rear stairway from second floor to the ground, and to provide two means of exit from the second floor. This order will be enforced.

EXAMINATION.

Chicago, June 4.—[Friend of the Insured.]—I have been told that no medical examination is asked for when applying to a life insurance company for an annuity. Is this right?

L. T.

Ordinarily no medical examination is required in connection with an application for an annuity contract. There are some forms, however, that require full medical examination just as the regular forms of life insurance. When disability provisions are desired and made an addition to an annuity contract, a medical examination or other evidence of health is also required.

DISABILITY.

Chicago, June 4.—[Friend of the Insured.]—Is there any difference in the disability clause of an accident and health policy and the same clause in a life insurance policy? What is it supposed to do and are all these clauses the same? Is there anything objectionable to a clause of this kind?

J. B.

The disability provision of an accident and health policy insures against disability of any duration, while the disability clause used in life insurance contracts covers only those cases which are permanent and total. It is not in itself, therefore, full and complete protection against disability, but a supplementary feature added to the life insurance policy to cover contingencies not comprehended in insurance against death. Permanent and total disability may endanger the permanence of a man's insurance by cutting short his income and making it impossible for him to pay further premiums; or disability may have the same effect as old age. The man being no longer a producer should be cared for by his accumulated capital. While the occurrence of disability would place a man or his dependents in the same position as old age or death, the regular life insurance policy furnishes no protection against it. Most companies usually issue two forms of disability clauses, the one allowing that should disability occur before a certain age, usually 60 years, and continue uninterruptedly for six months, the insured is entitled to a waiver of premium during such disability; the other allowing the policy to mature and the value to be paid in some form to the insured. Payments usually may take one of three forms: a fixed number of instalments, a single cash sum, or a life annuity. Some clauses give only one benefit, others allow a choice. The main objection advanced to this clause is the difficulty of determining what constitutes total and permanent disability. The clause in part provides that the insured must be prevented by such disability from engaging in any occupation for remuneration or profit. Strict interpretation of such a clause would defeat the original purpose of disability should the insured be able to earn a mere pittance in some manner. Most companies, however, practice a liberal interpretation by applying disability to the usual occupation or profession of the insured.

TOWARD THE LEAGUE.

Chicago, June 27.—It seems as if the well oiled congressional machine producing all kinds of last minute bills—"new," "must" and "musty"—eluded in some instances even the vigilant eyes of the press correspondents. For example, one last minuter was the passage of a bill conferring upon the executive the power to put the United States into the international labor office of the league of nations. I presume this action comes under the name, style and description of the pyramidal transference of power from the legislative to the executive. Thus the way is paved quite logically for the senate, by clever indirection, to convey to the President the power to join the covenant of the league of nations with perhaps a preferential reservation or two to indicate a triumph over European diplomacy.

We are thus rapidly arriving at the crescendo of congressional abdication and executive expansion. For the international labor office is an integral part of the league of nations; its buildings constitute a part of the league of nations' physical structures at Geneva. The labor office is so plainly a part of the intricate machinery of the league that I do not see how it can be said that we are not now under the tent of the league for better or worse. For upon the heels of the resolution came a unanimous invitation by the league members for our immediate entry into their labor division.

Take, for example, the world court situation. That body is situated 500 miles away from Geneva; and the league can by no possibility be said to have the intimate relationship with the court that it has with the labor office. The league provides only the method of the election of the judges, and by recent assembly resolutions has practically divorced itself from the activities of the court. And yet the foreign relations committee of our senate has been both watchdog and graveyard of the world court proposal. Now, what has happened to the foreign relations committee that the startling proposal for our immediate entry into the international labor office was never even submitted to that committee? What has happened to it? And where are the irreconcilables, the isolationists, the battalion of death? Have they all capsized in the waters of the general transference of power from the legislative to the executive? And the matter must have been handled with exceeding skill and diplomatic secrecy that those great newspapers of the country which are opposed to our entering the league have had no chance to be heard, as if, forsooth, the dreaded censorship of the press actually existed.

I am not an isolationist, though I am an irreconcilable. That is to say, I do not believe in our entering the league, and I do not believe in any political or military commitments for the future by our country. Outside of that I am not a diehard on this subject. But I was astounded to discover that such an extraordinary departure from the policy announced recently by the President—to-wit: that we will not enter the league—should pass like greased lightning through the senate without even the formal courtesy of action by its foreign relations committee or a protest or objection on the floor of the senate where it required unanimous consent even for its consideration.

There are other important angles. Is the undisclosed purpose that the NRA is to spread its gospel to the international labor office so that the whole world shall adopt its revolutionary economics? Again, how strange it is that the southern senators, who have always been jealous of their labor control and their freedom of action in that regard even in the NRA, yet vote unanimously to set up a kind of labor dictatorship or overlordship at Geneva! Was it a steam roller or log rolling that sealed senatorial lips?

We have witnessed unprecedented grants of power in the last two congresses, but mostly relating to domestic policies. Is it possible that the abdication and surrender on the part of congress is to take place in the international field and the senate is to renounce by indirection its treaty duties under the constitution? And was this secretive action based on the new formula of "emergency"? Whether one is opposed or not to our entering the league, every American ought to oppose our entering it by stealth, by hurdling the agencies of legislation like the foreign relations committee, and open debate on the senate floor. Quo tendi?

CHIVALRY AND A PATROL WAGON.

Chicago, June 23.—On June 8 myself and wife, daughter and two children arrived in Iron Mountain, Mich., via train at 6:20 a. m. It was raining and I was looking for a cab to take us to my wife's sister, whom we were going to visit. There was no cab at the depot.

A city policeman asked me where I wanted to go. I told him and he said he would take us there in the patrol wagon if we wished. We accepted his offer and on arriving at destination we offered to pay him, but he refused to accept pay.

We surely appreciated his favor and believe if the people in all cities and towns were as congenial as he was it would be a better world to live in.

LYNCHING.

Chicago, June 25.—Now that it has been demonstrated once more that a hundred southern whites armed with rifles, shotguns, and revolvers are physically superior to a single unarmed colored southerner in shackles, I suggest that northern newspapers get behind a movement to make lynching a federal offense. It is prima facie evidence of the breakdown of local government.

MILK PRICE HERE WILL BE BOOSTED CENT TOMORROW

Quarts Going to 10 Cents; AAA Blamed.

Milk prices to consumers in Chicago will be increased from 9 to 10 cents a quart, and from 6 to 7 cents a pint, effective tomorrow morning.

First announcements of the increase came yesterday from the Borden Farm Products company, the Wieland Dairy company, and the Bowman Dairy company. Other milk distributors were expected to fall in line with them.

This action was taken after the edict from the Agricultural Adjustment administration that the price paid by distributors to farmers should be lifted from $2 to $2.25 a hundred pounds for milk sold as fluid. The farm price raise is the equivalent of an increase from 4.3 cents to 4.8 cents a quart.

Charles J. Wieland of the Borden company said:

"Due to conditions and an increase in the price of the farmer, we are obliged to raise the retail price of milk to 10 cents a quart. On account of our losses at the present price we have no alternative in view of the recent AAA action."

Fifth Change This Year.

This will be the fifth change in the price of delivered milk in Chicago this year.

On Jan. 1 the price was lowered from 11 cents to 10 cents a quart. On Feb. 23 it fell to 9 cents a quart and on April 1, as a result of a "price war" it dropped to 8 cents. The 9 cent price was restored on June 1, when the AAA granted an increase in the price paid to farmers from $1.75 to $2 a hundred pounds.

In granting the latest increase to the farmers of 25 cents a hundred pounds, effective July 1, AAA officials said the advance was necessary in view of drouth conditions.

It was said pasture lands had dried up and crops were practically ruined, forcing farmers to extra expense to buy feed for their cattle.

Outspoken criticism of the government action was voiced in some quarters, however. Dr. Joseph C. Ross, alderman of the 40th ward, vice chairman of the city council health committee, who has been associated closely with the milk situation in this district since the advent of the AAA codes, said:

"Latest reports are that the rains during the month of June have practically broken the drouth. We are told that corn never looked better and that pasture lands are coming back in fine style.

Second Increase Illogical.

"In view of this, it seems rather illogical to grant the second increase in the price to farmers within a month, and have the city consumer bear the burden of it. We have always been interested in getting for the consumer the lowest price possible consistent with a fair return to the farmer, and fair wages for drivers."

In the meantime the Chicago milk area was still in an unsettled state as to the effectiveness of the AAA milk marketing agreement, following the opposite decisions handed down during the last few weeks by Federal Judges William H. Holly and John P. Barnes.

Following predictions that fresh attacks on the milk marketing agreement would follow Judge Barnes' decision of Tuesday, P. S. Minnich, a dealer of Manteno, announced he would seek an injunction to restrain government officials from enforcing the code against him. He was cited as a violator of the code on Thursday.

Court Case Today.

In one of the first court tests of the agreement, in April, Judge Holly, who was appointed to the federal district bench last November as a New Deal judge with liberal views, upheld the AAA and granted an injunction against Lloyd C. Shissler, Lombard milk dealer, restraining him from continuing in business in violation of the milk marketing agreement rules.

Shissler has continued in business, and today must appear before Judge Holly to show reason why he should not be held in contempt of court for violating the injunction.

Judges Barnes, on the other hand, ruled against the government last Tuesday in a similar case. He granted six dairy companies an injunction restraining the government from enforcing the terms of the AAA milk marketing agreement against them.

His views on the NRA were also reflected several months ago in the case of the Suburban Motor Service corporation, when he denied the government's plea for an injunction to restrain the corporation from continuing with alleged violations of the petroleum code.

In the Shissler case attorneys for the defendant were outspoken in demanding a change of venue from Judge Holly, declaring they could not get a fair trial in his court. They openly charged that "the government or somebody" had had the case assigned to Judge Holly, despite the fact that Judge Barnes was hearing equity cases.

Sought to Transfer Cases.

Yesterday it was learned the government made efforts in the more recent case of the six dairies to have the case transferred from Judge Barnes, to whom it had been assigned by the clerk of the court, to Judge Holly.

The suit was filed on May 9, and when it was called before Judge Barnes on May 19, government lawyers who appeared were Lee Pressman, Arthur Bachrach, and John J. Abt, sent from Washington. They asked that the case be transferred to Judge Holly because he had heard the Shissler case.

Judge Barnes took their request under advisement, and continued the hearing to May 26. At that time he agreed to turn it over to the senior district judge, James H. Wilkerson. It came before Judge Wilkerson on May 29 and he declined to hear it.

He said Judge Barnes was hearing equity cases, and it properly belonged there. The case was heard by Judge Barnes and the decision followed. Although it has been indicated the government will appeal, no definite action has been taken.

New Drivers' Wage Scale.

Large milk distributors will meet the demand of the milk wagon drivers' union for a new contract at a wage scale of $40 a week if the union, in turn, will guarantee against "chiseling" by the smaller dealers, it was decided yesterday.

A week ago the union made a demand for the new contract, pointing out that they are still operating under an old one which expired on May 1, 1933. The new one, according to their demands, would merely maintain the present agreement of $40 a week, a six day week, and a two weeks' vacation with pay, the contract to be signed for one year.

Yesterday a group of the dealers, representing about 90 per cent of the business in the Chicago area, met to consider the proposal. They decided to agree if the union would guarantee that all of their approximately 6,000 members would obtain the same contract from all the dealers.

It was charged certain dealers were writing out checks for $40 a week, but cashing them for employés at a discount that made the scale no more than $35 a week. The proposal will be submitted to the union at a joint meeting Thursday.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

THE job of trying to select a suitable name for the new Corriedale ram that is destined to be the boss of the sheep on the auxiliary farm is making the judges hold additional conferences, because so many good names for this handsome sheep are coming in that it is increasingly difficult to make a decision.

I have dropped in to see the ram at the sheepfold and discuss the question of a name for him with Rawlings, who is in charge of all the sheep on the farm. It was rather amusing to see how this aristocratic but extremely tame and friendly ram butted his way into our conference. Rawlings and I sought the shade of a big maple tree for our chat, and we had no sooner sat down to look over all the suggestions for names for the new ram than up he came to see what it was all about. He butted his head against my hand by way of registering his desire that I scratch his ears.

So I had to sit there with one hand busy scratching the ram's head and ears while shuffling postcards and letters with the other. H. M. Penny of Allegan, Mich., upset our "conference" on names with his letter suggesting the name "White Cloud," to be shortened, if necessary, to Whitey. Mr. Penny wrote:

"I offer the name White Cloud for the new Corriedale ram. This ram, as I understand it, came from Sheridan, Wyo. Chief Red Cloud held that part of the country for many years, and he gave Gen. Carrington, who commanded a fort between Sheridan and Buffalo, Wyo., several battles. I lived twelve years 47 miles south of Gillette and about 150 miles from Sheridan, where I had sheep."

Inasmuch as the new ram has a very white, clean face (devoid of wool), the name White Cloud seemed to make an impression on him!

Zack Proctor, 4202 South Union avenue, Chicago, offers a novel list of names. He suggests that the ram could be called Charles, after Charles Lamb; Dollar, because he is a buck; Cody, after Buffalo Bill, from Wyoming, or Ramsay.

Meantime the hot days seem to bother the Corriedale much more than his lack of a name. But he soon will be christened. One of the judges is out of the city right now. Just as soon as he returns the final conference on names will be held, and then we'll put a name on the Corriedale.

Our June cattle roundup has been held, and now the Herefords are on the south side of the Fox river. The boys certainly had plenty of excitement when they drove the animals through the Fox river, because Louis Thurow Jr., riding the saddle horse and playing cowboy, all but bogged down in a hole in the stream. The poor horse went into the soft mud so deep that it could hardly get out. Of course Louis got soaked during this trouble. The horse floundered and struggled and splashed water and mud all over Louis before it was able to pull its legs out of the muck.

Binks, the little fox terrier here on the farm, is strutting around with a championship manner these days. He engaged a woodchuck in battle and whipped the old animal to a frazzle. Now this scrappy terrier has taken it on himself to be the chief groundhog killer on the farm, and he spends much of his time hunting these animals. Now that Binks has won his championship in the woodchuck class there is just one field of scrapping left for him to conquer. He has yet to get a decision over a skunk!

AWARDED $150,844 IN SUIT AGAINST TRUST COMPANY

Damages of $150,844.50 were awarded last night by a jury before Judge Frank M. Padden of the Municipal court to William J. Cleary, veteran court reporter, against the Chicago Title and Trust company for violation of an escrow agreement.

The case lasted three weeks, one of the longest on record in the Municipal court. The verdict also was one of the largest in that court. The jury apparently included several mathematicians. William McKinley, lawyer for Cleary, had asked total damages, including interest, of $150,845.25. The jury computed the interest into tiniest fractions, shaved 75 cents off this demand.

The case originated in 1927 when Cleary and several others entered into an escrow agreement with the trust company in a deal involving real property, $200,000 in bonds, $24,500 in cash, and 667 shares of stock. Under this agreement the company was to give Cleary $100,000 in bonds, $10,000 in cash, and 51 per cent of the stocks. This the company failed to do. In court the company attempted to show no escrow agreement existed, that papers purporting to prove such an agreement were forged.

MISSING GIRL, 12, FOUND ON BEACH NEAR SAN DIEGO

San Diego, Cal., June 29.—(AP)—Nadine Coppinger, 12, daughter of R. E. Coppinger of Forest Hills, N. Y., an object of a widespread search following her disappearance yesterday, was found late today in suburban Jolla.

Detective Sergeant F. E. Lightner, who directed the search, found her hiding in brush near the beach at La Jolla. She told him she had slept on the beach all night and that she hadn't anything to eat since yesterday noon.

"I just couldn't stand to leave La Jolla and go back east," Lightner quoted the girl as saying.

Young Woman Ends Life by Poison in Rail Station

Miss Mildred Estelle Thine, 35 years old, of 1932 North California avenue, ended her life on the second floor of the La Salle Street railroad station early today by swallowing the contents of two bottles of poison. An addressed but incompleted telegram which she apparently meant to send to her family, found in her purse, enabled police to learn her identity from her father, Gilbert, who viewed the body at Coombs' undertaking rooms, 425 Plymouth court. Thine said his daughter had suffered a nervous breakdown recently.

Two Youths Sent to Jail for Stealing from Store

John Bonbin, 18 years old, 1739 West 43d street, and Felix Viscount, 18, of 4517 South Hermitage avenue, were sentenced to one year and four months respectively, in the Bridewell by Judge Lambert K. Hayes yesterday on charges of stealing merchandise from a store at 2413 West 47th street. A third defendant, Frank Dziwak, 17 years old, 1836 West 46th street, received a suspended sentence because he was a first offender.

TEACHER HELD, COUNTERFEIT PASSER.

Rochester, Minn., June 29.—(Special.)—Lawrence Dewey, 26, Wascca, Minn., teacher, today was bound over to the federal court at St. Paul for trial on a charge of passing counterfeit one dollar bills in several southeastern Minnesota communities.

MISSOURIANS SEE CHANCE FOR RICH CORN CROP

Big Territory Soaked by Rains.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kirksville, Mo., June 29.—[Special.]—Farmers in many sections of Missouri believe they have a chance to harvest a "whale" of a corn crop this fall. Rains have soaked the fields in many counties since the first of the month. While the rainfall has been spotted some counties have had an accumulation of nearly three inches since the first of June. The average for the state was nearly an inch from June 12 to 23.

If farmers are fortunate in fighting pests, especially chinch bugs, and have a reasonable amount of rain during the next three months they expect to produce a crop equal to the yields in good years. Some growers are becoming nervous because of temperatures three or four degrees above the hundred mark on several days this week.

Minimize Wind Damage.

On this trip this correspondent crossed 20 counties or more here in the northeastern part of the state where corn has begun to roll. Corn growers say they do not believe the hot winds have caused any permanent damage up to the present, but all of them are watching the skies for signs of an early rain.

Most of the corn is at least waist high and a big percentage of it has been cultivated the last time.

These corn producers are always willing to take a chance on the weather. Many of those who signed the 110,000 corn-hog contracts in Missouri are now wishing they had their normal acreage of corn planted. Corn is their only hope of producing grain for live stock this winter.

Oats, tame hay, and pasture crops are unusually poor. Missouri has the poorest oat crop in the history of the state, according to E. A. Logan, federal crop statistician with headquarters at Columbia. He said that many of the oats did not get high enough to cut for hay and that in many cases they were worthless even for pasture.

Average Yield 13 Bushels.

Wheat will furnish cash income to thousands of Missouri farmers this year. The average yield, taking the state as a whole, is estimated to be about 13 bushels per acre. This is slightly above the average yield of 12.5 bushels per acre for the ten year period from 1921 to 1930.

Figures direct from the tally boxes of threshing machines in the northern part of the state indicate that the estimate is conservative. Some fields already threshed in Shelby county indicate that the yields vary, some running as low as two bushels, a few around 12 and 13 and in a small number have gone above 15 bushels to the acre. The quality also varies, but on some farms the grain is grading fairly high.

Despite the efforts of the federal government, Missouri farmers increased their wheat acreage planted last fall for the 1934 harvest. They are not apologizing to any one for this increase.

Sorry He Hit Detective; Goes Free; Pal Fined

Two young men, accused of attacking the detective squad of Sergt. George Melican, were arraigned before Judge Francis Borrelli yesterday. Arthur J. Lusk, 10345 South Maplewood avenue, one of the defendants, explained that they had mistaken the policemen for hoodlums, and just tried to defend themselves. He apologized to Sergt. Melican for socking him, and was dismissed. Dewey W. Clark, also of 10345 South Maplewood avenue, refused to apologize, however, and was fined $5.

SABATH HONORED FOR HIS WORK ON U.S. SCHOOL LOAN

City and School Leaders Attend Reception.

City and school officials, representatives of teachers' organizations, and other Chicago citizens met at the Morrison hotel yesterday to honor Congressman A. J. Sabath for his services in gaining passage by congress of Mayor Kelly's program for a federal loan to pay teachers' overdue salaries. Application for a $25,477,000 loan will go to Washington on Tuesday.

Mayor Kelly, who originated the plan to post revenue-producing Chicago school property for such a loan, expressed the thanks of the city to Congressman Sabath at yesterday's reception, which was sponsored by the Iroquois club. The mayor described the legislative battle necessary before congress authorized the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make school pay loans.

Mayor Praises Sabath's Work.

"Congressman Sabath has done a great service for the entire people of Chicago," Mayor Kelly declared. "He labored long hours on the school relief proposal, he obtained the approval of President Roosevelt for the measure, and he executed ingenious parliamentary maneuvers to force the loan bill through congress.

"The repeated attempts of committees to defeat the loan proposal did not discourage Mr. Sabath, and it is due to his indomitable spirit that the teachers of Chicago can look forward to payment in full of all salaries owed them. The fight is not yet completely won, but we are confident that there will be no further obstruction to prevent the ultimate granting of the loan."

Congressman Sabath credited Mayor Kelly with first putting forth a feasible plan for paying teachers and for demanding congressional action on the plan.

"I was drafted by Mayor Kelly to care for this measure," he said. "I was happy to have been chosen for the work and to have Mayor Kelly and the board of education backing me 100 per cent while they were daily pressing for a successful conclusion of the project.

Pays Tribute to Workers.

"Complete coöperation among city, state and congressional workers made possible the victory. This meeting today is in tribute to all of those workers. I'm extremely glad to have been able to be of service and I'm grateful for this appreciation today."

Congressman Charles Kramer of California, a former Chicagoan who supported Mr. Sabath in his fight for the school measure, praised his colleague for the methods used to push the bill through the final sessions. "No other congressman would have dared to attempt such forceful tactics," he said.

James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, described the board's economy moves which stabilized its finances and prepared the way for the prospective loan. Richard S. Folsom, board attorney, presided at the reception.

Follows Decision of the Supreme Court.

Carrying out the plan to refile Skarda law receivership cases in the Circuit court, petitions in seventy-five cases were presented before Judge Dennis J. Normoyle yesterday. In all cases the judge granted the plea that the county treasurer be named receiver of the properties to collect delinquent taxes.

The refiling follows the decision of the Illinois Supreme court last week that the County court had no jurisdiction under the Skarda law to appoint a receiver for tax delinquent properties.

800 Cases Pending.

At present there are some 800 cases in which County Treasurer Thomas D. Nash is acting as receiver, under appointment by County Judge Edmund K. Jareckl. The seventy cases before Judge Normoyle yesterday were the first of these 800 to be refiled.

Despite the objections of a battery of some twenty lawyers representing the properties involved, Judge Normoyle granted the treasurer's petitions, saying to the attorneys:

"I can give you no relief whatever in these cases. The mere figures in the county treasurer's petition, showing the amount of back taxes owed by these properties, make a prima facie case. Your only relief will have to be by appeal."

Tax Office Open Till 4 Today.

The county treasurer's office on the first floor of the County building will remain open until 4 o'clock this afternoon to aid taxpayers who wish to pay the second instalment of their 1932 real estate tax bill before the deadline Monday night, County Treasurer Nash said last night.

The penalty date, however, will not apply to home and small flat owners who are included in the recent 15 per cent reduction order, he explained. These taxpayers will be given thirty days after they receive their revised tax bills to pay their bills.

The county treasurer reported a last minute rush yesterday by taxpayers who paid $1,010,800 in 1932 real estate taxes. Other real estate tax collections were, 1928, $8,402; 1929, $28,178; 1930, $59,924, and 1931, $89,179.

76 CHILDREN OF 'YARDS DISTRICT LEAVE FOR CAMP

Seventy-six undernourished children from underprivileged homes in the stockyards district of Chicago departed over the Chicago and North Western railway yesterday for the Harlowarden camp, which is a part of Camp Algonquin, on the Fox river, near Cary. TRIBUNE readers for years have contributed to the Camp Algonquin fund, which enables mothers and children and babies from crowded city flats to take two weeks' vacations free of expense in the country.

The children who went to the Harlowarden camp yesterday, however, will remain two months. Their stay is financed by the stockyards committee of United Charities. Camp Algonquin as a whole is supported largely by TRIBUNE readers. Contributions may be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, and will be acknowledged in the columns of this newspaper.

ILLINOIS TAXING OFFICIALS MEET; SEEK UNIFORMITY

Study Plans to Iron Out Inequalities.

Springfield, Ill., June 29.—[Special.]—Taxing officials of Illinois, including members of boards of review and county judges, met with the state tax commission today to consider plans to iron out inequalities in tax burdens.

The conference was called by Chairman Scott W. Lucas to lay the ground work for closer coöperation between review officials to assure more uniform assessment of general property. Chairman Lucas urged that review officials join in a general movement of voluntary county coöperation to see that the tax burdens are more widely distributed.

During the discussion the warning was sounded that local governments along with those of the rest of the nation, must voluntarily put their "financial houses in order" if they are to escape wholesale and perhaps indiscriminate elimination in the nation-wide movement to reduce cost of government.

Urged to Take Lead.

Commissioner Barnet Hodes, Chicago, urged that local officials assume the lead in modernizing their governments, so that the charges of waste and incompetence now being brought against local governments in general be met by the only way possible—"by action toward eliminating the basis for such charges." Hodes also suggested that each county in the state set up some agency to act as an "efficiency supervisory board" to oversee all governmental activities.

Hodes added that as part of the assessing machinery, officials must be interested in the wave of insistence for consolidation of all government agencies. He said that one agency in the state is urging what is termed a "six county plan" by which the number of the counties in Illinois be reduced from 102 to 6.

In suggesting that each county set up an efficiency supervisory board, Hodes expressed the opinion that considerably more than $50,000,000 a year might be saved, with better service given at the same time.

Cites Lack of Uniformity.

Commissioner Simeon Leland gave figures showing lack of uniformity in various counties of the state. He said that in one county automobiles are valued in amounts ranging from $20 to $150, that in one part of a county a mule will be listed at $10 and in an adjoining township at $100, and that a pig will be valued at 50 cents in one section, and $9 in another.

The responsibility for remedying this situation, he said, rests with county boards of review. Unless it is remedied, Leland points out, some persons are paying too much in taxes, while others are not paying enough—with general disrespect, as well as loss, for the government resulting.

Chairman Lucas told of the assistance that is being given county assessors by the state tax commission and said that the commission is ready to coöperate with all other taxing officials.

JOHN ERICSSON DIES FOLLOWING FALL AT HOME

Chicago Commissioner of Buildings Since 1931.

John E. Ericsson, city building commissioner since 1931, died yesterday in the Augustana hospital. He was 66 years old.

JOHN E. ERICSSON.

Mr. Ericsson was taken to the hospital on June 21 after he fell in the bathroom of his home at 4530 Beacon street and incurred a fracture of a vertebra. Other complications developed and Mr Ericsson suffered a severe heart attack last Monday.

Physicians reported a second relapse Thursday morning and Mr. Ericsson became steadily weaker until his death. His wife, Cecelia, and his daughters, Mrs. Vivian Benson and Mrs. Lillian Mills, were at the bedside when he died shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

His Appointment a Surprise.

Appointment of Mr. Ericsson, a Republican, to the position of building commissioner by the late Mayor Cermak, came as a surprise to politicians. The appointment was the result of recommendations by Swedish organizations and by Eric E. Hall, county architect, a friend of Mr. Ericsson. Mr. Ericsson's brother, Henry, held the same position 17 years ago.

Born in Moheda county, Sweden, John Ericsson learned the bricklayers' trade and came to Chicago with his parents at the age of 16. In 1919 he organized the firm of John E. Ericsson company, general contractors.

Head of Swedish Glee Club.

His brothers, Henry and William, who survive him, joined in the venture. The concern erected many buildings in Chicago, including the Musicians' Union hall in Washington street. The Marshall Field store in Evanston also was the work of the firm.

Mr. Ericcson, whose hobby was singing, was president of the Swedish Glee club of Chicago. He was a former president of the Swedish club of Chicago, the Svithiod club, and the Swedish Engineering society. He also was a member of the Hamilton club, Elks, and Medinah temple.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Good News Is No News

TAKEN BY DEATH

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Attorney John E. Kehoe, said by associates to have appeared before more jurors than any other lawyer in the history of Chicago courts, died yesterday in his home at 3740 Lake Shore Drive. His death resulted from an apoplectic stroke on Thursday. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Kehoe was born in Sangamon county. He was an alumnus of Illinois college at Jacksonville. After his graduation he studied in the law office of the late Senator John M. Palmer at Springfield, and was admitted to the bar in 1890.

During his career he served as trial attorney for Armour & Co., the Chicago Surface Lines, Chicago Motor Coach company, Yellow Cab company, and many insurance and industrial corporations.

He was a member of the American, the Illinois and the Chicago Bar associations, the Law Club of Chicago, the Law institute, the Legal Club, and the Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Kehoe is survived by his widow, Frances, and a brother. Funeral services will be Monday at St. Mary's of the Lake church. Burial will be at Calvary cemetery.

E. B. HAMILTON DEAD; EX-HEAD OF OIL COMPANY

E. Burton Hamilton, for many years president of the Star Oil company, died yesterday in his home at 403 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park. He was 76 years old. Mr. Hamilton was born at Port Dover, Ont., and came to Chicago in 1880 after spending several years at Sandwich, Ill. He was an early employé of the Deering company. He had been head of the Star Oil company since 1889. Mr. Hamilton was a Mason and a Shriner. Surviving him are his widow, Clara, and a son, Grant. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 Monday.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Autopsy Ordered to Determine Age.

ISTANBUL, June 29.—(AP)—Relatives and friends quarreled today over the aged body of Zaro Agha, and the doctors won after appealing to the premier of Turkey.

The body of the man who claimed to have been born in 1774 will be subjected to an autopsy—an expert will look at the brain, the heart and the lungs and try to figure out how old Agha really was.

If he can't, or if he decides that the aged Turk really lived 160 years, he will record for medical science the effects of sixteen decades of life on the vital parts of the human organism.

Promoters Bid for Body.

The disposal of the body was not decided, however, without a gesture on the part of the ubiquitous American promoter, who wants to get hold of anything the public might pay to see.

Two cablegrams came from the United States, it was announced. Each made an offer for the body, and while the sources and the amounts of the bids were not revealed, it was said that the promoters were willing to pay handsomely.

Weeping relatives apparently ignored the offers, and wanted only to bury their famous kinsman privately according to Moslem rites.

They wanted to take the body away after Agha died early this morning, but authorities pointed out that it is a Moslem holiday anyhow and waited for instructions from Premier Ismet.

Premier Orders Autopsy.

The premier decided that there would be an autopsy, and the government named a German expert, Dr. Schwarz, to direct the post mortem.

After Agha's death, two Turkish pound notes and a letter from America were found under his pillow.

His daughter, who gives her age as 90, wept bitterly when advised of the death and said, "Allah willed it thus, his wish was hallowed."

Before the body was taken to the mortuary, hundreds of persons passed by the deathbed in Children's hospital where a young nurse periodically burst into tears.

BROTHERS MEET IN SCHOOL CLASS AFTER 18 YEARS

Separated for the last eighteen years Dr. Joseph W. Dale of Chesterton, Ind., and his brother, Dr. Earl E. Dale o' Edgerton, Wyo., met yesterday at the review course in operative surgery at Loyola university. Joseph, not recognizing his brother at first glance, asked, "What's your name?"

"Dale," brother Earl replied.

"Well, so is mine," said Joseph, and the recognition was immediate.

They explained to classmates that they had not been writing to each other lately. Both were graduated from Loyola, Joseph in 1910, and Earl in 1917. Another brother, Dr. David Dale of Seattle, was graduated in 1908.

Funeral Services Today for Edwin P. Huhman

Funeral services will be held today for Edwin P. Huhman, sales manager of the Imperial Belting company, who was killed last Wednesday in an automobile accident at Tulsa, Okla., where he was doing promotional work for the firm. Surviving are the widow, Grace, of 2301 Farwell avenue, four brothers, and two sisters. The services will be held from the undertaking chapel at 4542 Ravenswood avenue to St. Henry's Catholic church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

That famous A. K. hour of radio is coming back this fall. And the star of the new series is to be Donald Novis, the silvery voiced tenor, first brought to radio by the sponsor of this hour. Novis won the national A. K. auditions half a dozen years ago when a student at Whittier college in California. The award consisted of a scholarship for study and $5,000. The check kept Novis from eating or sleeping for forty-eight hours.

Novis is currently featured on the House Party show with Joe Cook. He is considering making a six weeks' trip abroad to sing at the Palladium in London before starting on his new series.

To many a listener the shift of Amos 'n' Andy from 10 p. m. to 6:45 p. m., beginning next Monday, after eight years on the former hour, represents something approaching a cosmic upheaval. No malice is meant, however, to faithful followers, nor is the move being made so that the comedians can get to bed early—they still have to do a rebroadcast for the west coast at 10. The idea behind it is this: On Monday, July 16, Frank Buck follows Amos 'n' Andy at this new hour with jungle tales designed to interest children as well as adults. Ten o'clock is too late for the juvenile audience. Sixforty-five catches the kids in the middle of their spinach.

The engagement of Tony D'Orazi, W-G-N air cartoonist, and Peggy Brading, who assists him with his W-G-N productions, is to be announced at a party tonight. . . . The Goldbergs will get a record wage for their week at the Chicago theater—it's reported to be $10,000. . . . "The Westerners" will open a new radio show from the Reliance Manufacturing company's exhibit at the Fair over WLS at 8 o'clock tonight. . . . Mary Jane Walsh, Jim Little, and Jerry Marlowe will begin a series of song-dramas titled "Two Pals and a Gal," at 4:45 Monday on WBBM-CBS.

Wayne King, the waltz king; his wife, and baby daughter, Penelope, whom they call Penny, are due to arrive at 10 o'clock this morning at the Dearborn street station. They have passed a six week vacation in California. Wayne and his orchestra will return to the air tomorrow evening with his Serenade program over CBS. Tuesday evening he will be back on the air over W-G-N from the Aragon.

When Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt opens her radio program Monday, July 9, from the Globe theater at the Fair, Josef Koestner's orchestra will play her favorite song as an opening salute. It is "Santa Lucia." Other numbers will be Tschaikowsky's "Melody," Kreisler's "Liebesliled," "Dance of the Comedians" from Smetana's "Bartered Bride," Strauss' overture to "Die Fledermaus," and Victor Herbert's "Badinage." The theme song will be Brahms' "Cradle Song." The program is sponsored by a bed maker.

THREE MEMBERS OF BOMBING RING SENT TO PRISON

Three members of a bombing ring were sentenced to the penitentiary yesterday by Judge Francis B. Allegretti in the Criminal court. George Patris, 39 years old, former secretary of the Restaurateurs of Illinois, and Frank Currin, 32 years old, who were found guilty by a jury of bombing the Miller Beauty shop, 2517 Devon avenue, were sentenced to terms of 1 to 20 years.

William Walter, 21 years old, a former clerk in a hardware store, who pleaded guilty and testified for the state, was sentenced to 1 to 5 years. Walter confessed that he supplied materials for the bombs.

Sentencing of Harry Fitzel, 27 years old, who also pleaded guilty and testified for the state, was continued until July 13 because his lawyer was not in court. Fitzel has admitted manufacturing several bombs used by the ring.

Both Patris and Currin were found guilty several weeks ago on charges of conspiracy to bomb and are under sentences of 1 to 5 years each on this charge. Sentences in the two cases will run concurrently. At the first trial Mrs. Sophie Svirsky, 45 years old, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction and fined $1,000. Mrs. Svirsky, a saloon owner, was charged with trying to eliminate competition by having a business rival bombed.

FALLS 22 FLOORS TO DEATH FROM LOOP BUILDING

Frank J. Connelly, 62 years old, 5244 South Wells street, a retired member of the fire insurance patrol, fell to his death yesterday from the 22d floor offices of Lamson Brothers & Co., grain brokers, in the board of Trade building. His body fell into La Salle street, narrowly missing three pedestrians on the curb.

A daughter, Miss Margaret Connelly, told Chief Clerk John J. Butler of the coroner's office that her father had been depressed over ill health and had mentioned suicide. A son, Thomas, said that Connelly had been pensioned Oct. 1, 1926.

That a heroic effort was made to save Connelly's life was learned by Mr. Butler. William P. Rieger, 22 years old, 381 Poplar avenue, Elmhurst, a messenger for Lamson Brothers, saw Connelly, a stranger to him, standing at a window in an office which happened to be vacant.

Rieger went into the office a few minutes later and saw Connelly crouched on the outer window ledge. The youth flung his arms around Connelly and shouted for help. After what seemed to like "several minutes," he said, he had to let Connelly drop or be pulled out of the window himself.

HARRY MORRISON DEAD; OFFICIAL OF INK COMPANY

Harry Morrison, 6959 Eggleston avenue, vice president of the Martin Driscoll Ink company, died yesterday in the Billings Memorial hospital after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Morrison was widely known in the printing industry. He was born in Ontario, Can., and came to Chicago more than 30 years ago. For many years he was a printer. Later he entered the printers' ink business.

He was a Mason and member of the Craftmen's club. Surviving him are his widow, Dora, and a son, Harry Jr., a student at the University of Chicago. Funeral services will be held at 2 Monday in the chapel at 63d street and Harvard avenue. Burial will be in Mount Greenwood cemetery.

Miss Eleanor McCormick to Be Bride Today

Ceremony to Take Place at Eastern Church.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH the wedding today in Bar Harbor, Me., of Miss Eleanor McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, and Sargent Francis Collier, son of Mrs. Edmund Pomeroy Collier of Boston, the month of brides comes to a brilliant finale. The ceremony at 4:30 o'clock in the Church of Our Father at Hulls Cove will be attended only by members of the family and will be followed by a reception at Burnmouth, the McCormick's Bar Harbor estate.

The bride, tall and aristocratic, will be given in marriage by her father. She has chosen to have an all-white wedding, gowns and decorations, and it is certain to be an unusually lovely one. The bride will wear white satin with a veil of tulle and will carry white orchids. Her sister, Miss Helen Rutherford McCormick, who will become Mrs. H. Warren Buckler Jr. on Sept. 8 in Bar Harbor, will be the maid of honor and will wear a white chiffon gown and a white hat, and will carry lilies of the valley and green orchids.

The bridesmaids will be dressed like the maid of honor, but will have white carnations instead of the orchids in their bouquets. They are Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted, Miss Dorothy Ranney, and Miss Barbara Wendell of Chicago; Miss Eleanor Collier, the bridegroom's sister; Mrs. Volney Foster Righter of New York, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. T. Truxton Hare Jr. of Philadelphia.

Hollis Hunnewell to Be Best Man.

Hollis Hunnewell of Boston will serve Mr. Collier as best man, and ushering will be J. Brooks Fenno Jr., who married the former Virginia Chapman, daughter of the John A. Chapmans, last year; Samuel G. Houghton, John D. Leland, Harris J. Nelson, and Horace H. Soule, all of Boston, and Samuel E. Ewing Jr. of Philadelphia.

The church will be decorated in white lilies, and white peonies will be the principal decoration at Burnmouth.

Telegraph wires will carry the good wishes of the many Chicago friends to this daughter of one of Chicago's most distinguished families. The friends, of course, are sorry that the wedding is not taking place here, but it seems fitting that Bar Harbor should be the scene of it, for it was there that Miss McCormick's romance with Mr. Collier began, and the McCormick-Buckler one also started there.

Even with just the relatives present at the ceremony there will be quite a sizable company for the several homes in Bar Harbor belonging to members of the McCormick clan are filled with out-of-town guests. Staying at Burnmouth are the bridegroom's mother and another sister, Miss Grace Collier; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hoppin, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Pinkham, and the William Ellerys.

Pleasant Parties for Wedding Couple.

Mr. McCormick is spending several weeks with his sister, Miss Mildred McCormick, at "The Farmhouse," where Mr. and Mrs. Righter also are stopping. Mr. McCormick and his sister are giving a wedding breakfast today preceding the ceremony, to which the bridal party and members of the family have been invited. Among the latter are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Williams, and the F. Hamilton McCormick-Goodharts.

Mr. McCormick and the Ayers gave a dinner Thursday night, and yesterday the J. Brooks Fennos, at whose estate Mr. and Mrs. Fenno Jr. and other members of the bridal party are staying, gave a luncheon. Last night Mrs. McCormick gave a dinner dance at the Bar Harbor club. Her sister, Mrs. Morris Hawkes also has entertained for the bride and bridegroom at her home, Highseas.

Mrs. Chapman has taken Spruce Lodge for the summer, and has her youngest daughter, Carolyn, and second daughter, Miss Margaret Chapman, with her now. Miss Elinor Chapman will go east next week.

Other Weddings in Chicago.

Chicagoans, however, will have their share of weddings today, for two young women, debutantes of three years ago, are to be wed this afternoon. At a large garden wedding and reception in Winnetka at 5:30 o'clock Miss Chloe Watson, daughter of the Cornelius B. Watsons, will become the bride of Pierre Bouscaren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. G. Bouscaren, also of Winnetka.

At a quiet ceremony an hour earlier in the chapel of the Holy Name cathedral in town Miss Jane Fortune, daughter of the John L. Fortunes, will be married to Joseph E. Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Nolan of Boston. Just the immediate families will witness the ceremony, but the Fortunes have invited about three score of their closest friends to their home on Astor street at 5 o'clock to wish the bride and bridegroom good health.

While Miss Fortune is not having any wedding attendants, her two sisters, Mrs. William J. Lawlor Jr. [Mary Fortune] and Miss Barbara Fortune will attend her informally, and Philip Loring Reed will serve Mr. Nolan as best man. The Rev. Edward Mullaly will read the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Joseph Morrison. The bridegroom's parents and his cousin, Miss Helen Barry, also of Boston, are here for the occasion.

Mr. Nolan and his bride will go to Bermuda on their honeymoon and on their return, around July 20, they will be at home in the apartment of the bride's aunt, Miss Joanna Fortune, at 900 North Michigan, for the remainder of the summer.

Some to Attend Both Ceremonies.

Miss Watson is being married at the later hour because she and Miss For-

A STORY told by Dr. Franklin Bliss Snyder of Northwestern university that has been going about the north shore concerns an old Vermont native who had brought vegetables to the Snyder's summer home for many years. When he failed to appear one summer, Dr. Snyder went up to see him and found him rocking on his porch.

"What's the matter, Jake?" he inquired. "Aren't you coming around to see us this year and bring us vegetables?"

"Well," drawled Jake, "I'm feeling fine. My feet are alright; I eat my vittles good, too. The docter says I've lost my mind . . . I don't miss it none, though."

PERHAPS you've seen Grant Wood's picture, "Daughters of the Revolution," exhibited this year at A Century of Progress Art Exhibition at the Art institute. It is one of the most popular pictures in the institute, and more postcard reproductions of it have been sold than of any other picture. If you've seen it, you remember the three elderly grim, tight-lipped ladies, one of them drinking tea from what is indubitably an heirloom tea cup, and the copy of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" in the background.

The other day a group of women were looking at the picture, and one turned to ask a handsome gentleman who happened to be passing by if he knew who were the originals of the portraits Mr. Wood had reproduced.

"I know who two of them are," he replied politely, "but I am not sure of the third. The two on the right are"—and here he waggishly named two of the most delightful and charming young women in Lake Forest—"Mrs. Leslie Wheeler and Mrs. William H. Mitchell. They were leaders in the women's anti-prohibition movement," he concluded.

The ladies were obviously pleased with this information, and one of them added that she supposed the third lady with the curly hair was one of the eastern leaders in the same movement.

BELIEVE-IT-OR-NOT note. A woman in Ottawa, Ill.—her name is May A. Flynn, has a small shrine in her home, before which she keeps a light burning constantly. In 1919 her aunt, who has since died, substituted electricity for the usual vigil candle. The original bulb is still burning, according to the Ottawa visitor, Katherine M. Farrell, who sends in the story. It has burned steadily for 15 years.

A PRIVATE secretary to the head of a big company pens an experience that she says is probably typical of that of thousands of girls, and we herewith draw the subject-matter to your attention.

A friend telephoned her the other day and asked her to come for dinner so they could have a nice visit together. The secretary accepted and arrived at 6:30 o'clock after a busy day at the office. Dinner was served at 7 and the conversation was monopolized by the 12 year old daughter who went into details of Frank Buck's "Wild Cargo." After dinner the family adjourned to the sun parlor. The friend's husband sat with the newspaper open at the radio page, and from then on the entire group listened to Phil Baker, Little theater in Times square; Jack Benny, and others. The secretary sat thinking of all the things she wanted to tell her friend and made an attempt or two at telling them, only to be stopped by glares from both the friend and her husband, who wanted no interruptions to the radio programs. At 10 o'clock the guest, stifling a yawn, said she really must go home. The friend objected, saying they haven't had a chance to visit yet.

Guest settles down again, thinking the ironing she has at home waiting to be done, what she will wear to the luncheon to which she is going tomorrow, and all the good books at home she is anxious to read. Finally the secretary has the temerity to say she must go home, and does. . . . You might title this "Thank you for a pleasant evening," says the secretary.

Many Brides Go to Altars as June Ends

Bidwill Wedding to Be at St. Ita's Church.

The earliest wedding on today's full calendar of lovely garden and church affairs is that of Miss Mary Bidwill, granddaughter and adopted daughter of John Robin Connery of the Edgewater Beach hotel, and John Lawrence Nelson, son of the Nicholas J. Nelsons. The service will be read at 10:30 o'clock in St. Ita's church, with Father W. T. Corcoran officiating.

Attending Miss Bidwill as matron of honor will be Mrs. Charles Bidwill, aunt of the bride. William Nelson will act as best man for his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nelson, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, arrived yesterday from Paris, France, in time for last minute pre-nuptial festivities.

Another wedding today is that of Miss Gwen Heilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Heilman, to Jack Griffin, son of Mrs. Olin Griffin of Arlington, Tex., which will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the chapel of the First Methodist church in Evanston. The Rev. Ernest F. Tittle will read the ceremony, and a reception will follow at the Heilman home on Clinton place.

Mrs. Heilman will be her daughter's matron of honor, and Thomas O'Malley will serve Mr. Griffin as best man.

Miss Shirley Greenlaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell M. Greenlaw, will be married to Robert Theodore Baker this afternoon at the St. James Methodist Episcopal church. Miss Florence Hood will be the maid of honor, and Kenneth Colbeck of Hull, England, will serve Mr. Baker as best man. The Rev. James L. Gardiner will read the ceremony, and there will be a reception and dinner later at the Windermere East.

Miss Irene Lydia Nelson of Racine, Wis., yesterday became the bride of Stanley A. Weld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whitmore Weld, at the Weld home in Winnetka. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank Neilsen of Racine.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Verne Nelson, and Myrle Valley of Racine.

Mrs. L. Nelson, the bride's mother, was among the out of town guests. The ceremony was performed in a corner of the garden adjoining the pool.

Sally Prints Letter That Won Invitation to See Cubs Play

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"Dear Miss Sally:

"Would I like to go to see the Cubs play ball?

"You don't have to ask me twice. I am 9 years old. I play ball every day. My brother plays on a team and he says I am going to be a pitcher. I have the arm. He is teaching me all the curves. That's why Warneke is my favorite player. I want to be like him. My brother is a good catcher.

"Gee, I hope I can go with you! I never saw a big game yet. My dad says he will take me some time, but I know what some time means. Please, Miss Sally, I'll be good, just so I can see the Cubs beat the Pirates. O boy, let's go. Yours truly, G. S."

That's a pretty good letter, don't you think, boys and girls?

The Sunday edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will have a lot of important news for you youngsters. It will carry the list of the names of the boys and girls whose letters won invitations to our Cubs-Pirates game next Friday, and the news of our second big party—which, I promise you is a very grand one!

Movie Makers Fear All Films Will Be Hurt

Afraid of Indiscriminate Attack on Industry.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 29.—[Special.]—Many in Hollywood are expressing alarm that the agitation to clean up motion pictures may go farther than originally intended and end with indiscriminate attacks upon all films.

Producer Goldwyn, who announced that he "always made clean pictures, but that I make them with red blood, and I do not film them for children," and who followed this with an announcement that he intended to film "Barbary Coast" at a later time, when "current agitation has subsided," has received 300 telegrams and letters commending his stand.

One of these, from Courtney Terrett, author, is interesting because it presents the view taken by persons not sympathetic to a general attack on films. Terrett wired Goldwyn: "Your statement is the first courageous and intelligent resistance to a movement which threatens the livelihood of 500,000 persons. It states the case for every adult minded worker in the motion picture production field. I am sure it commands the wholehearted indorsement of screen writers."

A color cartoon titled "The Wizard of Oz" is in litigation in federal courts, Frank J. Baum, son and successor of L. Frank Baum, "Oz" creator, having sued Technicolor corporation for asserted copyright infringement.

Virginia Verrill, 17 years old, granddaughter of W. H. Edwards, a founder of Hollywood [then a village of orchardists], is now playing in her first movie. She's recently out of Franklin High school here. Her mother is Aimee McLean, former vaudeville actress.

A Hollywood high-schooler, 17 years old, has been signed to play Greta Garbo's sister in "The Painted Veil." It's an important role. The youngster who gets this big opportunity is Cecilia Parker, blue eyed and with light brown hair and a sister of Linda Parker, 20, on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer roster of small salaried contract players.

Loretta Young tried to get well too fast after her operation to correct an internal condition, and now the surgeons, who had expected to pass her out of Queen of Angels hospital yesterday, are making her stay until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Ernst Lubitsch's first directorial effort after his recently completed "Merry Widow," with Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier at M. G. M., will be a remake of Bizet's "Carmen," with Claudette Colbert as the fiery cigar girl, if the deal which was closed tentatively yesterday goes through. "Carmen" will be made at Paramount.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has been running ads in Los Angeles dailies asking for children who "are British born and speak cultured English." Two are to be boys, the rest girls, blondes preferred, and 8 years old or younger. They're to play in "David Copperfield."

Paramount has bought Daniel Evans' story, "Beach Boy," for a Hawaiian musical, and intends sending a troupe to Waikiki for background of surfboard, leis, poi and moonlight, which is cheerful news indeed for the following principals: Kitty Carlisle, Charlie Ruggles, Jack Oakie, Carl Brisson, and Mary Boland. It will be Charlie and Mary's second film expedition to Hawaii in less than a year; their last one was to make "Four Frightened People."

Bob Montgomery's face and arms were scratched while on a farmhouse location near Santa Cruz, Cal., for "Hideout." Bob's mistake was in trying to stop a fight between a rooster and a tom turkey. Both turned upon him with intent of fowl play.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We've just discovered that the sunburn cream of one of our great cosmetic houses emerged quite successfully recently from a stiff laboratory test. A huge quartz lamp was used, the heat of which for 6 minutes was estimated to be the equivalent of about one and one-half hours of June sunlight at sea level and Washington, D. C., latitude. This cream and a certain professional formula were found to be the best of five tested.

About sunburn preventives we'll say this—and you don't wish any more fervently than we do that it will be for the last time—take your exposure in short doses. Not even the best of the burn preventives will stand by you if you get too gay with the direct rays of the summer sun, and tempt Providence to the point of a lobster complexion while you're on or very close to the water. Knowing your own skin's reaction to the sun, governing yourself accordingly, and using the best preventive you can find is the only solution; but remember that in any case it's a three cornered battle.

The preventive that was given such a high rating in the test is a widely sold liquid cream that should be used exactly according to directions. It has been claimed that this cream filters out the burning rays of the sun; in any case its ingredients sometimes cause a tingling sensation on the face and neck skin of sensitive skinned persons. If you find it makes your skin tingle don't be upset; the tingling disappears in a fairly short time. Better yet, if you're a red head or naturally fair and thin skinned, use a vanishing cream or a layer of some emollient cream before applying the sunburn cream. This probably will be necessary only on the face and neck.

It should be applied before exposure to all exposed surfaces and should be allowed to dry, not wiped off. Makeup for the face can be worn with it as a protective base if you're on parade. If you're just doing some nonchalant lolling on the beach you probably won't care much about the makeup. Always apply a fresh coat immediately after a swim. You can find this cream in shops all over Chicago.

Beach ball . . . ideal sport combining sun, exercise, and fresh air. But Ruby Keeler is remembering that sun and lobster red skin can be synonymous; she's carefully cloaked from its burning rays in a coating of sunburn cream.

Parasols, Yes Parasols, Are Stylish Again

Some 1934 Models Double as Umbrellas.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Here they are, ladies and gentlemen! The parasols of yesterday, fashioned in the 1934 summer manner. And if you think they aren't the trickiest trifles you ever held over your head, you've lost your fashion sense. One look and you'll probably buy two or more, for the price tags are modest.

They are sunshades, also fully guaranteed to keep you dry and snug during any passing summer shower, and that's the 1934 part of the plan. They are of printed cotton, ready for your summer cotton suits and dresses. Candy stripes on white frames; gay checks and plaids, also on white frames, and some all-white affairs of suedenette [a bit more expensive than the printed cottons] on eye striking colored composition frames in vivid scarlet, blue, or green. These last mentioned white numbers are what you have hunted and wanted for the umbrella to top your pet white raincoat.

Mere sunshades, as decorative as anything you can find, are the models made of pastel tinted crinkled cotton crêpe in pink, yellow, and blue. These do not double for rain duty, but they are attractive extras for a day at the Fair or in the country. In the same collection is a black and white vertical striped parasol of the same cotton material that is quite spectacular but will be an excellent contrast for an all-white linen suit for the races.

If you eschew parasols and take life a bit more seriously, you'll like the new supersiim umbrellas that come in lively street colors—red, green, and blue. They are adroitly wrapped and placed in skin-tight lether sheaths to match the color of the silk. Even the handle is covered, so that the entire affair looks just like a smart lether cane, short, snappy, and easy to carry.

Lutherans Fight Sensual Tendencies in Amusements

Delegates from 170 Missouri synod Lutheran churches in convention at River Forest yesterday laid plans to coöperate in the nation-wide fight against indecent motion pictures. The convention approved a recommendation submitted by the church's board of education for a systematic campaign of education against sensual tendencies of all modern amusements as well as motion pictures. The River Forest convention represented 150,000 Lutherans in the greater Chicago area.

Historical Pageant Marks 75th Year of Camp Meeting

A historical pageant depicting changing religious and social scenes during the last 75 years was presented last night at the Des Plaines Methodist camp meeting. The occasion was preliminary to the official opening tomorrow of the diamond jubilee assembly of the meeting grounds. The pageant will be repeated tonight. It was prepared by Miss Florence Johnson and was seen last night by a large crowd which completely filled the open air pavilion. Tomorrow's program includes sermons in the morning and at night by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, and an address in the afternoon by Bishop William Fraser McDowell, former presiding bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Fry-Watson Bridge Victors for 2d Year

Score 583 Against 560 of Next Competitors.

Sam Fry Jr., and Louis H. Watson of New York won the all-American contract bridge pair championship for the second successive year last night at the Edgewater Beach hotel. They scored 583 points out of a possible 930, to win over 31 other pairs of players.

Second place was won by Jeff B. Glick and Aaron Frank of Cleveland, O., who scored 560 points. Two Chicagoans, John Smith of 4665 Lake Park avenue, and Ridgeway Bishop of 4329 Drexel boulevard, tied for third place with the team of Geoffrey Mott Smith and Albert Morehead of New York. Both teams amassed 539 points.

Watson and Fry, who had gone into the tournament confidentially stating "the title is in the bag" admitted last night that their competition this year had been more difficult than it was last year. Each partnership played 62 hands in the finals.

The tournament was held under the auspices of the American Whist league which conducted its 44th annual congress this week. Play for the all-American team of four contract championship began last night with 21 teams entered.

This tournament will be concluded tonight.

One of the hands on which Watson and Fry set their opponents one trick while the contract was being made at every other table illustrates the unblocking principle in defense. After eight tricks had been played the cards were as follows:

NORTH.
S—None
H—3
D—5 3
C—9 2

WEST.
S—None
H—None
D—10 9 4
C—K J

EAST.
S—None
H—None
D—8 7 3
C—5 4

SOUTH.
S—None
H—None
D—Q J 2
C—Q 10

South, playing the hand for three no-trumps, had to take three more tricks. He led the queen of diamonds to the ninth trick and at this point Mr. Fry, in the West, made the play that set the contract. He dropped his ten of diamonds intsead of the four on the queen. On the next lead—the jack of diamonds—Mr. Fry dropped his 9. In this way Mr. Fry avoided being caught in an end play on the eleventh trick and being forced to lead up to South's queen-ten club combination. Mr. Watson, in the East, took the eleventh trick with the eight of diamonds and led a club through South, enabling Mr. Fry to take the last two tricks and defeat the contract.

THE WRONG MAN

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Cara Follette, only daughter of a Canadian business man, anticipates becoming her father's partner. While traveling in Europe she meets Jerry Flint, a poor young singer. She stakes him to Toronto, where she can get him auditions impossible for him to gain abroad. Benjamin Follette and his wife, Anny, had grown apart in the years he was busy becoming successful. Now Follette is about to lose his business to his rival, Redman Harmer. Harmer recently returned from Europe, where he saw and fell in love with Cara. He asks Follette for an opportunity of meeting his daughter. When Cara returns home her father tells her of his failure and urges her to meet Harmer.. It would mean much to him and he likes Harmer. Cara decides to go up northwest to Mulligan's camp for a month to think it over. Meanwhile no one is to get an inkling of their business troubles. Anny will find friends for Jerry Flint, whom Cara has decided she loves. Cara sells her car for expense money and gives half to Jerry. He follows and joins her on the way. Harmer hears of Cara's plans from her father. He flies to Mulligan's ahead of her and hires the place from Dan Mulligan for a month and the use of his name. He meets Cara and Jerry as Mulligan. He and Jerry are antagonistic. After three days Jerry is fed up with camp life. He tricks Cara into leaving with him. They become lost in the wilds, and lose their horses. Cara is disgusted with Jerry's stupidity.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

CRUEL LOVERS.

Cara thought: "Any man who is what I'd call a man would not have done what Jerry tried to."

She said: "But I can't marry you even if we ever get to Coppertown."

"O, but Cara—Cara darling," Jerry coaxed, and smiled slyly. "What else is there to do?"

She sat silent for a long time, and he watched her. To her it seemed that the incredibilities of the position mounted and mounted, and all because most curiously true.

"I'd better tell you," she said. After all they were in the wilds, no mails, no telegraphs, no transport—the news given to Jerry there could not react upon Follettes in any way for an unguessable while, if ever. For she knew that they might die there. "I must marry some one else, for . . . reasons of state." She tried to laugh a little over that.

There was an astonished silence.

"But, Cara," Jerry asked softly, "will he want to marry you after this?"

Again she looked into the fire for a long while.

He watched and listened carefully. "Tell me," he demanded. "Tell me everything."

"You think I'm a great heiress. Well, Jerry, I'm heiress only to bankruptcy and ruin. Colossal ruin," she said simply, reducing her drama to interpretable terms just by that very simplicity, "that's all, unless I stave it off the old way that women have sometimes been able to stave off disaster.

"Funny we should have come so far to tell each other the truth."

Well, I'm going to do it. It's for father, the greatest man in the world to me. You never counted really beside father, Jerry. I know it."

The dark green forest made a backdrop for their stage.

"Do you mean," he almost whispered, "that Follettes is broke?"

"I mean . . . Follettes shan't break. This merger—by marriage—will save it. That's all."

"Then you've been keeping me beside you—you've led me out here—under false pretenses——"

"I didn't lead you out here."

"You brought me to Toronto. Brought me to the most unmusical country in the civilized world. Traded on your looks, wanted to patronize me, wanted the hell of a good time, wanted to go savage with me out here in this infernal wilderness—wanted your fun—wanted your experience—let me think I could marry you—let me dream about fame and fortune and success all brought to me by you—you've lied to me, tricked me—you shall be sorry for it. Sorry for it! Why, you couldn't ever give me any of the help you promised."

"O yes," she said. "Anny can still help you. As for me, I am likely to be a most influential woman."

Tears pricked her eyes, and pride dried them instantly.

"You wouldn't marry me poor, would you, Jerry?"

"No," he said brutally, recovering his breath, "how could I?"

"You've never really loved me, either?"

"I've felt for you exactly what I feel now—even after all this—now that you're going to play Eve to my Adam in this Garden of Eden." Now there were danger and malice in the softness of his voice.

"That's all?"

"That's all."

"Funny that we should have to come so far to tell each other the truth."

He could not clear his head of the bitter conflict of ugly feelings that filled it. "An influential woman" she would be, would she? And with this forest adventure a secret between her and Jerry Flint? So his resentment grew uglier and uglier, cynical and more cynical, with a virtuous contempt for her rich marriage mixed with it, and some pungent scorn for the way that women sold themselves, and under and over all the same desire with which she had always inspired him, though now he saw her differently, not as a jewel, the star, but as one of the several women whose secrets he held, only infinitly more profitable. O, infinitly! She would, presently, pay.

She watched him and managed, in her inexperience, somehow to read him. "We are different people," she said in passionate wonderment.

"Yes."

And still in spite of her reading she knew him a poor fool to smile here, face to face with nature at her starkest.

Also she knew that it was not courage that let him smile at the way of his thoughts. It was ignorance.

"You're a stranger to me," she said.

She uttered statements in the way of a discoverer, rather than made conversation.

His voice cracked with anger: "Yes, because here am I out in the wilderness with you for nothing at all. I might as well have stayed in Toronto. There's nothing for me here, except the ordinary woman business any man would see in a situation like ours."

"There won't be any of that," she stated.

Inexperienced, she knew by instinct all that he meant. She could imagine it with astonishing clarity. None of it! None of it! The love drama she had certainly dreamed—and owned it—was hallucination. The illusion in which she had wrapped him was in shreds.

He answered her deliberately: "O yes, you will. Don't let's have any more delusions. Face this: Fifty per cent of men at least would murder a woman for sheer rage if she refused them day after day of trackless wandering. I'm one of them."

Woman's instinct, that had kept her brave and fighting for long hours this dangerous day, now, strong and fierce, kept her fighting for that elusive treasure called honor, chastity, pride. She was modern enough in theory to hold the brazen, defiant modern views. She was as old as the ages in that she repudiated them.

It would be easy to elude him in the forest, to make her way up stream. It would be feasible to swim across, traverse the desolate prairie land, find the trail they had come by, work back to Mulligan's. Jerry Flint alone would never accomplish this. It was faintly possible she could.

She stood watching him collect a bed of browse and balsam, hollowing it out so that two people could lie there, keeping each other warm, pulling over themselves the stuff he heaped to one side. He looked strong and skilful because, all his calculations gone awry, he was filled now with the momentarily consuming other passion.

"Sleep is good if you haven't any food," he threw at her.

"Yes."

Should she slip back now into the forest, hide herself?

Then suddenly there rang out a shot, a pause and two more shots close together.

That was no hunter of game. They were the shots of some one seeking, or some one, like themselves, being sought. They came from over the prairie.

Reason Out Differences.

"Dear Miss Blake: The boy I love and I quarreled. We are back together now and he says he still loves me enough to marry me, yet he refuses to go steady as we did before. Why his attitude? PUZZLED."

He may wish to see if you can get along without further quarreling, Puzzled. It's well to reason out your differences.

Don't Be Unfriendly.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a boy who treats me very nicely when we meet. He pays attention to other girls. Is that fair if he loves me? "ANXIOUS."

'Twould be a mistake to be unfriendly to the others, even though you seem to be the favored one now, Anxious. And rather selfish of you to expect it, don't you think?

BY MARY MEADE.

A boon, a boon: Do you or any of your favorite aunties have the recipe for either a Schaum Torte or a Kaiser Torte? Mrs. W. C. J. asked me to ask you, and even had she not, I would still want to know. Mrs. J. sent me her recipe for Schaum Torte, but this particular formula is intended to turn out a dry shell, designed to be filled with fruit and whipped cream. Instead she is wishing a fluffy torte, she has met somewhere, which is just a very foamy cake inside of a thin, enveloping sugary crust. This desired torte was cut in pie-shaped wedges and was about 4 inches high, says she. Do any of you have such a recipe? And the Kaiser Torte?

And up from the south comes a cry for Tomato Juice Sherbet. No, it's not a joke, but very much a tingling and pleasant reality. It is turning up in the most élite circles these days, either as a meat accompaniment, a salad, or a chilly summer dessert to be served with crackers and cheese. The recipe proceeds thusly.

TOMATO JUICE SHERBET.

2 cups tomato juice, strained.
2 teaspoons lemon juice.
¼ teaspoon salt.
1 cup crushed canned or fresh pineapple.
2 tablespoons sugar.
2-3 cup small white seedless grapes.

Mix together all the ingredients [omit the grapes if desired] and pour into a tray of mechanical refrigerator. Freeze for about four hours, stirring two or three times during this period.

And, if you're a devotee of the mint leaf, don't stop at the juleps and the sauces for lamb. One bright day, for an appetizer, open a can of grapefruit juice and trickle into it a few drops of mint flavoring. Slither a crisp sprig of mint into the side of each cocktail and serve chilled to a tinkle.

Another friend from Wisconsin was on the still hunt for rolled oat uses. I ladeled her out a score of them, mostly those I have already passed on to you. But, while digging, I ran across a new fellow which I'm sure has never honored this column. It's a most ingenious way of scalloping corn and tomatoes together, ringing in rolled oats as the "filler."

ESCALLOPED CORN AND TOMATOES.
[With a Nutty Flavor.]

2 cups corn.
2 cups fresh stewed or canned tomatoes.
¾ teaspoon salt.
¾ cup dry rolled oats.
1 teaspoon grated onion.

Mix together all the ingredients and pour them into a well-greased baking dish. Cover the top thickly with bread crums and dot with butter. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit].

OATMEAL PRUNE PUDDING.

1 quart water.
1 cup quartered prunes.
1 cup milk.
½ teaspoon nutmeg.
1-3 cup sugar.

Bring the water to boiling, salting it to taste. Pour in slowly the rolled oats, stirring well. Let cook for 2½ minutes, then add the other ingredients. This should be started in the top of a double boiler, using the direct heat for the first cooking. Now the pan may be placed either over boiling water and the pudding cooked so for 30 minutes, or it may be turned at once into a greased pudding dish and baked for 20 minutes in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit]. Escort this to the table with milk or cream, and serve either hot or cold.

Miss Eleanor McCormick to Be Bride Today

Ceremony to Take Place at Eastern Church.

tune have mutual friends who will want to attend both weddings, and then, too, it will be cooler at that time for the outdoor ceremony. The Rev. Timothy Bouscaren, uncle of the bridegroom, will read the service. Miss Evelyn Bouscaren will attend her sister-in-law as maid of honor, and there will be eight bridesmaids. They are Miss Elizabeth Bushnell of New Haven, the bride's cousin; Miss Anita Tompkins of New York, Miss Katherine Winer of Germantown, Pa.; Miss Virginia De Vilbiss of Toledo, Miss Dorothy Goepel of Greenwich, and Miss Harriet Tilden, Miss Grace Fitzmorris, and Miss Margaret Hamill of Chicago.

Henri Bouscaren will serve his brother as best man, and ushering will be the bride's brother, Cornelius Jr., a student at Yale; MacMillan Robinson, John McEwen, and Hughes Dallas of New York; Theodore B. Bersbach and his brother, F. John Bersbach; Joseph Uihlein of Milwaukee, Roderick Blackhurst of New York, and Dr. Hubert Hueblein.

Mr. Bouscaren and his bride will go east on their wedding trip which may end by being a European one if the young man is sent abroad on business. If he is not sent across the ocean until fall they will occupy the Watson house for the summer.

Miss Anna Sayler Will Be Bride.

The traditional marriage service of the Society of Friends is being read today for Miss Anna Rathbone Sayler and Elliston Perot Morris in the First Presbyterian church, 64th and Kimbark avenue. Miss Sayler, who is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Sayler, is being attended by her sister Elizabeth as maid of honor, and Miss Janet Morris, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid.

Wister Wood of Culver, Ind., will act as best man for Mr. Morris, and Charles Deale of Evanston, Oscar Bundy, and Francis White will usher. The bridegroom is the eldest son of Marriot C. Morris of Germantown, Pa.

Carpenters Leave for East Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter are leaving Monday to spend the summer at Pride's Crossing, Mass. When they return home in September they will begin making plans for a trip to China they expect to make in December. They already have planned one very important detail of their stay in the oriental country for they have arranged to take Mrs. William J. Calhoun's house—it is an old temple—at 10 Ma Ta-Jen Hutung in Peiping. Mrs. Calhoun probably will come to Chicago next winter.

The Carpenters timed their departure for Massachusetts so that they could be here tomorrow night for the opening concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra on the Swift bridge at the Fair. All the music lovers of the city will be out in force for the occasion.

Charles H. Hamill, president of the orchestral association, and Mrs. Hamill are giving a large dinner at the Century club before the concert. Among the guests will be Charles H. Swift, who with Mrs. Hamill issued the invitations to those who will occupy reserved seats at the concert, and Mrs. Swift [Mme. Claire Dux]. It is interesting to note that among those who accepted Mr. Hamill's and Mrs. Swift's invitations are T. George Lee, president of Armour, and Mrs. Lee; Edward A. Cudahy Jr. and Mrs. Cudahy, and Thomas E. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson; so the big packing companies of the city will be represented on the Swift bridge tomorrow night.

Party Tomorrow for Three Girls.

A festive party of the week-end in Lake Forest is the luncheon tomorrow that seven young men who maintain a bachelor establishment in Lake Forest are giving for Miss Peggy Hixon, Miss Patsy Keith, and Miss Nancy Morse, a trio of popular young women who made their debuts last season.

The hosts, Mason B. Wells, George Whitney, Thomas Sheffield, Philip S. Dalton Jr., Thomas E. Covel, A. Burton Strange Jr. of New York, and Hedges McDonald—the last two are recent additions to the household—have invited about 60 guests. The engagement of Miss Morse to Rodman Lent Hooker of California was announced recently by her mother, Mrs. George A. Richardson.

Among those who will be entertaining at luncheon today at Arlington before the races will be the Laurance Armours, the Charles A. McCullochs, the Warren Wrights, the Weymouth Kirklands, Mrs. Harry H. Lobdell, Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, the James A. Kempers, the Benjamin L. Behrs, the Thomas E. Wilsons and Edward F. Wilson, the John D. Hertzes, and Leonard Florsheim.

A new British subject was born yesterday morning in Chicago, the daughter of the British vice consul and Mrs. Malcolm S. Henderson. Mrs. Henderson is the former Paula Wilms.

Mrs. Volney Foster has just returned to Lake Forest after three weeks in New York. She combined business with pleasure on the trip, for she went to St. Mark's school for the graduation of the Foster twins, Volney and Archibald, who will begin their college careers at Harvard in the fall. Their younger brother, George B. Foster, also attends St. Mark's. Volney and George returned to Lake Forest with their mother, but Archie went down to Palm Beach with six other St. Mark's boys for a fortnight's fishing trip on the Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen yacht. Peter Jr. and Henry O. H. Frelinghuysen are also students at St. Mark's.

Mrs. Harold Strotz Takes Apartment.

Mrs. Harold C. Strotz has moved into an apartment at 244 East Pearson street for the remainder of the summer, for her sister, Mrs. Stresenreuter Butler, with whom she has been sharing an apartment at 900 North Michigan, is going east. Mrs. Butler will visit on Long Island until fall.

Prior to a winter of study in Lausanne, Switzerland, Miss Virginia Druley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Druley of River Forest, will spend the summer traveling on the continent. She is to sail today with Miss Clara Laughlin and a party of friends.

An engagement announcement that will be a surprise to all but the young lady's most intimate friends is the announcement that Mr. and Mrs. John B. Bremner are making this morning of the engagement of their daughter, Josephine, to Edward Gilmore Sliney, son of Mrs. Mary Sliney of Brighton, Mass.

Neither Miss Bremner nor Mr. Sliney, who has visited here, are in town to receive the good wishes of their friends, for Miss Bremner is at the Bremner estate in Burlington, Wis., with the rest of the family, and Mr. Sliney is in Boston where he is head of a business founded by his father in 1875, and will not come to Chicago again until September.

Miss Bremner was graduated from the College of the Sacred Heart in New York City in 1932 and spent the following year in Europe. Mr. Sliney is a graduate of Boston college. The Bremners will return to their town house on Stratford place at the end of July and the wedding will take place in the early fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gurney Mills of 790 Sheridan road, Glencoe, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Virginia, to John H. Hanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Hanley of Youngstown, O. Miss Mills is a graduate of New Trier High school, Dana Hall, and Smith college, and recently received the degree of bachelor of fine arts in landscape architecture with high honors at the University of Illinois. Mr. Hanley, who is connected with the department of floriculture at the University of Illinois, was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1927. The wedding will take place in September.

Practical for Traveling

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Here is a dress you'll want to wear all through the summer, and it will be cool and lovely in a dark blue chiffon printed cotton voile, printed in lighter blue tones. It will pack perfectly for those week-end visits, too.

The pattern, No. 2873, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure.

Beauty Requires Attention to Hands as Well as Complexion

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You, too, probably know at least one of those women whose face skin "just can't stand water" and, consequently, is treated to tender care with creams for sensitive skin. At the same time, being a clean person, she'll scrub her hands with a strong soap and not do a blessed thing about the tender skin thereof.

They say a good hand brush, a good soap, and a towel serve the primary hand needs. To the triumvirate should be added a good oil lotion for use immediately after toweling. The hands are washed in warm water, the nails are scrubbed briskly and, of course, the natural oils that keep skin and nail bed soft and young are all washed up in the process. You wash your hands several times a day, at least. Maybe oftener. This oil-robbing, which can't be helped nor discouraged, is what leaves a woman with old hands and young face midway in her career—unless she has the everready hand lotion right there beside the wash basin, and uses it. It's a habit that women are developing marvelously with the better hand consequences you see around. It takes only a minute to use a hand lotion. It is not numbered among the luxury products.

With nails the cynosure of eyes today, the touch of cuticle oil or salve is a great aid. Ragged cuticles just won't do with a painted nail. You don't want to have that cuticle cut and edges pruned of hangnails. You won't need ever to have it done if you use the nail oil or salve and preen the halfmoons back with the drying towel.

It doesn't matter much today if your hands are large or even bony. You cannot help them much to change size and shape except in the better shape they take on with every little hand detail attended. The hand beauty rule today boils down to keeping them well groomed and using them well. No stiff tensing and straining them. Forget them and let natural grace of movement direct them.

Charming New Layettes Are Not Expensive

No Innovations in Babies' Wardrobes This Year.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Baby's dresses or slips that open and button all the way down the front for convenience, and a few in shell pink or pale blue with matching gertrudes were the only new fashion notes that I found in the shops for the new born baby's coming-out. Rather were the little dresses and gertrudes noticeable for their delicacy and inexpensiveness.

Hand made garments were the rule, not the exception. The tiniest of tucks and embroidered edges and flowers were to be sen on practically all of them, the amount of decoration increasing with the price.

These really charming hand made baby's dresses were amazingly low in price. One model with delicate lace and a tiny puffed sleeve—and I wish all babies dresses had this latter feature because puffed sleeves are so bonny on a baby—was marked less than a dollar. The button down the front model was also inexpensive. One dress for a boy baby had a suggestion of the masculine in a little boyish collar!

In some stores the verdict as to the most popular length of dress is eighteen inches—in others twenty-one. In none did I find that the twenty-seven inch length is often asked for nowadays.

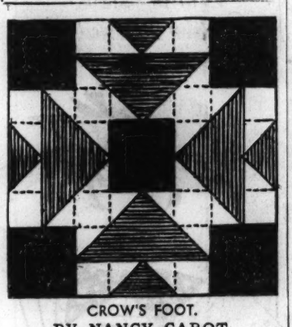
Wrappers and gowns of course vary a lot in price, but not so much in design. The knitted nightie is much liked. But flannelette gowns can be bought inexpensively, and wrappers too, if you watch the sales. Wrapping blankets are much more practical for the tiny baby than wrappers—for they're quick and one doesn't have to work little hands and arms through as one does in a thick wrapper.

No striking innovation did I find, alas, in the diaper field! Until the young son or daughter can go into training panties, there is no radically different substitute. As to number, parents vary in the quantity they buy, from three to six dozen. Two dozen of the average size and one dozen of the large are adequate, but an extra dozen, making four, helps a lot.

(Copyright: 1934: By The Chicago Tribune.)

If you wish a layette list, or the names of the stores where these babies' things mentioned can be bought, we shall be glad to supply either on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Beautiful Quilt Has Origin in Illinois State



CROW'S FOOT.

BY NANCY CABOT.

An ingenious designer named this lovely pattern "Crow's Foot," a name that seems at variance with the beauty of the block. The design originated in Illinois, and the original was pieced in yellow, blue, and white. It is not a difficult block to piece and is most effective when made up in a color arrangement in keeping with furniture in the bedroom.

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street, Tribune Tower, and Hall of Science, A Century of Progress.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

JUMP TAKE-OUTS OF ONE NO TRUMP.

The examples presented yesterday should have given you a picture of the strength and patterns of hands permitting slam tries on these lines. Today we will examine, by means of an imaginary partnership holding, the Rebidding Procedure of Responding Hand.

The bidding is always natural; there is no artificial angle to it; it has no conventions other than those of common sense. The inferences that you can give by different rebids require only the exercise of this humble human virtue and a sympathetic understanding of my general theory of bidding.

Holding, in response to an opening no trump bid,

Sp. A Q x	Di. Q J x
Hs. K Q x x x	Cl. x x

you bid three hearts. If partner signs off with three no trumps, pass, as you have an absolute minimum for your jump take-out. Had your diamond holding been A J x, you would bid four no trumps to show a second ace and more than the strength promised by your first response.

If your heart holding were K Q x x x x and you had a singleton club bid four hearts over three no trumps showing great length in that suit and a preference for suit play on distributional grounds or possibly because of 100 honors. Opener should pass the four hearts unless he can be positive that a slam can be made, although an ace is out against you. For instance, if he held—

Sp. K J x	Di. A 10 x
Hs. A x x	Cl. K Q J x

he would, after your rebid of four hearts, read you for only one of the black aces. Your heart holding is he knows, headed by K Q, which accounts for another primary trick. Your additional trick, of which one-half may be secondary, must be in diamonds if you have the ace of clubs [king of diamonds or Q-J], so that you should in any event have a diamond finesse for the slam, since plainly a spade must be lost.

If you have the ace of spades, you can have nothing in clubs, so your other trick must be either the king-queen of diamonds or a half trick in diamonds and the queen of spades. There will be at worst a finesse for the slam, after losing to the ace of clubs. He is thus thoroughly justified in bidding five no trumps, which you should take to six no trumps if you have no singleton and to six hearts if you have a singleton or with 100 honors in that suit.

In a tournament most of us would rebid to six no trumps, lacking heart honors, even with a singleton, because of the higher trick value.

I give the above inferences in detail because I want to illustrate how the ultimate elimination of losers is the sole logical method of slam bidding. The preliminary bidding must, therefore, facilitate this process and give to it every possible precision. With the opening hand given above, your partner would benefit by being declarer in no trumps, as a spade lead would not be dangerous coming up to his hand.

On your rebid to four hearts your partner will infer that you have a six card suit and may, therefore, have a half trick less in the hand. However, if your two and a half tricks consist of ace-queen of spades and king-queen of hearts, he may count on you for the queen of diamonds to make up for the concentration of minimum primary requirements in two suits. He has the ten; therefore, you hold at least queen, since you cannot have J-10.

If diamonds are led on the first trick, he will have at worst a guess whether to play the queen or not from dummy. If they are not led, he can force out the ace of clubs and discard dummy's losing diamonds on clubs. If you have only ace x x in spades, you must have the king of diamonds; there will now be no finesse, as you can win the first trick in either suit and still be able to win the next lead, by which time the ace of clubs will have been forced out and any needed discards of losers taken on clubs.

This hand illustrates the value of responder's extra queen in a third suit; lacking this, if responding hand held Sp. A Q x and x x in diamonds, the spades would be a duplication impossible to unearth in the bidding and the almost certain diamond lead would defeat the slam. As it is, your only real danger is in adverse heart holding of J 10 x x.

Hollywood

Movie Boners.

BY SIDNEY SKOLSKY.

Hollywood, Cal., June 29.—Pictures have to be technically perfect to get by with the fans who are on the lookout for flicker flaws. A score of letters have come in about a minor detail in "Manhattan Melodrama." I don't know much about hocky and the hocky season, but Sam Wanger, among many others, knows.

During the campaign for governor of New York, a position for which Actor William Powell is running in "Manhattan Melodrama," Actor Clark Gable kills Thomas Jackson in Madison Square Garden during a hocky game. The hocky fans object and ask sneeringly:

"Whoever heard of a hocky game in New York before election." The answer is an easy one. The Metro scenario department.

A chap who signs himself R. S. and who swears that he just can't keep his eyes off Maureen O'Sullivan and therefore couldn't help noticing that she tears her new gown in the jungle while getting away from a tree where she was caught. Yet the next scene shows the dress repaired! For it isn't torn. That man Tarzan can do every thing—even sew. It's no wonder Lupe married him.

Another movie boner is noticed in the same flicker by Frank Collins. It is the scene where Dick Powell is strolling about the reception hall of the radio station, waiting for Pat O'Brien to arrange an audition. A large wall clock shows the time to be 5:15.

Not more than ten minutes later, at least that's about all the time that is supposed to elapse, the same clock registers 8 o'clock. Say, what can we do if Warner uses fast clocks?

Good Morning!

"Born to Be Bad" is the sort of picture that's inspired the anti-smut campaign. It is a thoroughly reprehensible movie that should never have been made and of which the producers should be heartily ashamed.

She who was "born to be bad" is a young mother, who, because she had been betrayed when 15 years of age, teaches her 7 year old illegitimate son all the answers. She encourages him to smoke, fight, lie, and break any law he can—and that the only sin is to get caught.

Loretta Young, though miscast in the leading rôle, delivers a convincing and hard-as-nails performance. Her son, as played by Jackie Kelk, precocious and shifty-eyed, is a thoroughly revolting child. Some of the scenes and dialog between the two are utterly sickening.

The other able players acted—I thought—with noticeable lack of enthusiasm. The fact is greatly to their credit.

The local censors have passed this picture without even a pink permit. They have banned absolutely "The Life of Vergie Winters" with Ann Harding—a film so far superior in every way to the other that the two movies really shouldn't be mentioned in the same breath.

True, "Born to Be Bad" was out before the clean cinema campaign started. But here IS a film for any discriminating, conscientious censor board to stand right up on their hind legs and raise Cain about. Which brings up the old puzzle:

Find sense in censorship.

STAR JUVENILES RACE TODAY AT ARLINGTON PARK

Best of East and West to Run.

BY FRENCH LANE.

For the first time this year the 2 year old stars from the east and the west and from the north and the south come together this afternoon in the sixth running of the Hyde Park stakes at Arlington Park.

A gigantic field of 23, representing owners from one coast to the other, was named over night to strive for the prize which will have a gross value of about $9,000. The entry list was such a well shaken up mixture that Chicago's great army of horse players hardly knew which way to turn to find a favorite.

Some Fast Horses.

Try Sympathy from Mrs. Willis Sharpe Kilmer's stable of Binghampton, N. Y., mustered many backers. So did Chief Cherokee, owned by A. B. Gallaher of Kentucky. The colt was the star 2 year old of the Washington Park season. The Hal Price Headley entry of Preëminent, Fraidy Cat and Fort Springs had a following.

Lots of folks around the loop last night were wagering on Albuquerque from the Rockwood farm in Kentucky, while the Milky Way farm stable entry of Irksome, a stake winner at Washington Park, and Galla Clay, a royally bred daughter of Sir Gallahad III.-Nancy Clay, had the support of numerous Chicagoans.

Finally Try Sympathy was installed as the favorite at 4 to 1, while Chief Cherokee and the Headley entry was held as equal second choices at 5 to 1. Albuquerque was next in line at 8 to 1. The odds ranged all the way up to 100 to 1, with Dojo, owned by Ike Weil of Chicago, as one of the long shots, and Sunned, the property of Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt of Virginia, was another of the 100 to 1 shots.

Chicago Juveniles Speedy.

Never before has Chicago been so well fortified to fight for a rich stake in Chicago. Besides the Milky Way farm stable entry, other Chicago juveniles which are expected to be in the thick of the battle all the way are Fred Burton's Everglade stable entry of Witan and Mrs. Fab; Wise Placer from Fred M. Grabner's barn; Bubbling Mate, owned by B. and J. Scheitler, which scored an impressive triumph earlier in the week, and Mrs. Roy Carruthers' formidable entry of Bye Lo and Stay.

Looking these budding champions over as they strive for the rich prize will be the greatest of all Hyde Park stakes' winners. The fellow who will do this scrutinizing is Cavalcade, which won the race just a year ago. That victory started him out on a career that no doubt will find him winding up in the turf hall of fame. Pairbypair is another former Hyde Park stakes' winner which will give this newest Hyde Park stakes field a careful going over as it parades to the post. Since he won the Hyde Park back in 1931 Pairbypair has been able to keep pace with the best sprinters in the land.

La Salle Race Scheduled.

The Hyde Park, which will be run as the sixth race this afternoon at about 5 o'clock, tops one of the most fashionable programs ever arranged at Arlington.

A race which promises to be just as exciting as the Hyde Park is the La Salle purse, which will be run over the mile and a sixteenth turf course. Mrs. John Hertz's Watch Him drew top weight of 113 pounds and he will be opposed by such good performers as Big Beau, Plucky Play, Anarchy, Black Queen, and Pot Au Brooms.

Coming fourth on the program will be the Glencoe handicap which will be sort of a second presentation of the Inaugural handicap, for the winner, Indian Runner and Dartle, which finished first and second, were named overnight.

Was Inaugural Truly Run?

The field in the Inaugural was so unwieldy and the race was run in such a terrific storm that many believe it may not have been truly run.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: On July 1 [tomorrow] it will be 95 years since Robert Fergus, Chicago's first job printer, arrived here from Milwaukee on the steamer General Wayne, Capt. Amos Pratt commanding. Mr. Fergus had been in Milwaukee a short time after his arrival from Glasgow, Scotland, where he learned his trade with the celebrated publishers, S. T. Stevenson & Co., who put out Sir Walter Scott's [first edition] "Lay of the Last Minstrel," an English-French lexicon, and numerous other standard works of the time.

In 1842 Robert Fergus published The Quidnunc, a daily newspaper. After six weeks the editor absconded with the ready funds on hand and a prominent citizen's wife. Publication was suspended, leaving the publisher holding the bag for wages and print paper.

In the '80s the north side limits barns contained horse cars, before the coming of cable or electric cars. Opposite was the beautiful home of E. J. Lehmann, with its brick fence, lovely gardens and swimming pool in the rear.

To the north was the home of Dr. Dyer, with its wide gateway at the corner of Diversey. I believe the doctor had passed on at this time. The house was wood, painted light, set back in the large lot. To the south of the Lehmann property was the home of the Tillman family. It had a long walk up to the house, bordered in summer with beautiful flowers.

Next to this on the south was the Williams property, with an elaborate wooden fence along the street. The house was at the rear of the lot, down a hill. This was to be the stables, and a large house which was to be built in front never was erected. From the south side was an oak forest with beautiful grass in summer. In winter the natural slope to the east was used as a toboggan slide, kept in condition by the Williams family. One could coast down over where the Christian Science church now stands right to Lincoln park. It was a favorite playground of the neighborhood children.

The umpire is a noble chap,
One of a noble crew;
When the players gang around, his suit,
Like the atmosphere, is blue.

The peanut vender has a gift
That's psychic as can be;
The moment there's an exciting play
He stops in front of me.

The femmes are great to have around,
No use the truth to tell,
For though the play be good or bad,
With equal squeals they yell.

Too bad the management must pay
A manager when he
Is not as good as the grandstand kind,
Who manage the ball club free.

ELEVEN RECORDS FALL IN A. A. U. TRACK CARNIVAL

Juniors Better Ten Marks at Milwaukee.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 29.—America's track and field stars carried on an assault without parallel against national records in the finals of the junior A. A. U. games tonight in Marquette stadium. These boys, many of whom will carry the burden of defense for the United States in the Olympic games at Berlin in 1936, shattered ten all-time records, which with a record in the senior 5,000 meter walk, one of the two senior events on today's program, surpassed all previous performances.

The crowd of 5,000, another record, watched the games which were completed in two hours, except for the pole vault, which was the most bitterly waged event of the night. Five men succeeded in surpassing the previous meet mark. These five thousand fans, a forecast of what may be expected tomorrow afternoon when the 47th annual senior games are staged, made the journey to the west side stadium despite lack of street car and bus service and in the face of a possible postponement because of a strike by the men manning power plants.

Coast Club Wins Title.

Four hundred and fourteen athletes are registered for the junior and senior meets, another high, and many of tonight's heroes will compete tomorrow for senior honors.

The ten new records, wholesale rewrite of the National book of supremacies, fell just short of being one-half of all events. Twenty-one junior events were decided in the afternoon and evening. From the welter of competition the Olympic club of Los Angeles emerged winner of the team championship with the New York Athletic club second. This, it is predicted, will be reversed tomorrow.

The caliber of the contestants perhaps is best demonstrated by the 800 meter race, in which the all-time record was shattered in both of the afternoon preliminaries and then whipped again in the finals tonight. This crew of middle distance athletes, worthy rivals for big Ben Eastman of Stanford and Charlie Hornbostel of Indiana, who tonight marked time waiting for their race tomorrow, finally admitted that Elton Brown of Pittsburg [Kas.] State Teachers' college was the best of the lot.

Pongrace Is Fourth.

Brown set a meet record in his preliminary, saw it eclipsed in the next heat by Otto Pongrace of Michigan State, and then came back tonight to win the race in 1 minute 53 2-10 seconds. Pongrace, apparently run out in his afternoon trial, finished fourth in the final only when John Mulvihill of the New York A. C., fourth across the line, was disqualified.

High scoring honors in the junior meet went to Victor Malin of the New York A. C., who won the 56

Cotton Wins British Open by 5 Strokes

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

SANDWICH, June 29.—The United States' golfers sooner or later had to lose the British open championship, and at 5:15 o'clock this afternoon on the Royal St. Georges course here, the scene of the most spectacular of their former triumphs, they surrendered it after ten consecutive years to the Englishman, Henry Cotton, professional at the Waterloo club in Belgium.

With a crowd of between 6,000 and 7,000 bursting through the ringside, Cotton had a putt of about five feet to beat Gene Sarazen's British open record of 283, established at the adjoining course of Prince's in 1932. Cotton, his nerves stretched to the limit of human endurance for 18 desperate holes, failed to make the putt. It just slipped past the cup and he equaled Sarazen's figure.

Wins by Five Strokes.

Cotton finished five strokes ahead of the South African challenger, S. F. Brews; seven ahead of his compatriot, A. H. Padgham, and nine in front of the Americans, MacDonald Smith and Joe Kirkwood, who totaled 292. Densmore Shute of the United States, who ruined his chance with an 80 in the third round, was, with Sarazen, who carded an 80 in his last round, far down the list with 301 and 302, respectively. The fates, in the shape of change of wind and hailstorms, were against them in every round.

The 27 year old Cotton played three good rounds and one bad one. He acquired such a commanding lead in the first two rounds with his record of 67 and 65 for 132 that his 72 in the third round this morning, when it was blowing half a gale, made his position all but impregnable. He started the fourth round with a lead of ten strokes over Kirkwood, whose 71 in the third round had placed him in second place, and eleven strokes in front

EIGHTH INNING RALLY ERASES CHICAGO LEAD

Then Downpour Ends Battle.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 29.—The Cubs had their eighth straight victory well in hand for the better part of this afternoon, but there were last minute complications. The Pirates, not seeming to be annoyed by the fact that they had been on the short end from the first inning, rose up in the eighth with a pair of runs that tied the score at 8 to 8. Then a cloudburst descended and the umpires wisely decided there could be no decisive conclusion to a day of daffy baseball.

It proved at least a moral defeat for the Cubs because three of their quartet of regular starting pitchers made futile attempts to carry the early lead through the regulation nine innings. First, Pat Malone, the starter, went away in the third when he had a 5 to 1 lead. Charley Root, merely a bull pen habitue under present conditions, then filled in successfully until trouble arose in the sixth. Manager Grimm put his faith in Lon Warneke, another regular. He tumbled into difficulties in the eighth and Guy Bush, another regular, appeared. It was a single off Bush that brought on the tie.

Four Pirate Pitchers, Too.

The Pirate pitchers, at least three of the four who served in an active capacity, didn't have much better luck than the Cub quartet. Bill Swift, the Pittsburgh starter, had to take it on the run in the fifth with eight tallies charged against his record and the Cubs five runs in the lead. Old man Waite Hoyt finished out Swift's luckless fifth inning and thereafter the Cubs could do nothing in the pinches in two innings against Leon Chagnon or in one against Red Lucas. One of the pinches was in the eighth when English led off with a double only to have the next three men tap Lucas' offerings straight into the hands of Pirate infielders.

Part of the apparently safe lead stored up by the Cubs while Swift was in action was due to Gabby Hartnett's twelfth homer of the year. He sailed the ball over the wall with two on in the third, giving Malone a 5 to 1 lead which melted to 5 to 3 when Malone vanished in the home half. But Hartnett, despite his homer and a subsequent single in the three run fifth, wasn't permitted to stay to the finish. Gabby didn't think much of a ball called by Umpire Pfirman on Lloyd Waner in the seventh. He slapped off his mask and it almost hit the official guesser. Pfirman immediately decided the demonstration warranted an order chasing Gabby from the scene.

Steal Two Bases.

The Cubs had all their first inning fun after Billy Herman and Hack had been retired on grounders. Klein then tripled off the right field pavilion screen and scored when Babe Herman singled to right. The Babe caused the Pirates further concern by stealing second. Cuyler then singled to left and the Babe moved himself across the plate. Cuyler also stole second, but made no further progress because Hartnett fanned.

The Waners put on one of their brother acts in Pittsburgh's opening half and this accounted for the first run off Malone. Lloyd singled past Billy Herman and scored on Brother Paul's double over Cuyler's head. Malone promptly took charge of the situation by fanning Manager Traynor. Vaughan walked mainly as a strategic move. Suhr then popped foul to Hack and Billy Herman handled Lavagetto's tall fly.

Three More Runs for Cubs.

Hack singled to right at the start of the third and this brought on three runs for which Hartnett was responsible. Hack was forced by Klein and Babe Herman lofted to Baby Waner in center. Lavagetto did the Cubs a good turn by fumbling on Cuyler's grounder, which should have ended

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox yesterday kept their clown costumes in their satchels long enough to stage ten brilliant innings of scoreless baseball with the Cleveland Indians. Then some fiend hauled out the spangles in the eleventh and the Indians enjoyed the circus to the extent that they won, 5 to 2, though they themselves jumped through a few paper hoops in the last half of the inning, during which the Sox made four hits in a row to produce two runs before any one was out.

The game, one of the most contrasty in recent Sox history, boosted the Chicagoans' losing streak to eight straight.

Power Is Wasted.

In the first ten innings Les Tietje held the enemy to five hits, all singles, no two of which came in the same inning. But the young man tired in the eleventh. He walked Trosky on four pitches, then Hale drove his No. 10 homer into the right field stand. The clown motif became apparent immediately thereafter, with hits, the only two errors of the game, a stolen base, and one thing and another happening to give the Indians their winning margin.

The Sox, as per their custom, became very powerful when it didn't mean anything. Dykes singled to start the eleventh, Bonura doubled and Simmons and Haas singled to chase Harder. Brown then came in and stopped the Comiskeys cold.

It was the Soxs' third loss in extra innings in as many days.

Tietje Thwarts Trouble.

The first heavy action inning was the Indians' second. Hale led off with a single to center and Kamm walked. The pair moved up on Seeds' sacrifice, then Myatt was given an intentional pass to fill the bases. Harder fanned and Rice tapped to Boken.

Tietje did some more able tightening up in the fourth to keep Kamm from scoring after a free ride to third. With one out Bill walked for the second time, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Then Seeds fouled to Shea and Myatt flied to Swanson.

In the fourth the Sox got a man to third for the first time. Uhalt was hit by a pitched ball, went to second on Dykes' sacrifice and to third on Bonura's infield out. Simmons was given an intentional pass and stole second while Shea was running the count to three balls and two strikes. The threat ended on Shea's tap to Knickerbocker.

Uhalt Gets Hit No. 3.

Uhalt registered the third hit off Harder when he beat out a high bounder with one out in the sixth. He failed to progress, however, because Dykes fouled to Hale and Bonura forced him for the third out.

Shea knocked the first extra base

TRIBUNE SCHOOL TO HOLD EXAMS THURSDAY, FRIDAY

Prize Pupils to Be Chosen on July 10.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Final examinations in THE TRIBUNE'S second annual free golf school, which has been conducted on the 19 member courses of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association for the last month, with an average weekly attendance of 23,000, will be held next Thursday and Friday. The regular Tuesday and Wednesday lessons at a majority of the association courses will not be held, due to the holiday Wednesday. The Thursday night lesson for couples will be omitted entirely.

This change, however, does not mean that pupils who have been attending all classes regularly need miss the fifth and final lesson of the school. All men, whether they have taken part as individuals or in the couples division, can take their last lesson Thursday night, while women students and junior girls may conclude the course Friday night. The six courses which have been holding Sunday classes—Mission Hills, Vernon, Northbrook, Techny Fields, Big Run and Chicago Meadows—will do so for the last time a week from tomorrow.

Pick Winners July 10.

Golfers who may not actually have taken part in the school, but who have been so interested in it that they have motored to outlying courses to see how it is conducted, are invited to attend the final choice of winners at each of the 19 courses, to be held simultaneously Tuesday night, July 10. In most cases daily fee professionals, who have been teaching, are asking a disinterested professional to judge the best pupil in the class. One each will be selected from the men's, women's, boys' and girls' classes, and two from the couples division.

With each course being represented by six prize scholars, a total of 114 will be graduated in the two final competitions. The first of these, an eighteen hole medal play tournament from scratch, will take place at Mission Hills, located at Sanders and Techny roads, Northbrook, Saturday, July 14. The second, a form contest which will be decided by a group of leading professionals, will be held at Mid-City, Grace street and Western avenue, Thursday night, July 19.

A Final Summary.

Next week's lesson, aside from instruction on chip shots and the putting stroke, will be a final summing up of all points brought out during the course of the school.

Virginia Van Wie and Helen Hicks, who constitute the original feminine Damon and Pythias twosome in golf, will take part in a novel experiment July 7 at the Knollwood club, near Lake Forest, to determine the relative abilities, aside from long driving, of man and woman in golf. They will play Jock Hutchison, Glen View, and George Smith, Onwentsia, even for eighteen holes, except that each of the girls will be allowed to advance all long shots ten per cent of each hole's distance before making their approaches. If, for instance, one drives 200 yards on a 350 yard hole, she will be allowed to move her tee effort 35 yards farther along the fairway. Miss Van Wie won the national women's title at Exmoor last year for the second year in succession, while Miss Hicks recently turned business woman golfer.

Every leading professional in Illinois is expected to compete tomorrow afternoon in the Illinois Professional Golfers' association championship at the Brae Burn Country club, located on Milwaukee avenue near Wheeling. In addition to the state title, the seven players who will represent Chicago in the National P. G. A. event at Buffalo, July 24-29, also will be determined. Eighteen holes will be played tomorrow afternoon, with the final eighteen Monday morning. A pro-amateur event is scheduled for the afternoon. Jack Johnston, manager at Brae Burn, announces that the club will pay $100 to the player lowering the course record of 69 set by Tom Armour last year.

Edgewood Valley will hold its annual invitational tournament, the Valley-Hoo today, with a field of district stars expected to compete. Among these are Jack Westland, John Lehman, George Dawson, Chick Evans, Tom Frainey, Frank Justin and Fred Gariepy, winner of last year's event. Gariepy won with a 71, after George Dawson, shooting for a 69, took an eight on the 17th.

A field of 50 took part in the ladies' guest day tournament at Flossmoor yesterday, Mrs. Don Hamilton, Beverly, with 96—13—83, and Mrs. Carl Dunnagan, Olympia Fields, won low net and low gross prizes for visitors.

WOOD ADVANCES TO FIFTH ROUND AT WIMBLEDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29.—American and other stars continued to win in the all English tennis tournament at Wimbledon today.

Sidney B. Wood Jr., the American Davis cup player who was the Wimbledon singles king in 1931, defeated a compatriot, Dave Jones, Columbia university star, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4. Wood's victory placed him in the fifth round.

One of the favorites to wrest the title from Jack Crawford, Wood easily was Jones' master. Jones was tired at the end of the second set, but he rallied for a three love lead in the third. Then Wood resorted to his slugging tactics, ran off five straight games, and took his next service.

Helen Hull Jacobs, the Californian, continued in the running for the women's title when she eliminated Joan Ingram of England in a third round match. The scores were 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

In one of these Sarah Palfrey of Boston had an easy time eliminating Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree of England, an old Wimbledon campaigner and champion in 1924 and 1926. The scores were 6-3, 6-1.

Lester Stoefen, California star, followed Wood into the quarter-finals, with a 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 triumph over H. G. N. Lee, reserve man on the British Davis cup team.

WHITE CONQUERS KOCSIS, REACHES COLLEGE FINALS

Cleveland, O., June 29.—[Special.]—Ed White of the University of Texas will meet Charley Yates of Georgia Tech for the national intercollegiate golf championship here tomorrow.

In today's 36 hole semi-final matches White beat Charley Kocsis of Michigan, 1 up, and Yates eliminated Frank Ridley of Georgia Tech, 7 and 6.

Two lucky breaks aided White, one helping him square the match on the 26th and another giving him victory on the 36th.

He birdied the 520 yard 26th with a 4 after his drive had hit a tree and caromed into the middle of the fairway 300 yards from the tee.

Sinks Deciding Putt.

On the final green, White putted short from 40 feet away, the ball stopping six feet from the pin. Kocsis, on the other side of the hole, put his putt an inch short of the cup. White putted again. His ball circled the hole, hit Kocsis' and hung on the lip of the cup for several seconds before it dropped. This gave White the four necessary to halve the hole and win the match.

Today Kocsis, the medalist and tournament favorite, rallied on the second nine, shooting it in 33, three under par, to stand 1 up at noon.

Kocsis went 2 up this afternoon with a par on the 200 yard 23d, while White missed the green, taking a four.

White squared the match on the next two holes. He took his par four on the 25th, while Kocsis hooked into the rough and recovered poorly for a five. Kocsis' drive again found the rough on the 26th, while White's was hitting a tree and bouncing back to the fairway 300 yards from the tee. White's birdie 4 won the hole.

Match Squared Again.

They halved the next four, but exchanged the 31st and 32d to square the match for the fourth and last time. White three-putted the 31st to lose. He made up for this slip by holing a 25-footer on the 32d for a birdie two on the 168-yard hole.

When Kocsis' second shot on the 417-yard 33d missed the green, White got his final advantage with a par four. They played evenly until the 36th.

Moller to Play McKelvey Today for State Golf Title

Springfield, Ill., June 29.—[Special.]—Larry Moller of Quincy, and Cliff McKelvey, Decatur, will meet on the Illini Country club course here tomorrow for the Illinois state amateur golf title.

Moller reached the finals today by beating Warren Dawson, of Chicago, twice state titleholder, 3 and 1. McKelvey beat Steve Williams Jr. of Evanston, 3 and 1, in his semi-final match. They played in intense heat, the temperature exceeding 100 degrees.

Expect Close Match.

Moller, former Notre Dame golfer who was runner-up to George Dunlap, the present national amateur champion, in the national intercollegiates in 1929, and McKelvey, city amateur champion of Decatur for the last two years, are expected to play a close match tomorrow. Each is at the top of his game. Moller is 26 years old and McKelvey 30. Both are practically the same size, stocky and about 155 pounds in weight.

This is the first time that Moller has played in the state tourney. McKelvey lost in the second round at Champaign in 1932. Incidentally, tomorrow's thirty-six hole finals will mark the first time that Chicago has not been represented in the title play in the four year history of the tournament.

Moller Beats Armstrong.

Moller had to get by two prime favorites today. In the morning round he upset Don Armstrong, the defending champion, of Aurora, 1 up. McKelvey, medalist, had a fight on his hands also in beating Jimmy Frasini, Taylorville, 1 up, this morning.

Moller was sailing along to an apparent easy victory over Dawson late in their match this afternoon but began faltering after having a 4 up lead through the first nine holes. He maintained this margin through thirteen holes of play and then lost two in a row when he three putted the fourteenth and fifteenth. Dawson won these two holes with par 4s. After halving the next in par 4s, Moller clinched the match at the seventeenth. He was dead to the pin for a 3, Dawson failing to get a short run up shot close enough for a halved hole.

Makes Accurate Approaches.

McKelvey held a one up margin over Williams after nine holes of erratic golf on the way out. He went two up on the fifteenth when he sent his niblick shot two feet from the cup from a distance of 100 feet for a birdie. Another fine niblick shot gave him a half at the sixteenth and he wound up the match at the seventeenth. Both missed the green. Williams was eight feet from the pin and McKelvey four feet. Williams missed by inches and McKelvey holed it to win.

McKelvey reached the finals by defeating Hank Bowbeer, Chicago, 4 and 2; McLean Funk of Decatur, 6 and 5; Jimmy Frasini, Taylorville, one up, and Steve Williams, Evanston, 3 and 1. McKelvey's medalist score was 110 shots for 27 holes.

Moller defeated Hunter Brown, Chicago, 7 and 6; Elton Hill, Urbana, 4 and 2; Don Armstrong, Aurora, one up, and Warren Dawson, Chicago, 3 and 1. He was runner-up to McKelvey, with 112, in the medal fight.

FAVORITES PLAY TODAY IN PUBLIC PARK GOLF FINAL

Favorites survived the semi-final matches in the public parks tournament at Evergreen yesterday, and today will see the two youngsters, 16 year old Josephine Souchek and 17 year old Shirley Ann Johnson, battle 36 holes for the city crown. This will be the second meeting of the two protégés of Professional Al Bluhm, the first being in the finals of the state championship last year when Shirley Ann emerged victorious.

Miss Johnson is conceded the edge in today's play by reason of her splendid performance in her last two matches. In yesterday's match she defeated Clarice Richardson of Jackson park, 5 and 3, and scored a 42—39—81. Miss Johnson birdied the first two holes to go two up and held the honors throughout the match.

PRO FOOTBALL MAGNATES OPEN MEETING TODAY

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Officials and club owners of the National Professional Football league will open their annual two day meeting here tomorrow. They are expected to approve the transfer of the Portsmouth franchise to Detroit and the 1934 schedule. Possible changes in the rules also will be discussed.

Among the owners attending are George Halas of the Chicago Bears and Charles Bidwill of the Chicago Cardinals. Other teams represented are New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Boston, Cincinnati, Green Bay, Brooklyn, and Detroit.

of the Frenchman, Marcel Dallemagne. Padgham was fourth with 216; C. A. Whitcombe, W. H. Davies, and Sid Brews came next with 217. Mac Smith with 220 and Sarazen, 18 strokes behind, were out of the picture.

Beset with Trouble.

But before Cotton loomed the bogey of that bad fourth round on which he made a 79. He took four shots to get onto the first green and three shots to get on the second. At the fifth he hooked his second so badly that he carded a six. At the ninth he was in the rough thrice and turned in 40.

Word was sent to Sarazen behind and to Kirkwood in front that Cotton had blown up, but it brought no encouragement to the men, who themselves were like drowning men grasping at straws.

Kirkwood had carded a 7 at the fifth, a 6 at the seventh hole, and the message came back "Everything is going wrong for me; even the ball is breaking against the spin."

Sarazen's reply was: "While there is life there is hope, but if it starts to rain on top of this wind I am going back to the hotel. Wish Cotton luck."

Thus Cotton went on, pale of face and giving spectators nerve shocks with every stroke. At the tenth it appeared as if there was going to be the biggest blowup in golfing history. He played every shot over two or three times before stepping up to the ball. There was a 5 at the tenth, a 5 at the eleventh, and a 5 at the twelfth. Only a wonderful chip from the rough at the thirteenth saved him from a 5 there.

Can This Be Cotton?

"Can this be the same Cotton?" the spectators asked as they figured out the chances of the Frenchman Dallemagne's winning the championship. But the news came that Dallemagne's strokes were slipping away as fast as Cotton's, Kirkwood's, and Sarazen's.

The holing of a twelve foot putt for a 4 on the fourteenth gave Cotton new heart. He steadied and drew cheers when his second to the long fifteenth finished pin high. He missed his putt for a 3 there and missed an easy putt for a 2 on the sixteenth. He missed another putt for a 3 on the seventeenth, but he was holding together. He hit a fine drive to the eighteenth and then put his second into a bunker guarding the green.

There were 7,000 British sighs of relief when with his first shot Cotton came out of the trap onto the green, but the five foot putt for his record was just too much for him.

GIANTS DEFEAT DODGERS, 7 TO 2; JACKSON STARS

Hits Home Run with 2 On in First Inning.

New York, June 29.—(AP)—The New York Giants returned from their trip through the west today to administer a 7 to 2 defeat to the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first of a three game series. The loss was the Dodgers' eighth straight.

A home run by Travis Jackson in the first inning scored Bill Terry and Mel Ott to send the winners away to a good lead. Mungo, hurling seven innings, fanned six Giants to increase his season's strikeouts to an even hundred. Score:

LONDOS-LEWIS MATCH NEARER, FOLEY REPORTS

Joe Foley, general manager of the Chicago Stadium, returned from New York yesterday with the announcement that the wrestling championship bout between Jim Londos and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, proposed for Soldiers' field this summer, is a step nearer realization.

Foley said he convinced Joe (Toots) Mondt, manager of Lewis, that Chicago is the ideal site for the match, despite attempts by Jack Curly, New York promoter, to induce representatives of both men to stage the match there.

Lewis informed the Chicago promoter from Dallas, Tex., that he would try to attend Monday's meeting of the Illinois athletic commission and file a formal challenge for the contest with Londos. If he is unable to appear he will wire his willingness to meet Londos as an evidence of good faith, Foley stated.

Crowd of 5,000 Greets Sox on Return Home

Willis Hudlin, who is scheduled to pitch for the Indians tomorrow, has won seven and lost one.

Lew Fonseca, ex-Indian and White Sox, who had the good fortune to lose his job as Sox manager, saw his two former teams play yesterday.

Knickerbocker got the fourth hit off Tietje when he singled with one out in the eighth. Averill fouled to Swanson, Knickerbocker taking second after the catch. Trosky was given an intentional pass, after which Hale popped to Boken.

Into Overtime, Boys!

Kamm led off the ninth with a single to center. Seeds walked after Kamm, for the second time in the game, had advanced on a passed ball. Myatt attempted to sacrifice and forced Kamm, Tietje to Dykes. Seeds was plucked off first base on a snap throw, Shea to Bonura, and Harder fanned.

Bonura started the home ninth by driving a single off the left field wall, but he was out trying to reach second, Seeds to Hale. It was a fine play by Seeds. Simmons flied to Rice and Knickerbocker threw out Shea.

Rice, Knickerbocker, and Averill failed to get the ball out of the infield in the tenth. Boken opened the Sox half with a line single to center. Chamberlin failed in two attempts to sacrifice, then looked at the third strike. Tietje bunted, but forced Boken at second, Harder to Knickerbocker. Swanson walked on five pitches. The inning ended, however, with Uhalt's tap to Hale.

The Bubble Bursts.

Trosky walked on four pitches to open the eleventh, then Hale smacked the first pitch into the right field stands for his No. 10 homer, scoring behind Trosky. Kamm singled to center, stole second, and went to third on Shea's wide throw to second for the first error of the game. Gallivan replaced Tietje. Seeds singled to right and Kamm scored. Myatt sacrificed, Bonura to Boken. Harder tapped to Chamberlin, who threw the ball away. Seeds scoring and Harder taking third whence he scored while Boken was throwing out Rice. Knickerbocker beat out an infield roller and Averill flied to Uhalt.

Dykes opened the Sox' eleventh with a single to left. Bonura doubled off the left field wall and Dykes pulled up at third. Then Simmons singled to center, scoring Dykes and Bonura. Haas batted for Shea and also singled to center, Simmons stopping at second. Hayes ran for Haas. Brown replaced Harder. Boken forced Hayes, Kamm to Hale. Bocek batted for Chamberlin. Boken then took second on a wild pitch and Bocek struck out. Madjeski batted for Gallivan and was out, Brown to Trosky, ending the game.

PLAY SEMI-FINAL MATCHES TODAY IN PARK TENNIS

Semi-final matches in a Chicago public parks tennis tournament will be played today at Soldiers' field. In a series of approximately 750 elimination matches during the last few weeks the original field of 1,100 has been reduced to four men and four women in the singles division and to four men's doubles teams.

Scott Rexinger, Leroy Pearson, John Shostrom, and Edward Lejeck are in the running for the men's singles championship, Louise Hofmeister, Anne Gregarow, Anne Mullen, and Florence Schultz survive in the women's class. The doubles team consist of Rexinger and Eugene Quinn, Joseph Masek and Nick Berkos, Edward and Leo Lejeck, and Seymour and Jacob Greenberg.

Six matches will be played today, the first starting at 11 a. m. The winners will meet tomorrow in the finals. The champions will go to Minneapolis for the national public parks tournament in August.

11 a. m.—Louise Hofmeister vs. Ann Gregarow.
Noon—Anne Mullen vs. Florence Schultz.
1 p. m.—Scott Rexinger vs. Leroy Pearson.
2:30 p. m.—John Shostrom vs. Edward Lejeck.
4 p. m.—Scott Rexinger and Eugene Quinn vs. Joseph Masek and Nick Berkos.
5 p. m.—Edward and Leo Lejeck vs. Seymour and Jacob Greenberg.

Lee Shakes Off Crick; to Pitch for Cubs Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 29.—Bill Lee, the giant man from the American association, has shaken off the crick in his neck and will be able to pitch for the Cubs in the second of the series against the Pirates tomorrow. Lee has yet to win his first game on a foreign field. Ralph [Lefty] Birkofer will be the Pittsburgh starter.

A loud speaker system has been installed at Forbes field. It will be given its first test tomorrow when ceremonies will be staged in observance of the 25th anniversary of the opening of Forbes field.

At the last minute, Pie Traynor, the new Pirate manager, had to alter his starting lineup. Outfielder Freddy Lindstrom injured his hand in batting practice and was forced to withdraw.

Clarence Rowland, one of the Cub scouts, called up long distance this morning to ask Manager Grimm what kind of an infielder was wanted for utility work during Bill Jurges' absence. "Somebody who can play short," was Grimm's reply.

the inning. Then Hartnett boosted homer No. 12 over the scoreboard in left field for three runs and a 5 to 1 lead.

Malone began to dig his own grave in the Pirates' half of the third when he walked Paul Waner after Brother Lloyd had been called out on a questionable decision at first base by Umpire Klem. Traynor bounced a single into center, sending P. Waner to third. The bases became populated to the legal limit with a pass to Vaughan. Suhr made use of this opportunity by singling to center to score Paul Waner and Traynor and put Vaughan on third. Root then came in to lend assistance and made good on the assignment by nailing the next two batters.

Swift Chased in Fifth.

The Cubs broke out again in the fifth and not only routed Swift, but also bruised Rescuer Hoyt a bit. This affair also was delayed until after two were gone. Cuyler set it in motion by beating out a grounder to Vaughan. Hartnett singled to center, Cuyler taking third. Hurst singled to right, scoring Cuyler and putting Hartnett on third and Swift in the discard. Hoyt stepped in just in time to have English single to right, scoring Hartnett and sending Hurst to third. English headed for second on the throw to third, and when Traynor pegged wild trying to catch him, Hurst scored.

Vaughan's double and Billy Herman's error with two out let the Pirates score once in their half. This made the count 8 to 4.

Successive singles by Baby Waner, Brother Paul and Thevenow, on which the first named scored with none out in the sixth, marked the conclusion of Root's act. The first thing Warneke did after taking over the job was to walk Vaughan, filling the bases. Suhr slapped a fly to Cuyler, scoring P. Waner and moving Thevenow to third. Warneke then fanned Lavagetto, and Jensen bounced to Billy Herman. This left the Cubs with an 8 to 6 lead, and as a matter of safety Bush was in the bull pen oiling up his arm for an emergency.

Bush Called In.

The need of Bush's presence arose in the eighth. Warneke slipped through the seventh, but the bases were filled when the side was retired. When Suhr and Lavagetto opened the eighth with singles Manager Grimm decided he had seen enough of Warneke. Jensen, the first to face Bush, sacrificed. Then Padden, in the semi-darkness, punched a single past Hack at third to score Suhr and Lavagetto with the tying runs. Padden stole second and the umpires then halted play.

Eleven Records Are Broken in National A. A. U. Carnival

pound weight throw for height and the hammer throw.

In the night's list of rumors relative to tomorrow's senior meet, Bill Hargiss of Kansas, coach of Glenn Cunningham, announced the world's mile record holder would have no alibi tomorrow, despite imperfect physical condition, when he meets Bill Bonthron of Princeton and Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania at 1,500 meters.

The Record Assault.

The story of the night's attack on the records in summary form follows:

1. Shot put—Won by George Theodoratos, Washington State university, football star who also holds the western amateur boxing title, with a mark of 53 feet 4.8 inches, representing the Olympic club of San Francisco.

2. Javelin—Won by John Mottram, another Olympic club athlete, with a toss of 207 feet 9.6 inches.

3. Hop, step and jump—Won by Dudley Wilkins of Southwestern Louisiana institute, with 49 feet 4.8 inches, which eclipsed the eight year old mark of Levi Casey.

4. 800 meters—In which Elton Brown won out in the three record breaking races with a mark of 1:53.2.

5. 400 meters—Won by Jimmy Jessel of Marquette university, in 48.6 seconds

6. 3,000 meter steeplechase which went to Brendan Moynahan of the Boston A. A., in 9:47.2, nearly 25 seconds better than last year's all time mark.

7. 5,000 meters, won by Dale Smith of the Pittsburgh [Kas.] Teachers in 15:31.8.

8. 200 meters, won by Foy Draper of Los Angeles, in 21.6 seconds around one turn, which was a new record and also tied the former mark established on a straight away.

9. 400 meter hurdles, won by Glenn Morris of the Denver A. C., in 54:4, one tenth of a second better than the former record.

10. Pole vault—In which John Wonsowicz of Ohio State and William Sefton of Los Angeles shared in the new mark of 13 feet 6 inches.

Walking Stars Collapse.

Harry Hinkel of the New York A. C., defending title holder in the senior 5,000 meter walk, retained his championship and surpassed his own all time record with a mark of 22 minutes 56 8-10 seconds. In this event, contested under a blazing afternoon sun, two athletes collapsed, but they were revived later although one of them Arthur Rosenstein of New York was taken to a hospital for emergency treatment.

SENIOR DIVISION.

O'Shea to Battle Kennard Monday in Marigold Ring

Professional boxing cards at Marigold Gardens Monday and Western stadium Tuesday were completed yesterday. Sherald Kennard, Fargo, N. D., welterweight, and Mickey O'Shea, Chicago, will head the six bout program at Marigold. Tommy Corbett, Omaha, Neb., and Gene Higgins, Chicago, will meet in the feature of five matches at Western.

Kennard will be making his second Chicago appearance, having whipped Chuck Reed in his first start here. Jimmy Eliopoulos will meet Mickey Beal in the five round semi-windup at 118 pounds. Other matches:

Frank Genovese vs. Al Pahl [4], 143.
Frank Schultz vs. Jackie Collins [4], 122.
Sam Scoglio vs. Gene Connolly [4], 126.
Karl von Lehman vs. Ralph Garibaldi [wrestling].

Corbett will attempt to regain the prestige he lost when Geno Salvatore was awarded a decision over him in his match against Higgins at Western. Danny Neenan, Chicago junior welterweight, is paired with Lou Terry, St. Louis, for five rounds. The balance of the card:

Scotty McLain and John Gould.
Frankie White and Kid Prima.
Sailor Born and George Haberski.

A match with Everett [Young] Rightmeier, Sioux City, Ia., featherweight, hinges on the outcome of Jimmy Christy's eight round encounter against Oscar O'Hanion, Waukegan, at White City Monday. The Rightmeier-Christy battle is tentatively scheduled for White City July 9.

Tommy Corbett yesterday accepted terms for a 10 round fight with Chino Alvarez at Savannah, Ga., July 12. . . . Henry Rothler, stocky Chicago welterweight, unbeatable in recent months, will be inactive for two weeks because of a cut over his eye. . . .

Leo Rodak is scheduled to return next Thursday from a vacation at Eagle River, Wis., to resume workouts for a 10 round encounter at Wrigley field July 18 against Kid Chocolate. . . . Frank Sigilio, Chicago's newest lightweight star, believes his right hand, bruised in his knockout victory over Pete Nebo recently, will take 10 days to heal.

George Trafton announced yesterday that fifty new members have joined his gymnasium at 180 Randolph street in the last two weeks. They include the following boxers, the majority of whom are from out of town:

Everett Rightmeier, Al Pahl, Sidney Ray, Ray Davis, Bob Tinsley, Ed Volk, Frank Turucz, Al Soukup, Jim Rames, Joey Palazzola, Louis De Bartelo, Jack Frederick, Jackie Gibbs.

KELLY VICTOR IN MOTORCYCLE HANDICAP RACE

Mark Kelly won the handicap contest and placed third in the finals of the scratch race last night in the Logan Square motorcycle races. Jimmie Gibb won the scratch race in the best time of the night, 1 minute 17.4 seconds. Gibb also was third in the handicap contest. Lou Wilson was second in the handicap and Shorty Campbell second in the scratch.

Ray Grant beat his old rival Kelly in the first special match race. The time of 40.36 seconds was comparatively slow as the two rivals did a lot of manuevering. Gibb defeated Tom Cox in the second match event in faster time, 38.4 seconds.

BLOODED DOGS TO PARADE AT SHOW IN LAKE FOREST

Compete at Onwentsia Club Wednesday.

BY BOB BECKER.

The arena building on the grounds of the Onwentsia club, Lake Forest, Ill., will resound to the barks and whines of hundreds of highly bred dogs next Wednesday when the Lake Forest Kennel club holds its third annual dog show. This event, which usually attracts entries from many of the largest and most prominent kennels in the country, is an all breed show held under the rules of the American Kennel club.

It will be a one day event, opening at 9 o'clock in the morning and closing around 8 o'clock in the evening. Officers of the Lake Forest Kennel club who are taking an active interest are James B. Forgan Jr. president, John T. Pirie Sr., vice president, and T. C. Dennehy Jr., secretary and treasurer.

Many Breeds Entered.

Dog lovers who want to see a fine collection of canines representing dozens of breeds and a group of efficient judges in action will find both at this Lake Forest show. Sporting dogs will be judged by George A. Flammer, Roseland, N. J., who will pick the prize winners. He will select from among Chesapeake Bay restrievers, pointers, English Labrador retrievers, setters, and the sporting hounds, such as beagles and bassets.

Judge Harry Osborne, 223 West Jackson boulevard, has agreed to look over all spaniels except springers and cockers. Dr. C. I. Lee, Iola, Wis., has been secured to judge the English springers and the cocker spaniels.

Women to Judge.

German shepherd dogs will be judged by Mrs. Elizabeth Trass Frie, 2545 Indiana avenue. Mrs. W. D. Wilkinson, Ferguson, Mo., is coming to the show to pick the winning wire and smoothed haired fox terriers. Mrs. M. E. Harter, Toledo, O., will judge chows.

Judge Charles G. Hopton, another widely known dog authority who will choose the best dog in the show, will take ring four, where he will judge collies, sheepdogs, Great Danes, old English sheepdogs, Schnauzers, the terriers [except smooth and wirehaired], Pekes, and many other breeds.

Chas. Somers, Early Baseball Leader, Dies

Sandusky, O., June 29.—(AP)—The last member of the Big Three of the American baseball league—the men who organized the junior circuit almost 35 years ago—died today in his summer home at nearby Put-In-Bay, tiny port on an island in Lake Erie.

He was Charles W. Somers, 65, called the father of major league baseball in Cleveland. Preceding him in death were Byron Bancroft Johnson, first president of the American league, and Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox.

Death occurred after a lingering illness. The body was brought to Cleveland tonight for burial.

Organized Cleveland Club.

In 1900 Ban Johnson decided the time was ripe for another major league. With J. F. Kilfoyle, another Ohioan, Somers organized the Cleveland Indians club. Somers' father did not want his son to affiliate with "such a foolish and unprofitable thing as baseball." It would be better, opined the elder Somers, if Charles devoted himself to the interests of the J. H. Somers Coal company.

But Ban Johnson proved a good salesman, and the deal for organization of the Cleveland club went through. Somers also spent money in behalf of the Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago clubs as well. He was president of the Boston club in 1900 and 1901.

Somers engineered the coup that brought Napoleon Lajoe, greatest of all second basemen; Bill Bernhard, star pitcher, and Elmer Flick, great outfielder, to Cleveland from the Athletics when the American and National leagues were fighting over players.

Survived by Widow, Daughter.

Surviving him are his widow, Dorothy, and a daughter, Mrs. W. W. Clark, both of whom were at his bedside when he died. Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight.

FAVORITE TAKES BEATING IN FIRST RACE OVER TURF

Gold Signet Shies at Hedge; Saint Wins.

A flat race over the turf was run for the first time in 40 years in Chicago at the Arlington Park track yesterday afternoon. It was an exciting affair and made a big hit with the crowd although the favorite players came to grief when Gold Signet shied at the hedge row on the Post and Paddock club turn and went so wide that he lost the race by the one maneuver. He was running well in front when he decided to take the longest route home.

After Gold Signet tore for the outside hedge, Saint, an Irish bred 3 year old coming from the land where they run over the turf all the time, carried the yellow and black jacket of Mrs. John Hertz to victory. He beat Panorama by three lengths. Gold Signet tried gallantly to catch the two leaders, but had too much ground to make up and finally was content with third money.

Saint showed a fine performance over the grass course and ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:46 4-5. He paid $16.26.

Weights were announced by Racing Secretary Jack Campbell yesterday for the running of the $10,000 added Stars and Stripes at Arlington on July 4. He assigned Equipoise 132 pounds, Dark Secret 123, Ladysman 120, Indian Runner 118, Plucky Play 118, Cavaleade 116, Peace Chance 114, Faireno 113, Springsteel 113, Barn Swallow 112, High Quest 112, Inlander 112, Okapi 112, Clarify 110, Watch Him 107, Navanod 106, Time Clork 106, and Blessed Event 105. The weights scale on down to 95, which Ashen, Fritter Circle, Hyphen, and Howard will pick up if they desire to race.

Admiral Cary T. Grayson, one of the honorary stewards of the Arlington Park Jocky club, will arrive from Washington, D. C., this morning and will be in the judges' stand for the next 10 days of the meeting.

After being found guilty in federal court on Thursday for illegal possession of narcotics in connection with doping of the race horse Louie Dear, Jack Howard, former jocky, now owner and trainer, was at Arlington Park yesterday. The stewards said he was in good standing as far as they were concerned.

"Any ruling by turf authorities on Howard will have to come from the Illinois racing commission," Christopher J. Fitz Gerald, the steward representing the Illinois commission, said last night. "Howard has appealed his case and I hardly expect a ruling until the higher courts have a chance to review the case."

Albert Sabath, president of the Hawthorne track, has a useful 4 year old in Heiress, daughter of Bunting-Dixie Bird. She runs in the $1,500 claiming class, but does her work in a most consistent fashion. She got through on the rail yesterday in the six furlong second race and won going away from Polly Diskin and the famous plater, Infinity.

The Bradley silks were in evidence again at Arlington yesterday when Blessed Again, a brown daughter of Blue Larkspur-Clonaslee, won the third race. Don Meade gave her a rousing ride in the stretch and she got the decision by two lengths from Dinah Victory, which raced for Willis Sharpe Kilmer. Blessed Again was at better than 6 to 1 in the betting, despite the stout support she mustered from the big army of Bradley fans.

Jack Westrope was riding in his old time brilliant form and scored three victories yesterday. He won the first race aboard Leonard Wilson, took the second on Heiress, and then came along and won the last race on the 3 to 2 favorite, Sergeant D.

PROTEST DIXIE CLUB'S SIGNING OF JOE JACKSON

Eufaula, Ala., June 29.—(AP)—Joe Jackson, one time Chicago White Sox outfielder, who was outlawed from organized baseball after the 1919 world series scandal, was signed today by the Eufaula club of the Dixie league.

The action brought immediate comment from W. A. West, president of the Birmingham club of the Southern association, that the signing endangered the future status of every other player in the league.

West said all Birmingham players in the Dixie league, a semi-professional organization, would be recalled immediately if Jackson were allowed to continue on the Eufaula roster since players playing with or against him would be ineligible for professional baseball.

Week's Total Third Largest of Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended June 23 totaled 621,872 cars, an increase of 4,223 above the preceding week, 12,245 above the corresponding week of 1933, and 122,879 above 1932, the American Railway association announced today.

The total was only 3,901 cars below the 1934 high mark established in March and was the third largest this year. The upturn follows an unusual gain in mid-June.

The freight movement in the west increased sharply as a result of the new wheat crop and heavier live stock shipments.

Changes by Classes.

Forest products totaled 24,818 cars, a decrease of 268 below the preceding week, and 3,282 below 1933, but an increase of 8,209 above the same week in 1932.

Ore totaled 34,412 cars, an increase of 488 above the preceding week, 20,173 above 1933 and 29,839 above 1932.

Coal Shows Increase.

Coal amounted to 97,209 cars, an increase of 781 above the preceding week but a decrease of 6,111 below 1933 and an increase of 28,954 above 1932.

Total loadings for the year to date were 14,755,759 cars, as compared with 12,702,570 last year and 13,619,539 in 1932.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—Increased weakness overtook the German mark today, driving it down to 38.70 cents, or 48 points below the previous close. Despite this large movement dealings in the mark continued small here and the impetus for the movement appeared to come from abroad. Other foreign exchanges, except the French and Dutch, were lower in terms of the dollar. Sterling fell 1½ cents to $5.05.

The price of bar gold declined 3 pence to 137 shillings, 5 pence [$34.78] a fine ounce, and an amount valued at $1,209,937 was purchased.

Gold transactions involving a gain of $1,323,400 in the monetary gold stocks of the country were reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

HOTEL WALDORF 'ASTORIA SEEKS REORGANIZATION

New York, June 29.—(AP)—The Hotel Waldorf-Astoria Corp. today petitioned the federal District court for approval of a reorganization plan under new provisions of the bankruptcy act.

The petition, signed by Lucius Boomer, president, listed current liabilities of $5,412,119 and current assets of $551,567. Total liabilities were put at $16,397,119 and total assets at $16,118,669.

The corporation estimated the value of its building and land at $10,708,000 and showed arrearages of $3,385,612 in rentals, which are $1,400,000 annually. Taxes and interest overdue on the $10,985,000 mortgage against the property totaled $1,712,340.

Middle West's Plan Expected in Few Days

Prospects that a plan of reorganization for the Middle West Utilities company will be presented within the next week or ten days were seen yesterday as bank creditors of the concern concluded another conference at the Chicago club. The meeting was attended by representatives of all the secured creditors except Halsey, Stuart & Co.

Spokesmen for the bankers said that "satisfactory progress" is being made, but said that another week or ten days will be needed to bring all parties together on a definite plan.

Halsey, Stuart Not in Plan.

The absence of any representative of Halsey, Stuart & Co. was said to mean that concern will not take any part in the reorganization negotiations. Even if this firm should refuse to approve a reorganization plan a program could still be put through if the remaining creditors approved. Approval of only two-thirds of the creditors is necessary under the amended bankruptcy act.

Emphatic denials were made last night by bankers that any attempt will be made to freeze out the stockholders of the company. It was pointed out, however, that the claims of the secured creditors and the noteholders rank ahead of the stockholders and the latter will have to accept the junior position.

May Liquidate Properties.

If the present negotiations to reorganize fail to result in an agreement, it is expected that the court will order the liquidation of the properties.

Creditor representatives attending yesterday's conference included: Edward E. Brown, president of the First National bank; A. J. Stilwell, vice president of the Continental Illinois bank; W. C. Freeman, vice president of the Central Republic; H. H. McGee, vice president of the Bankers' Trust company of New York.

Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday continued until Feb. 9 the petition of Attorneys Lewis F. Jacobson and Harold F. White to examine Samuel and Martin J. Insull in connection with the bankruptcy suit pending against Middle West.

Hold Up Investment Plan.

Judge Wilkerson also put over to the same day a petition of Attorney Paul C. Mitchell seeking permission to reorganize Insull Utility Investments under 77-B of the bankruptcy act. Dean Harry A. Bigelow of the University of Chicago objected to the petition on the grounds that it would interfere with suits now pending for the recovery of millions of dollars for the company's creditors.

"What is there to reorganize?" Judge Wilkerson asked Attorney Mitchell. The attorney replied he had no plan but wished an opportunity to be heard.

Italy Speeds Conversion of Five Billions in Bonds

ROME, June 29.—The conversion of 61,000,000,000 lire [about $4,880,000,000] in 5 per cent public debt bonds into 3½ per cent bonds, accepted by bondholders last February, will be commenced July 16, three months earlier than planned.

N. Y. FINANCIER REPORTED NAMED EXCHANGE CZAR

Joseph P. Kennedy, Three Others Chosen.

New York, June 29.—(AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, New York financier, it was learned tonight from authoritative sources here, has been named chairman of the federal commission to regulate the stock exchanges. Three other members of the commission, it was understood, have also been named by President Roosevelt. They are James M. Landis and George C. Mathews, members of the federal trade commission, and Robert E. Healy, counsel for the trade commission.

The fifth choice, according to persons in New York close to the administration, lay between Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the senate committee that inquired into stock exchange practices, and Frank Shaughnessy, president of the San Francisco Stock exchange.

Pecora Not Considered.

In well informed New York quarters it was said Pecora was never under consideration by the President for the chairmanship, although he signified his willingness two days ago to head the commission for one year.

Kennedy—a baseball player in college days at Harvard who turned down a big league contract to enter the banking business—was never a candidate for a place on the commission, friends said, but was drafted by the White House.

When he was 30, Kennedy was president of the Columbia Trust company of Boston. During the world war he became head of the Fore River Shipbuilding yard of the Bethlehem Steel company and after the war started his career in the stock market with the firm of Hayden, Stone & Co.

Once Pathe Official.

Later Kennedy was engaged in film distribution and for a time was an official of Pathe. In recent years he again has been "in the street."

Friends described him as a "man well equipped to head the commission because of his experience in the street." For several years Kennedy has been a personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt.

It was a matter of conjecture here whether Pecora, even if appointed, would accept a place on the commission other than the chairmanship. He is believed to desire the chairmanship or nothing.

Canadian Newsprint Firm's RehabilitationPlanDropped

QUEBEC, June 29.—(AP)—Proponents of various plans for rehabilitating the bankrupt newsprint business of Price Brothers sought a new solution tonight, following defeat of a pool arrangement introduced by the company itself, and Lords Rothermere and Beaverbrook and the Duke Price Power company. The plan was rejected by preferred shareholders. Intimation came from the bondholders' committee that foreclosure seems to be the only step left.

GRAIN PRICES SKID; CORN OFF NEARLY 2 CENTS

Drop Attributed to Profit Taking.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Grain prices suffered a relapse yesterday as quickly and sharply as they had risen on Thursday. Without any radical change in the general character of the news, the buying support fell from under the market and prices skidded.

The losses for the day in wheat futures ranged from 1⅝ cents to 1⅞ cents a bushel, with September wheat closing at 91⅛ cents a bushel. The setback in corn prices was the most decided of all the changes, as was the advance in corn on the preceding day. Final quotations were 2¼ to 2⅜ cents below Thursday's last prices and September corn was bringing only 60½ cents a bushel at the end of the day. Oats, rye and barley followed the trend, with the various futures closing from a fraction to more than a cent lower.

Due to Profit Taking.

For lack of a more specific reason the trade blamed the reaction on "profit taking." This tells part of the story. Professionals did well and harvested the profits resulting from the Thursday's price advance. It was the absence, however, of the outside buying which made Thursday's market that caused yesterday's decline.

The pressure from hedging sales that is always present through the harvest season was pressing against the market again yesterday and it was enough to push prices back. Receipts of winter wheat at 11 principal markets amounted to 2,257 cars yesterday which was equivalent to around 3,500,000 bushels.

Heat Remains Excessive.

Temperatures over the grain belt remained excessive at many points, but somewhat cooler weather was reported in some sections. This may have had a sentimental effect on the corn market, on which the professional traders, suddenly became bearish at least for one day. The government's report on spring pig production, suggesting a reduction of 28 per cent from last year, was also cited to show that the demand for the grain as hog feed would be greatly reduced this year. An important offsetting factor, however, is the fact that corn will be needed to make up for the deficiencies in the oats, barley, hay, alfalfa and forage crops. The known damage to these crops has caused many experts to predict that every bushel of corn raised will be needed.

The recent advance in corn prices has induced heavy selling of corn in the country, according to reports reaching Chicago. The present price of cash corn enables the farmer who borrowed 45 cents a bushel on his corn from the government to sell and have a few cents a bushel to pocket. It is anticipated that the 270,000,000 bushels tied up by the government under these loans will be gradually released. Any further advance is certain to encourage the release of this corn.

PRESIDENT PUTS TARIF BARGAINING ACT IN MOTION

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt set the nation's new tarif bargaining machinery into operation tonight by issuing an executive order setting up the committee that will hold public hearings on all proposed tarif changes.

The tarif act, which empowers the President to increase or decrease tarifs by 50 per cent and to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with foreign nations, provides that "reasonable public notice" shall be given before any agreement is concluded.

President Roosevelt's proclamation said:

"At least 30 days before any foreign trade agrement is concluded under the provisions of the act, notice of the intention to negotiate such agreement shall be given by the secretary of state. Such notice shall be issued to the press and published in press releases of the department of state, the weekly treasury decisions, and commerce reports."

Frank Kellogg Authorized to Serve on Rail Boards

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—Frank B. Kellogg of Minneapolis, Minn., former secretary of state, was authorized by the interstate commerce commission today to hold the position of director of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company and the Colorado and Southern Railway company. Kellogg recently was denied permission to hold these positions because his application stated he was general counsel for another railroad company. It developed, however, that Kellogg's law firm and not Kellogg represented the railroad.

Talk on Speech by Roosevelt Off the Record

BY HOWARD WOOD.

In business and financial circles yesterday the President's radio address was generally regarded as disappointing.

Stocks went down and grains did likewise. The declines, of course, were not attributed solely to the President's remarks. It was regarded as significant, however, that the market upturn which many experts had been anticipating failed to materialize.

For a week or more the rumor had been going around in banks and brokerage offices that now with congress packed off home for six months the President would come out with a statement of policy that would reassure faltering industries and worried business an' financial men.

This rumor had attracted many believers. They figured that the President would endeavor to ease some of the shocks that business has suffered in recent radical legislation.

These hopes failed to materialize. Unanswered were the chief questions that are at present troubling business men and causing delay in entering into commitments and making long term investments.

Particularly disappointing to financial men was the President's failure to explain the administration's monetary policy and to give adequate reassurance that there will be no further inflation. Inflation has again become a chief topic of interest in the financial community, as the conviction has deepened that the continued increase in the national debt can lead in no other direction.

Another source of worry in the President's speech was the lack of specific assurance against further radical experiments in business at the next session of congress. Many La Salle streeters had toyed with the hope that the President would indicate that the radical experiments were complete and that the road ahead would lay more to the right than to the left. They admitted their disappointment.

Asked to comment on the speech for publication, business and financial leaders unanimously declined.

A bank officer said:

"While I want you to understand that I wouldn't say anything I didn't mean, still I have made it a policy simply not to talk when what I would say might be unfavorable to the administration. Inasmuch as the government is a stockholder in our bank I would prefer to avoid subjects that might be controversial."

A broker remarked:

"Please don't ask me to stick my neck out. We're all working for the government now and we haven't yet found out how much they can do to us under the new stock exchange law."

A packing company official commented:

"It would be injudicious of me to say anything that might involve my company in any dispute with the administration that might annoy the department of agriculture."

Leading members of the Board of Trade refused even to grunt for publication for fear of arousing the displeasure of Washington officials.

"But please don't quote me" and "Off the record" have become the favorite refrains of business men under the New Deal.

JUDGE'S ILLNESS DELAYS HEARING FOR MARKS FIRM

The general examination of J. L. Marks, head of the bankrupt J. L. Marks company, instalment stock selling house, was postponed yesterday because of the illness of Federal Judge John P. Barnes. It was tentatively scheduled for July 5.

Donald H. McGilvray, who was appointed as a friend of the court to straighten out the tangled records of the firm, said that the audit of the company's books could not be completed for about three weeks. He said he had some apprehension over the fact that only emergency cases can be tried in the court after July 15 during the summer, and said that he would recommend to Judge Barnes that this case be classified as an emergency.

TREASURY BILLS SELL AT .07 PCT., EQUALING LOW

The latest offering of treasury bills again sold at the record low rate of .07 per cent on an annual basis, Secretary Morgenthau announced yesterday. The issue of 183 day bills sold at an average price of 99.964. Of the total applied for, $205,138,000, there was $75,167,000 accepted. The bills are dated July 3 and mature Jan. 2, 1935. Accepted bids ranged in price from 99.980, a rate of .04 per cent a year, to 99.960, or .08 per cent on a bank discount basis. Only part of the amount applied for on the latter basis was accepted.

London Silver Price Highest Since '31 Due to U. S. Embargo

New York, June 29.—(AP)—Silver prices rose to a new high since 1931 in London today as speculators both here and abroad interpreted Secretary Morgenthau's silver export embargo as a step toward virtual nationalization of American stocks of metal and a prelude to heavy foreign buying.

While silver speculation has been squelched in New York by the 50 per cent tax on profits and the limitation of the price at which the treasury will buy other than newly mined gold to 50 cents an ounce, the price has been climbing almost steadily in London, and had reached a level which prompted arbitrageurs to bid for silver in New York to ship to England.

The spot price in London reached 21⅛ pence an ounce, up ⅜ from yesterday and the highest since November, 1931. Bar silver for immediate delivery in New York, however, advanced only ¼ of a cent, to 46¼ cents, where it was still ½ a cent under the peak of last February. Futures gained about ⅜ to ⅝ of a cent.

The embargo on exports of speculative silver, traders in Wall street said, meant to effect a one way street into the treasury for that metal. Before the treasury started its silver buying it was estimated that stocks held here amounted to some 200,000,000 ounces, or many times that required for use in normal transactions, but silver circles believe that the treasury already has absorbed 70,000,000 ounces or more of this metal.

Nash to Pay 25c Dividend; Sales Larger

Directors of Nash Motors company yesterday declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the capital stock, payable Aug. 1 to stock of record July 20. The company had omitted the April dividend.

Loss for the quarter ended May 31, 1934, was $893,369, which compared with loss of $145,469 for the corresponding 1933 period. The poor showing was the result of expenses involved in launching the new LaFayette car, Nash's representative in the low price field, and to unavoidable delays in production. Labor difficulties choked production in March and half of April.

The company sold three times as many cars in the first half of the current fiscal year than in the six months to May 31, 1933.

Alaska Juneau Pays Extra.

Directors of Alaska Juneau Gold Mining company declared the usual extra dividend of 15 cents a share, and the regular quarterly payment of 15 cents, both payable Aug. 1, to stock of record July 10.

United Gold Equities of Canada, Ltd., declared an extra dividend of 2½ cents and a quarterly dividend of 2½ cents, both payable July 16.

R. C. Williams & Co. declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share payable Aug. 1. A dividend of 20 cents a share was paid in the previous quarter.

Devonian Oil company voted an extra dividend of 10 cents a share on the common, payable July 20.

Northern Indiana Public Service.

Northern Indiana Public Service company declared a dividend of 75 cents a share on the 6 per cent preferred and 68¾ cents a share on the 6½ per cent preferred, both payable July 14 on account of accumulations which will amount to $4.50 a share on the 6 per cent stock and $4.12½ a share on the 5½ per cent stock after these payments.

North Boston Lighting Properties declared dividends of 88 cents a share on the common and the voting trust certificates payable July 16, compared with $1 a share paid previously.

Old Colony Light and Power Associates declared a dividend of 75 cents a share on the common, payable July 5, compared with $3.50 a share paid in January.

CALL MONEY SETS NEW RECORD FOR UNCHANGED RATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—A new stock exchange record for duration of a uniform rate for call money renewals was established this month, exceeding the previous duration record extending from Jan. 8 through July 6, 1932, when a uniform level of 2½ per cent ruled. During the twenty-one days of June, 1934, on which a call money renewal rate was posted, the rate held at 1 per cent, a quotation which has been unchanged since Dec. 8, 1933.

Not only has there never been so long a period of uniform rates, but there has never been a uniform rate so low for such a lengthy period. During the twenty-two days of June a year ago on which a renewal rate was posted the rate was uniform at 1 per cent, which was initiated April 12 and which continued until the last two trading days of July, when a rate of three-quarters of 1 per cent was posted. The three-quarters of 1 per cent rate continued through Dec. 7.

2 Harris Bond Men Moved to Trust Department

The Harris Trust and Savings bank announces that Walter L. Hudson, assistant vice president, and William France Anderson, both connected with its investment department for many years, are now associated with the trust department. Both men were well known in La Salle street bond circles for years.

CANCO AMERICAN CAN COMPANY

COMMON STOCK

A quarterly dividend of one dollar per share has been declared on the Common Stock of this Company, payable August 15, 1934, to stockholders of record at the close of business July 25, 1934. Transfer Books will remain open. Checks will be mailed.

MONEY TALKS; THESE NOTES MAY SPEAK IN TWO LANGUAGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., June 29.—By voting, 7 to 6, to insert a bilingual currency clause in the Bennett government's central bank bill the banking committee of the senate today aggravated a French-English racial controversy of potentially serious dimensions.

As the new central bank is gradually to take over from the chartered banks the issuance of all bank notes, the senate committee amendment would mean that ultimately each Canadian bank note would bear inscriptions in two languages—French and English. The French demand this as a matter of racial and linguistic pride.

The bill as drafted proposes to issue part of the new notes printed in French and part in English. Premier Bennett says he will go down to defeat before he will make the concession of having each note bilingually inscribed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—Cash distributions to investors in stocks and bonds will reach an estimated total of $800,000,000 over the month-end when disbursements by corporations reach their regular mid-year peak. The big outflow will begin tomorrow, with distribution on about 275 stock issues. The zenith of the movement should be reached on Monday, when more than 1,000 more concerns will mail out dividends and interest.

The breakup on these payments should be about $250,000,000 on dividends and about $550,000,000 on interest. Redemptions of corporate bonds also will swell the total by about $125,000,000.

So far as government financing and interest payments are concerned, July is an off month. Several issues of discount bills, which probably will be financed with new issues of the same type, are the only treasury maturities in sight next month.

With a great plethora of bank reserves the large payments to be made in July are not expected to create even a ripple in the money market.

Among those mailing dividend checks out tomorrow are American Brake Shoe, American Steel Foundries, Chrysler, Mack Trucks, National Lead, National Enameling, Public Service of New Jersey, and Singer Manufacturing company.

ANGLO-FRENCH PACT IS BLOW TO U. S. EXPORTS

PARIS, June 29.—(AP)—Special favors for British trade, which placed American exporters at a disadvantage, were revealed today with publication of the text of the new Anglo-French commercial treaty.

The quota regulations which are felt keenly by Americans were softened in several respects for the British. The principal favors granted the British were:

1. Great Britain will always be assigned specific quotas.

2. France agrees to consider carrying over unexhausted quotas into the next quarter.

3. Ten days grace will be granted to Britain after exhaustion of quotas if a means is found for continuing importations.

4. Assurance was given that in case new French quotas are established British trade will not be impaired pending negotiations to fix a definite basis for future importations.

Americans here pointed out that the United States frequently is included in the "other nations" category, leaving the exact amount of the quota undetermined. American importations also are subject to being abruptly halted when a quota is exhausted, and exporters are in the dark as to what to expect when quotas are revised.

THE PEOPLES GAS LIGHT AND COKE COMPANY

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION OF $1,000,000 PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF ITS 4½% SERIAL GOLD NOTES DATED DECEMBER 1, 1930, AND DUE FEBRUARY 1, 1935.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on August 1, 1934, pursuant to the redemption provisions of said Notes and of the resolution authorizing the issuance thereof, adopted by the Board of Directors of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company on October 13, 1930, said The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company will redeem, and hereby calls for redemption, at the office of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., either in the City of Chicago, Illinois, or in the City of New York, New York, $1,000,000 aggregate principal amount of said 4½% Serial Gold Notes dated December 1, 1930, and maturing February 1, 1935, being all of the Notes of that maturity now outstanding.

Upon surrender of said Notes with all interest coupons thereto belonging maturing subsequent to June 1, 1934, at either of said offices of said Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., the principal amount of said Notes and a premium of one-fourth of one per centum (¼%) of said principal amount will be paid in cash, together with all interest accrued thereon to August 1, 1934, and no further interest will thereafter accrue on said Notes.

NATIONAL STEEL REDUCES PRICES TO BOOST SALES

First Important Cut Under Code.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—In a surprise move, designed to stimulated the placing of business during the third quarter, the National Steel corporation today posted with the American Iron Steel institute lower prices on steel bars, strip, and sheet items used by the automobile trade. It was expected in the trade that all of the other producers would follow the move in a day or two.

The new quotations, which become effective July 1, were posted by Great Lakes Steel and Weirton Steel, subsidiaries of the National Steel corporation.

The reduction amounted to $2 a ton on steel bars, at Pittsburgh and Cleveland; $3 a ton on hot rolled strip at Pittsburgh and Chicago, and $3 to $6 a ton on steel sheets of all descriptions at Pittsburgh and Gary.

First Important Cut Under Code.

This is the first important reduction in steel prices since the establishment of the steel code last year. It means that more than one-half of the increase in prices that was posted last April, when wages were increased 10 per cent, has been canceled in a move to overcome sales resistance.

Because of the 10 day waiting period prescribed by the steel code, the automobile companies avoided paying the prices that were posted in April, by placing their requirements for the second quarter at the old prices. There has been considerable opposition to the new prices, especially since the recent reduction in automobile prices. With profit margins reduced, the auto makers have been viewing with distaste the prospect of paying higher prices on steel during the third quarter. In cutting quotations, the steel manufacturers will be placating their best customers, it is felt.

May Get Higher Average.

Despite the reduction in prices, steel manufacturers will probably get a slightly higher average price on steel shipments during the third quarter than in the second quarter, since nearly all of the output during the last three months has been at prices that existed before the April price advance. It was regarded as doubtful, however, whether the higher average would be sufficient to compensate for the increased labor costs, as the steel industry's operating rate during the third quarter is expected to be lower than during the last three months.

Because of the close connection between finished and unfinished steel items, many authorities were inclined to look for the price reductions to spread to semi-finished and unfinished steel during the next few days.

MAYOR CALLS CONFERENCE ON SLUM BUILDINGS

Mayor Kelly, at the suggestion of Ald. Jacob Arvey, yesterday called a conference of city officials and members of the Metropolitan Housing council, to be held at his office in the city hall this afternoon at 3:30 to discuss the demolition of unsafe and unsanitary buildings in slum areas.

Among those to be present will be Health Commissioner Bundesen, Deputy Building Commissioner Knight, Ald. Arvey, John Fugard, chairman of the Metropolitan Housing council, and Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive director of the same group.

Miss Wood said that in answer to the mayor's recent suggestion that a survey of slum areas be made to determine what buildings should be wrecked, a survey already made by the Metropolitan Housing council will be submitted to him for his use.

Meanwhile Chicago's new housing authority, appointed by Mayor Kelly on June 7 after several months' consideration, still is unable to function officially as it lacks the approval of the Illinois State Housing commission.

Alfred K. Stern, chairman of the commission, announced on June 8 that he probably would be able to call a meeting of his group to consider the qualifications of the housing authority within two weeks. Mr. Stern yesterday declined to comment on the situation.

Ireland Places Heavy Duties on Some Imports

DUBLIN, June 29.—(AP)—A number of new import duties, effective tomorrow, were announced by the Free State government tonight. The principal changes are a 33 1-3 per cent duty on vegetable oils, a 50 per cent duty on certain classes of electric lighting cables and wires, and a special tax of 12 cents a pair on bootlaces imported with footwear.

NOTICE is hereby given to the holders of all outstanding 7% Serial Gold Notes of Iowa Electric Light and Power Company, dated August 1, 1932, due August 1, 1935, being numbers M-1801 to M-2250 inclusive, aggregating $450,000 in principal amount and issued under trust agreement dated August 1, 1932, with Harris Trust and Savings Bank, as Trustee, that all of the above described notes will, pursuant to the provisions of the said notes and the said trust agreement, be redeemed on August 1, 1934, at the office of Harris Trust and Savings Bank in Chicago, Illinois, by payment of the principal amount thereof and accrued interest thereon to August 1, 1934, plus a premium on said principal amount equal to one-quarter of one per cent (¼%) thereof. Said notes, together with all appertaining interest coupons maturing after August 1, 1934, should be surrendered at the office of Harris Trust and Savings Bank in Chicago, Illinois, on August 1, 1934, for redemption and payment as aforesaid. Interest on said notes will cease to accrue on and after August 1, 1934.

DATED June 30, 1934.

IOWA ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY,
By CARL MYERS,
Treasurer.

STOCKS DECLINE IN EXTREMELY LISTLESS TRADE

Roosevelt's Speech Is Disappointing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—Disappointment over the meager substance of President Roosevelt's address to the nation from a market standpoint was the popular explanation for lower share prices on the stock exchange today in a turnover that failed to reach half a million shares.

Trading was listless throughout the day and prices closed with losses running from fractions to 3 points. The great majority of recessions, however, were less than a point, the sharper turndowns occurring as the result of special situations as in the silver group which was subject to profit taking after the recent rise.

With outside interest at a minimum, stocks sought persistently lower levels as buyers, sensing the disappointment over the President's statements, held out for price concessions before completing transactions. The general lack of interest spread even to professional traders.

Brokers Are Disappointed.

This repetition of the market's inability to follow through on rallies was the cause of chagrin in brokerage circles. Frequently during the last week the market has given indications of breaking loose for a real rise, only to flutter feebly back into its old ways of backing and filling. But while buyers were granted price concessions all along the line, they were made grudgingly, indicating that the general sentiment in the street remains bullish.

Silvers Lower.

Silvers found themselves without their recent strong patronage. U. S. Smelting especially was lacking in support and finished the day 3¼ points below yesterday's final figure. Other leading metal shares to feel selling and drop fractions to a point or so were American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, and Howe Sound.

Pressure put on United States Steel late yesterday was not lifted much, the stock showing a net decline of a point. Other steel shares backed off in sympathy.

Other Industrials Lower.

Among other industrials there were tumdowns of fractions in American Can, General Electric, and Radio, and of more than a point in Du Pont and Westinghouse. Automobile stocks were a shade easier in light dealings.

Retarded by lower grain prices, Case set a poor example for other farm shares with its loss of more than a point. Mail orders did no better. Even sugar stocks, which have had quite a following lately, were dull, and fractional declines ruled rails, utilities, and oils. Chemicals showed little resistance to the easier trend, but Allied was an exception with no change on the day.

The market's redeeming factor was the continued interest in preferred stocks, most of which advanced. Among them were Adams Express, two issues of American Smelters, Steel Foundries, Celotex, Omnibus, Reading second, Shell Union, and U. S. Gypsum.

BUICK, DODGE AND STUDEBAKER JUNE SALES GAIN

The Buick, Dodge, and Studebaker motor car companies yesterday announced increased retail sales this month. In one case the sales were the largest in more than two years.

Retail deliveries by Studebaker dealers numbered 3,638 units during the first twenty days of June, increases of 37.8 per cent over the corresponding period of May and 40.5 per cent above the 1933 period.

Buick motor car sales for the ten days ended June 20 totaled 3,014, the largest number since March, 1932. This compares with 2,215 cars in the first ten days of May and 2,020 in the corresponding period of 1933.

Dealers in Dodge passenger cars and trucks reported retail sales of 6,167 for the week ended June 23, against 6,401 for the preceding week and 4,908 for the corresponding week in 1933. These figures include Plymouth cars sold by Dodge dealers.

Western Union Will Take Over Curb Ticker Service

Operation of the New York Curb exchange ticker service will be taken over Monday by the Western Union Telegraph company. The speed of quotation transmission will be increased from 43 to 50 quotations a minute. Western Union self winding tickers will replace the teletype machines now in use here and in other cities.

GERMANS KEEP U. S. DEBT NOTE FROM PEOPLE

Warn That Boycott Is a 'Double Edged Sword.'

BERLIN, June 29.—(AP)—A warning that a boycott on German goods would only force this country toward complete economic independence came today while officials studied a United States note protesting the debt moratorium and blaming Nazi policies for it.

The general public knew nothing about the note tonight. A short summary was released to newspapers shortly after the last afternoon editions appeared on the streets, delaying publication for another 12 hours.

Rudolph Hess, minister without portfolio, told a meeting of German chambers of commerce abroad: "It has already been evidenced that a boycott by foreign countries carries a double-edged sword, and Jews, by prompting such boycotts, are bringing threats of economic injury to the individual countries whose hospitality they enjoy."

Can Restrict Supplies.

Criticizing what he called efforts to interfere with the domestic situation of the third reich, Hess said the German people could "restrict their use of foreign products until substitute products are available."

Experts started studying the Hull note last night. "It is being given the careful consideration that a statesman of Mr. Hull's rank, a country of America's prominence, and the detailed nature of the argument deserve," a spokesman said. "We took our time discussing the British note [which protested the moratorium] among various departments interested and intend to do the same with reference to the American note."

May Publish Gist of Note.

Asked whether Hull's criticisms would be published in the German press, this official said, "Undoubtedly the gist of the American note will be given out for publication."

His personal and unofficial impression was that Hull, in a final summing up of America's position, put together all that official America feels with reference toward new Germany for the sake of better understanding of the situation by the public of the United States. He appeared to doubt whether any change of attitude on either side was likely at this time.

RESERVE BOARD WILL EXAMINE DEPOSIT FIRMS

The federal reserve board today issued a statement saying that it will examine organizations that accept deposits and are not examined by other properly constituted authorities, but that it will not pass any opinion as to whether such organizations must be examined.

The banking act of 1933 provides that no firm, other than a financial institution or private banker subject to examination and regulation under state or federal law, shall engage in the business of receiving deposits subject to check or repayment upon presentation of a passbook or other evidence of debt, unless the organization submits to periodic examination by the controler of the currency or the local federal reserve bank.

Not only has the opinion of the federal reserve banks no authorization, reads the statement, but would "not afford protection from prosecution if the department of justice . . . should take the position that a person or organization had violated the statute and should feel it necessary to prosecute for such violation."

U. S. WILL SURVEY SOUTH AMERICAN EXCHANGE RULE

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—John H. Williams, economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, will sail tomorrow to make an extensive survey of exchange control in South American countries for the administration.

Williams, designated special representative of the state department to confer with the American diplomatic missions in South America, will be accompanied by Donald R. Heath of the Latin American division of the state department.

"The governmental control over exchanges being exercised in South American countries," the state department announced, "is an important factor in the trade relationships between them and the United States, and therefore one in which this government has an interest. Mr. Williams is expected to discuss the subject informally with the governmental authorities of the countries he visits and to advise our foreign missions and the department."

Week's Engineer Awards Exceed Recent Average

All major classes of engineering awards contributed to this week's higher total of $32,055,000, the Engineering News-Record reports. Federal awards were up to $7,723,000, state and municipal to $17,174,000 and private to $7,158,000. These totals are ahead of the average of the previous four weeks and substantially ahead of the average week in June, 1933.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—A fairly brisk rally in United States government long term issues featured quiet trading in bonds on the stock exchange today. The group finished generally higher, up 1-32d to 10-32ds point for the active issues. The only setback occurred in the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation 3s, due 1949, which sold off 3-32ds point on the day.

Domestic corporation bonds and leading foreign loans were irregular.

Pennsylvania Issue Active.

In response to the news of the offering to be made next Tuesday of $50,000,000 of 4¼ per cent general mortgage bonds of the Pennsylvania railroad, the road's 6½s, due Feb. 1, 1936, which are retirable in part from the proceeds of the new financing, were heavily dealt in today. The issue closed unchanged at 107. Railroad bonds, in general, closed slightly easier, as did utility issues, while industrial bonds averaged slightly higher.

Loans of American Telephone, Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania, Bush Terminal, Container Corporation, General Theater, Humble Oil, International Paper and Union Oil of California, yielded slight ground. Issues selling higher included obligations of the Western Union, International Telephone, Chile Copper, Pan-American Petroleum, Southern Colorado Power and Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Foreign Loans Drift.

Foreign loans drifted aimlessly in quiet trading. German issues finished generally easier, touching levels close to the lows of the year to date. French government 7s gained nearly a point, German 5½s declined a small fraction and Polish 6s gained 2 points.

On the Curb exchange both domestic and foreign bonds were inclined to be easier in quiet dealings.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

New York City for the first time in its history is providing for a long term indebtedness with serial bonds instead of corporate stock, according to an announcement by Controler McGoldrick in connection with the public offering of 72 million dollars in city securities. Of the total 60 million dollars will be in serial bonds and the rest in corporate stock for which bids will be taken on July 10.

Within a short time, it was stated, an additional issue will be offered. This will bring the city's total borrowings for the summer up to 80 million dollars. Of the 72 million dollar issue about 58 million dollars will be required to redeem the city's short term issues which will come due in September.

While the issuing of serial bonds in place of corporate stock has been called a radical departure in New York's financial policy, it was pointed out in La Salle street yesterday that there is actually little difference in the two forms of financing so far as the investor is concerned. Ordinarily Gotham has issued corporate stock to finance long term general and self-liquidating obligations, while bonds were issued against parks, schools, and other things of a similar nature.

John Nuveen & Co. are offering an issue of $475,000 Central Falls, R. I., 5 per cent bonds, due June 1, 1935 to 1949, at prices to yield from 2 to 4.4 per cent. The bonds were issued to fund bank loans incurred in connection with poor relief and certain construction costs which were taken care of from current income. It is stated that the proceeds from the bonds will clear up practically all the city's floating debt. According to the state director of finance no municipality in Rhode Island has ever defaulted on principal or interest.

The issue of $4,230,000 state of South Carolina general obligation notes, due serially from Feb. 1, 1935 to 1940, which was awarded on Tuesday to the State Bank of South Carolina, is being offered to investors by a syndicate of banking houses. The issue consists of $1,950,000 3½s, due 1935 to 1937, priced to yield 2 to 3.25 per cent, and $2,280,000 of 4½s, due 1938 to 1940, priced to yield 3.75 to 4 per cent.

Award of a new issue of $200,000 Westfield, Mass., revenue anticipation notes, due Nov. 2, 1934, was made to the First National bank of Boston. The price paid was a 1.27 per cent basis.

The city of Chicago board of education has called for redemption on July 5 a total of $475,450 of its 1932 tax anticipation warrants. The called warants consist of $375,000 education fund, $24,450 building fund and $76,000 bond redemption certificates.

No bids were reported received today by Westwood, N. J., for its issue of $122,000 of public improvement bonds. The issue was dated June 1, 1934, and due from 1945 to 1957.

Hamilton county, O., of which Cincinnati is the county seat, will seek bids on July 13, at noon, on a new issue of $750,000 of 3 per cent bonds. The issue will mature serially from one to four years.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW York, June 29.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was firmer today on further covering and buying trade and commission houses, influenced by the advance in crude oil with final prices 2 to 11 points net higher. Sales were 54 contracts, including exchanges from July to later positions. Bleachable spot nominal; July closed 6.35c; September, 5.80c; October, 5.68c; December, 6.18c; January, 6.28c.

BURNHAM
OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES FOUND ONLY AT BURNHAM'S
FOR 68 YEARS THE WORLD'S LARGEST BEAUTY SCHOOL.

When you visit Burnham's you'll understand why more girls enroll in this school than in any other and you'll be amazed at the unexpected and exclusive advantages which our 68 year record of turning out the best operators enables us to pass on to you —such as positions on ocean liners, positions with the best shops which DEMAND Burnham graduates, the opportunity of earning while learning, free tools, unlimited practice on living models, easy terms, and many other advantages.

Once explained you'll see how Burnham teaching methods will enable you to master Beauty Culture quicker, easier and better—why these methods develop the type of operator shop owners want.

Tuition increases this month. If you ACT NOW you can arrange to pay for most of your tuition after you graduate. Call, phone, or write for FREE BEAUTY BOOK.
